ENDURANCE PLANE SHIP DOWN

Hunters in Air 553 Hours

Broken Gauge and Clogged Oil Filter Force Descent on Twenty-third Day

Holiday Crowd Swarms Field as Chicago Plane Lands; New Flight Talked

CHICAGO, July 4. (Exclusive)—The refueling endurance plane City of Chicago, which Kenneth and John Reuter have been flying over Curtiss Field for the last twenty-two days, landed tonight at 5:21 o'clock, establishing a new world's record for sustained flight. They had been in the air 553 hours 41¼ minutes, approximately 133 hours more than the previous record.

The landing was wholly unexpected. Only a few minutes earlier, the pilots had sent down a request for fuel, stating that an oil gauge had broken and filled the cabin. Oil and gasoline had been delivered to them and it was expected that they would continue to stay up the rest of the night. It was later explained that the oil filter also had clogged, cutting down the supply to the motor.

THRONG SHOUTS

The plane was 100 feet above the field before anyone knew it was coming down. From the huge hollow of Curtiss Field, which had stood all day long looking into the sky came a chorus:

"It's landing—look out."

The orange and blue Stinson Detroiter glided on over the hangar and came to a landing at the western end of the field, rolling up to a stop in front of a grove of trees. The propeller was still turning over. Thousands of spectators broke through the lines and dashed to the plane. Police, unable to hold them, were brushed before them. One of the first to reach the ship was W. P. Redmond, Illinois governor for the National Aeronautical Association, who shouted to the flyers to come to the hangar.

LANE CLEARED

Finally police and mechanics managed to clear a lane in the crowd and the flyers ran the plane back into the hangar. But the crowd was not to be denied, and the building filled quickly. A small space was cleared, however, for the younger, was first to emerge from the ship. His face and clothes were smeared with oil. Both flyers were hollow-eyed and appeared to be in a stupor. They wanted to stay up until today but we thought the Fourth would be a good day to land so that people would remember the date. We didn't want to try to fly through it with all the trouble we have had."

He said that the ship was good for several more days but that, in the weakened condition, they did not feel able to fight it for that long.

OIL FILTER CLOGS

"We had a lot of trouble throughout the day. The oil filter clogged and the gauge busted."

The plane was filled with oily fumes and oil and gasoline was

Will Rogers Remarks

MINNEAPOLIS, July 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We sure had a great Fourth, especially after we picked up our morning papers and found that Congress had adjourned the night of the 3rd. That gave us a cause for having a Fourth. But our enthusiasm was immediately dampened, for the Senate is to meet again Monday, so that means that prosperity will pick up only 50 per cent. This country has come to feel the same when Congress is in session as we do when the baby gets hold of a hammer. It's just a question of how much damage he can do with it before you can take it away from him. Well, in sixteen months these babies have left a record of devastation.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

RIVERS BILL MADE LAW

Hoover Outlines Vast Projects

Waterways System Planned Declared Greater Than Panama Canal

Los Angeles-Long Beach Port Improvements Also Provided For

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—President Hoover signed a rivers and harbors bill today which in his own words authorizes a larger project than the Panama Canal.

In a statement issued after he had attached his signature the Chief Executive enumerated three prospective benefits which may come from the measure.

"It will provide employment for thousands of men. It should be fruitful of decreased transportation charges on bulk goods, should bring great benefits to our farms and to our industries. It should result in a better distribution of population away from the congested centers."

The measure more than doubles the amount of authorizations given in the last rivers and harbors bill signed on January 21, 1926, by President Coolidge. That one authorized $71,000,000 of work, some of which still is going forward.

Since its inception in the Seventieth Congress it has grown from its infant proportions of $55,000,000 to the towering stature of $145,000,-

PLANE FINDS TRAIL'S END

Kingsford-Smith at Oakland

Southern Cross to be Given to Hancock, Who Backed Pacific Flight

Commander, Done With World Hops, Will Wed in September

OAKLAND, July 4. (AP)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, with no more worlds to conquer, landed his monoplane Southern Cross at Oakland Airport at 2:36 p.m. today.

Kingsford-Smith was the only member of the original crew that left Oakland more than two years ago to undertake a world circling flight carrying the plane into both the northern and southern hemispheres, and across the South Sea and Australia.

Thousands cheered as the great plane dropped swiftly to the field, bearing the flight commander, John Stannage, radio operator; J. Patrick Saul, navigator, and Evert Van Dyk, copilot.

The party crossed the North Atlantic from Ireland to Newfoundland, where they were forced down for lack of fuel. They refueled and made a triumphal entry into New York June 26 and set about preparations for the final stage of their flight which ended here today.

The Southern Cross, escorted from Mt. Diablo, twenty-five miles east of Oakland, by a squadron of pursuit planes, dived into a roar of sound and made a perfect landing. The big plane taxied before the grand stand and the flyers alighted.

HANCOCK TO GET SHIP

They were welcomed by Mayor Davie of Oakland, and officials who escorted the flyers, in a parade to Oakland, where a reception was held.

Kingsford-Smith today set at rest speculation concerning disposition of the famed Southern Cross, Fokker plane which has been his flying partner more than three years.

The commander said he will take the ship to Santa Maria next week and present it to Capt. Allan Hancock, backer of the first flight from Oakland to Australia.

"I am in very much of a hurry to get back to Australia, where I have a wedding engagement in late September," the flyer said. "When we dispose of the ship I expect to fly back to New York, take a ship to England and go direct to Australia."

"The ship is in marvelous condition," he added. "It was overhauled in Holland before we made the hop to America. It never has been in better shape."

WORLD FLIGHTS OVER

Although the Southern Cross and Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith today completed an aerial circumnavigation of the globe, the commander said tonight he never intended such a project when he and his crew left Oakland and started across the Pacific May 31, 1928.

The commander said today his world flights are over. He will wed Miss Mary Powell in Sydney next September.

The city of Oakland tonight presented him a silver service in aeronautical design as a wedding present. Framed scrolls commemorating their achievement were presented all the flyers.

BALLOONS UNDER WAY IN CONTEST

HOUSTON (Tex.) July 4. (AP)—Northward through a clear sky fifteen balloons contesting in the national elimination balloon race sailed away late today and early tonight. At the last reports from them all was going well.

They should pass over the Dallas-Fort Worth region some time around dawn, the Weather Bureau says. Three of them, not identified, were reported over Huffsmith, forty miles to the northwest, at 9 o'clock.

The oldest aeronaut of all those who came here with hopes of placing either first or second in the competition, and thus obtaining a post on the American team to compete in the international race beginning at Cleveland September 1, next, was left behind.

H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis remained on the ground, looking longingly after his yellow craft which George Hineman piloted. He had agreed before reaching Houston to turn over to Hineman one of his two balloons. Yesterday, however, it was discovered the Hineman craft had a torn envelope and Honeywell promptly offered to give up his personal balloon to the other and withdrew.

Germany Passes Film Curb Law

The measure is intended to prevent the popularization of "cheap inferior foreign films" without barring desirable pictures.

Hoover Signs Library Bill

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—President Hoover today signed a measure authorizing the purchase for $1,500,000 of the noted Vollbehr collection of incunabula.

Among the 3000 volumes, comprising early works on subjects ranging from natural science, law and medicine to cookery and marriage—all of which will be turned over to the Library of Congress—is the famous Guttenberg Bible.

The money for the purchase of the collection was included in the second deficiency bill.

PLANE THIEF DIES IN CRASH

Unidentified Novice Steals Machine from Alameda Airport and Plunges 1000 Feet Into Bay

ALAMEDA, July 4. (Exclusive)—A person as yet unidentified, with some but not thorough knowledge of airplanes, paid with his life today for taking an airplane without the owner's permission. Whoever he was, he plunged into the bay off the airport here from an altitude of about 1000 feet, with motor roaring full blast, and buried himself and the ship, owned by the Alameda Flying Club, in many feet of water.

The ship was a three-passenger plane, but Boyd McDonald, mechanic and the only witness to the take-off, was not close enough to see if the pilot had any passengers with him.

The plane was located tonight, but efforts to raise it were abandoned until tomorrow. No bodies were found.

The pilot-victim seized the opportunity to take the ship while virtually every employee of the field was at Oakland Airport to welcome Commander Kingsford-Smith and the Southern Cross.

His lack of thorough knowledge was evident in a take-off without warming the motor. McDonald did not see him until the plane came rolling out of the hangar and jerked aloft almost immediately in a "terrible" take-off.

FLYER FAILS IN ATTEMPT AT RECORD

Collins's Time on Hop Across Country Behind Lindbergh's Mark

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) July 4. (AP)—James H. Collins, former army aviator, landed here at 9:03:30 (eastern standard time) tonight, completing a transcontinental flight from Burbank, Cal. He failed to break Col. Lindbergh's record.

Collins was almost an hour and three-quarters behind the time set by Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, last Easter Day. Their record was 14h. and 45m.

Blaze Sweeps Boston Wharf

BOSTON, July 4. (AP)—A fire of undetermined origin swept a quarter of a mile of Boston's water front tonight, eating away hundreds of thousands of feet of valuable lumber and thousands of tons of coal. Estimates by firemen and wharf and yard owners placed the damage at between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

The Burton-Furber Coal Company yards, the old Metropolitan coal wharf, the Pacific Lumber Company yards and two other lumber yards were virtually destroyed.

The two animals, scheduled for a battle to death, were taken from the arena after more than an hour had been spent unsuccessfully endeavoring to make the lion face the steer.

The lion from the start appeared to be afraid of the steer.

Mexico's Chief Joins Americans in Celebration

MEXICO CITY, July 4. (AP)—President Ortiz Rubio and his wife and children, accompanied by Foreign Minister Estrada, attended the American colony's Fourth of July celebration today.

Ortiz Rubio was greeted by Ambassador Morrow, who stood with the entire Embassy and Consular staffs, and they talked for a few minutes. The President congratulated Mr. Morrow on the outcome of his senatorial campaign and expressed pleasure at his return to Mexico.

An official announcement without giving details of this extraordinary interview was made in a communique from the Presidential offices issued this evening in which it was stated that the interview was granted after insistent demands made by Flores.

After the interview Flores was returned to the cell where he is held pending trial.

Cremated Man Thought Victim of Racketeers

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—The blazing, kerosene-soaked body of a man tentatively identified as Henry Brinkman, a former convict, was found today in front of a stoneyard in One Hundred and Forty-first street, the Bronx. Police said he apparently had been "taken for a ride" and his body set on fire.

Police found an oil-soaked, scorched paper in the pocket, which apparently was a building contract. There has been trouble in the Bronx building trade for more than a year, several half-completed buildings having been burned by racketeers whose demands were refused.

BILLINGS DENIED PARDON BY HIGH COURT RULING

Justices Discredit Trial Frame-up Charge and Stress Absence of Clew to Other Perpetrators

SACRAMENTO, July 4. (AP)—Warren K. Billings, convicted with Thomas J. Mooney of taking part in the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing, failed in his effort to obtain the Supreme Court's recommendation for a pardon which would release him from the life sentence in Folsom prison he is serving as penalty for the loss of ten lives and injury to forty others in the San Francisco outrage.

In its decision transmitted to Gov. Young and made public here today the Supreme Court voted six to one against recommending the pardon for Billings.

The court's decision was regarded here as an indication Gov. Young will deny the pardon ples filed with him by Thomas J. Mooney.

The Governor has repeatedly said his action on Mooney's appeal will be guided by the Supreme Court's recommendation on the Billings case. Several months ago, when Billings applied to the Supreme Court for pardon Gov. Young said he considered the two cases parallel and that they should be studied simultaneously.

LANGDON DISSENTS

After Billings filed his petition the Governor instructed the Advisory Pardon Board to conduct an independent study with him of the Mooney case.

Within the next few days Gov. Young, who is in Los Angeles, is expected to issue a statement setting forth his actions on Mooney's pardon ples.

Four justices of the Supreme Court concurred in a single view on the Billings case. They were Chief Justice Waste, and Associate Justices Seawell, Richards and Curtis. Associate Justices Shenk and Preston concurred with the majority in separate opinions.

Associate Justice Langdon dissented, saying, "I am not so free from doubt of petitioner's guilt as to withhold a recommendation for executive clemency."

The Supreme Court's recommendation was made to the Governor in accordance with the State law providing a State prison inmate twice convicted of a felony, as was Billings, must file a pardon petition with the court for recommendation of that body to the Governor.

TRIAL OFFICIALS ACQUITTED

After outlining the history of the case, the court stated it was of the opinion Billings had received a "fair and impartial trial" and that there was no evidence supporting charges he had been arrested and convicted as result of a "frame-up."

"Upon the entire record before us," the court stated, "we acquit the then officials of San Francisco who were charged with the duties of discovering and bringing to trial and conviction the authors of this dastardly crime.

Billings's past and present affiliations make it "fairly inferable," the court said, "that Billings was familiar with plots and plans of his most intimate associates in the bombing.

"This being so, it is an almost irresistible conclusion that if Warren K. Billings did not himself prepare and plant the deadly time bomb of the Preparedness Day disaster, he and his associates and co-defendant Mooney knew and have always known, who did prepare and plant that bomb and the deadly purpose for which it was prepared and planted."

NO CLEW PROVIDED

"Yet there has never come from the lips of either of these defendants," the court continued, "or from out the inner circle of their associates, the slightest tangible hint or aid to the public officials as to anyone else which might lead to a discovery of the real perpetrators of this revolting crime, if these two defendants were not the guilty ones.

"Nor has there ever come to public notice during all the years which have elapsed since the commission of the Preparedness Day crime the slightest clew or trace which might serve to point public official inquiry to any persons or group of persons other than these defendants and their associates who might reasonably be suspected or charged with the disposition to conceive or commit such a crime."

Associate Justice Langdon, in dissenting opinion, said:

"It seems to me sufficient to state that upon the record now before us, I am not so free from doubt of petitioner's guilt as to withhold a recommendation for executive

YOUNG SIFTS DECISION

Seeks Light on Mooney Case

Latter's Pardon Awaits Study of Court's Findings in Billings Appeal

Pardon Board Expected to Advise Governor of Attitude Today

A decision on the application for a pardon of Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence for participation in the bombing of a Preparedness Day parade at San Francisco in 1916, cannot be rendered for several days, Gov. Young stated yesterday following the simultaneous announcement here and at Sacramento of a Supreme Court opinion recommending that a similar application, filed by Warren K. Billings, convicted with Mooney, be denied.

It will require several days to digest and study the court's lengthy opinion, the chief executive said when asked for a statement of his attitude toward the Mooney case, and no hint of his action will be disclosed until such study has been completed.

BILLINGS FATE SEALED

Regardless of the Governor's decision as to Mooney, however, the fate of Billings, in the light of the Supreme Court's recommendation, now remains sealed, legal authorities pointed out yesterday. Sec. 7, Art. 1418 of the Penal Code provides:

"That neither the Governor nor the Legislature shall have the power to grant pardons or commutations of sentence in any case where the convict has been twice convicted of a felony after the first day of January, 1880, unless upon written recommendation of the majority of the judges of the Supreme Court."

Under that provision, the Supreme Court's recommendation denying the pardon application of Billings automatically nullifies the latter's rights to petition again for a pardon, Billings having been convicted of a felony prior to the Preparedness Day bombing.

CARNAHAN AWAITED

Deliberation by the Governor on the court's recommendation is being deferred pending the arrival here of Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, it was stated last night by Harold Landreth, the chief executive's secretary. Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan is motoring here from Sacramento and is due in the city some time this evening. He is chairman of the advisory pardon board, before which Mooney's petition has been for some time, and is believed to be bringing with him a report on the application.

It is probable, according to Secretary Landreth, that Gov. Young will go into conference with Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan upon the latter's arrival here and begin the examination of the Supreme Court opinion with a view of determining Mooney's fate.

PARDON BOARD TO ACT

James A. Johnston, director of the State Department of Penology and a member of the pardon board, said from his home in Ross yesterday that members of the board have studied the case and are prepared to make known their attitude at a meeting expected today. Johnston declined to disclose the attitude of the board.

ROYAL PAIR'S REUNION NEAR

Carol and Helen Anticipate Divorce Annulment; Mme. Lupescu Reported at Sinaia

BUCHAREST, July 4. (AP)—Within ten days the divorce decree separating King Carol II and Queen Helen will be annulled by the Rumanian courts, it was learned today.

Legal proceedings leading up to the annulment will be opened during the coming week. The chief plea will be the written protest of King Carol's lawyer at the time the decree was pronounced. In this protest Carol declared he did not recognize the divorce.

When the decree has been annulled King Carol will take up his summer residence at the Royal Palace in Sinaia with Queen Helen and their son Michael.

The King recently has passed many hours every day in young Michael's apartment, holding long conversations with Queen Helen. Queen Helen last night attended a farewell dinner to former Queen Elizabeth of Greece in the Cotroceni Palace, at which King Carol and his brother, Prince Nicholas, also were present.

Rumors that Mme. Magda Lupescu, red-haired companion of King Carol in exile, had returned to Rumania received renewed denials in semiofficial quarters today. It was said a firmly binding agreement would prevent Mme. Lupescu's return to Rumania for many years.

CAROL RESERVES ROOMS FOR MME. LUPESCU

BERLIN, July 4. (AP)—A Bucharest dispatch printed in a Berlin newspaper today said that Mme. Magda Lupescu, the companion of King Carol II when he was in exile, has arrived at the Rumanian royal summer residence in Sinaia.

The dispatch added rooms had been reserved at the residence for Mme. Lupescu by King Carol, who was expected there tomorrow.

Supreme Court Finds Insufficient Doubt Cast on Billings's Guilt to Warrant Pardon

RECOMMENDATION BASED ON STUDY OF RECORDS

Defendant Either Placed Bomb or Knows Who Did, Majority of Justices Conclude

Following is the full text of the findings of the California Supreme Court on the application of Warren K. Billings for a pardon, signed by Chief Justice Waste and Associate Justices Seawell, Richards and Curtis, the concurring opinions of Associate Justices Shenk and Preston and the dissenting opinion of Associate Justice Langdon:

To His Excellency, C. C. Young, Governor of California.

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 1 of Article VII of the State Constitution and of Section 1418 of the Penal Code, Warren K. Billings has presented his application for the written recommendation of a majority of the members of the Supreme Court of California that his petition for pardon heretofore addressed to your excellency, as Governor of California, be granted. Accompanying his application is the record upon which he relies as the requisite therefor, from which it appears that prior to the applicant's conviction of the particular felony by virtue of which he is now in confinement under a life sentence in the State prison, and for which he is seeking said pardon, he had been convicted of another felony.

In addition to the official record showing these two convictions the applicant also presents for our consideration a considerable amount of material, consisting of briefs, exhibits, letters, affidavits, etc., in support of his aforesaid application, all of which we have duly considered, and to some of which we shall hereinafter specifically refer.

"ARRESTED IN SACRAMENTO"

The judicial record of the applicant's first conviction discloses that on September 13, 1913, Warren K. Billings was arrested in the city of Sacramento and charged with the unlawful possession and transportation of a considerable quantity of dynamite, found in a suit case carried by him from Oakland to Sacramento and in his possession at the time of his arrest. He was proceeded against upon this charge and was brought to trial thereon before the Superior Court in and for the county of Sacramento on November 19, 1913, and was thereafter convicted upon said charge and sentenced to imprisonment for a term of two years in the State prison at Folsom.

During the course of said trial it was developed in the evidence that Warren K. Billings was a member and the associate of a group of persons, men and women, who believed in and advocated the adoption of, and not only employed themselves, but persistently endeavored to both teach and steal others (chiefly among the laboring classes) to adopt, violent means, such as the use of dynamite, in the destruction of property during labor disputes.

"DISPUTES IMPENDING"

The evidence further discloses that such labor disputes were at the time impending between the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and its employees and their sympathizers, of whom the defendant was one. The evidence further disclosed, inferentially at least, that the unlawful purpose which the defendant and his associates had at the time of said arrest was that of dynamiting the transformers and other appliances of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in that region, a number of similar attempts having recently been successful.

No appeal was taken or perfected by the defendant from the judgment and sentence and he served his allotted term in the State prison. Upon his release he returned to his home in San Francisco, where he continued to reside up to the time of his arrest upon the charge from the conviction of which, and judgment and sentence in which, he is now seeking pardon.

On the 22nd day of July, 1916, at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon occurred the greatest tragedy conceived and carried into effect by criminal design in the history of the State of California. It is known as the "Preparedness Day Disaster," in which ten innocent persons lost their lives, and in the course of which scores of equally innocent persons, while there engaged in or observing a public, patriotic demonstration, were cruelly and in many instances permanently injured and disfigured.

It was caused by the explosion of a dynamite bomb upon the public streets of said city, then thronged with people, at or near the corner of Stewart and Market streets therein, and while there was in course of progress at and near the place of the explosion the so-called "Preparedness Parade."

EIGHT CHARGES OF MURDER

Four days thereafter Warren K. Billings, with certain other persons, was arrested for the commission of the crime, and thereafter and on or about August 1, 1916, was indicated by the grand jury of the city and county of San Francisco upon eight charges of murder; and on the 11th day of September, 1916, was brought to trial upon said charges before Honorable Frank H. Dunne, Judge of the Superior Court of that city and county, and a jury then regularly drawn and empaneled.

On September 23, 1916, the case having been tried, was submitted to the jury, which returned a verdict of murder in the first degree, with the recommendation of imprisonment for life. A motion for a new trial was made and denied. Judgment and sentence followed; whereupon notice of appeal to the Appellate Court was given and such appeal was thereafter heard in said court, which upon September 6, 1917, rendered its decision affirming said judgment. (34 Cal. App. 549.)

A petition for rehearing was presented and denied in that court, with a supplementary opinion. A petition for a hearing in the Supreme Court was in due course presented and denied. The defendant was thereupon confined in the State prison at Folsom, where he has since remained in the course of serving his sentence of life imprisonment in that institution.

"FIRST APPLICATION"

This is the defendant's first application for pardon, after serving upon his sentence in said institution for a period of about thirteen years.

The complete record of the defendant's trial and conviction and of the proceedings upon his appeal is before us. It affirmatively appears from said record that the defendant was accorded a fair and impartial trial before the judge and jury in said court. Upon the argument in the course of the trial the defendant's counsel expressly stated in the presence of both court and jury that the defendant had been accorded a fair and impartial trial.

Upon said trial the defendant was represented during all its stages, as well as upon appeal, by astute and able counsel, particularly learned and experienced in all the arts of criminal procedure, and in this connection it is to be noted that while respective counsel in the course of the defendant's trial indulged in the quite customary passages at arms and animadversions upon each other and upon the testimony of the various witnesses, there nowhere appears, either upon said trial or upon appeal, to have been presented the specific charge against the public officials, through whose efforts this defendant had been arrested and brought to trial, that such arrest and trial were the result of a "frame-up," or, in other words, of a conspiracy, either among said officials or between them and other persons, to place a charge against or secure the conviction of an innocent man.

Upon the entire record before us we acquit the then officials of San Francisco, who were charged with the duty of discovering and bringing to trial and conviction the authors of this dastardly crime, of the charge that in so doing they were actuated by improper motives, or made use of wrongful or improper methods in procuring the arrest and conviction of the defendant for his part, if any, in the commission of this inhuman and atrocious crime.

Neither upon motion for new trial nor upon appeal was any such charge seriously presented nor sought to be shown by any semblance of proof. We shall have occasion later to recur to this subject.

"COGNATE CRIMES"

Before proceeding to a consideration of the evidence educed upon the trial, as shown by the record thereof, or to a consideration of the material which the defendant and his supporters have later collected and presented in an effort to overthrow its conclusions, we deem it proper to state that we are entitled to consider the fact that the two crimes of which the defendant stands convicted are cognate crimes, each having its springs of action in opposition to those organized forms and forces whereby the vast majority of the people of our State and nation give expression to their ideals and methods in industrial production and of social order and progress.

In each of these two crimes it was the overmastering will and purpose of its perpetrator to make manifest this opposition on the part of himself, or of a group of which he was a member, in identical forms of criminal violence, aimed in the one case at the destruction of property and in the other at the destruction of life. This being so, we are entitled to consider not only the direct evidence in the latter case, but also those inferences which are deducible from the identity between the two crimes of which the defendant stands convicted.

We are permitted to draw such inferences under the express terms of Section 1960 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which proceeds to state that "An inference must be founded (1) on a fact legally proved, and (2) on such a deduction from that fact as is warranted by a consideration of the usual propensities or passions of men, the particular propensities or passions of the person whose act is in question, the course of business or the course of nature."

"DESPICABLE CRIME"

We are thus entitled to consider the particular perversion, prejudices, propensities and passions which dominated the defendant in the commission of the first crime, and to draw therefrom such inferences as we may reasonably do, as to whether, accentuated and intensified by a term of imprisonment, the propensities and passions of the defendant, thus proven to exist, continued to operate so as to carry him forward to the commission, with identical purposes, and by the use of identical means, of a vastly more disastrous, despicable and deadly crime.

Passing thus to a consideration of the record of the defendant's trial and conviction, we find that upon this appeal from the judgment of conviction the defendant made the contention that the evidence was insufficient to justify his conviction. The appellate tribunal dealt specifically with that contention in its main opinion, and again upon petition for rehearing, going over the evidence in detail and evincing a most careful consideration of the entire case, and, having done so, decided that the evidence was amply sufficient to uphold the judgment.

PRESENT MEMBERS AGREE

With this conclusion the Supreme Court, as then constituted, agreed by its unanimous decision denying the defendant's petition for a hearing before that court. With that decision rendered both upon hearing and application for rehearing in the appellate tribunal the present members of the Supreme Court, after a most careful and full examination of the record, also fully agree.

In so doing we have given full consideration to the evidence before the trial court tending to prove the precise manner in which the explosion had been occasioned. We have done this for the purpose of satisfying our minds as to whether the dynamic elements and forces which produced such explosion were co-ordinated, contained and concealed in a suit case which a few moments prior to such explosion had been placed upon the sidewalk at or near the corner of Steuart and Market streets, and that the content of said suit case had been so co-ordinated with the aid of a timing device as to explode at a particular moment not long after it had been deposited in place. There is no tangible evidence in the record before us that the explosion was arranged for or occasioned in any other way.

Hopes for Pardon Dashed by Decision

Warren K. Billings

"FAMILIAR WITH CONTENTS"

The suit case which thus exploded at six minutes after 2 o'clock upon that fatal day had obviously been carried to and placed at the precise spot which it occupied at the time of such explosion by some person who was familiar with its contents and the probable moment of its explosion.

It became an important element in the case, therefore, to show, if possible, that the defendant, Warren K. Billings, had been seen carrying a suit case of the general form and dimensions of the one which had been destroyed in the explosion, at a time and place shortly before and not far from the scene of the explosion. We have carefully examined the record in this particular regard and find that the evidence, entirely aside from the testimony of John McDonald, sufficiently shows that the defendant was so seen.

The witness Herbert A. Wade, principal of a school in Hawaii, and a teacher of twenty-two years' experience, was called as a witness for the prosecution and testified positively and circumstantially that he had seen the defendant at 721 Market street in San Francisco at the hour of about 1 o'clock on the day of the explosion and that he was carrying a suit case of particularised dimensions and appearance which corresponded in a general way to the suit case which other witnesses described as having seen within a comparatively short while thereafter deposited at the place where the explosion occurred.

"TESTIMONY NOT SHAKEN"

The testimony of this witness was not shaken upon cross-examination and has not since been seriously impaired. The witnesses Louis Rominger, Peter Vidovich and Estelle C. Smith also testified to having seen the defendant Warren K. Billings with a suit case in his possession at the same place and practially at or about the same time which the former witness particularly described and handled and which was very heavy, weighing according to his estimate about thirty rounds.

These three witnesses were not shaken upon their cross-examination nor during the trial, but have been since bitterly assailed upon grounds which, it is contended, render them and each of them unworthy of belief. As to the witness Louis Rominger there was presented upon the defendant's motion for a new trial the affidavit of one William A. Kerch, who deposed that he had also seen the man whom Rominger had seen at said place carrying a suit case and that it was not the defendant Billings; and furthermore that the witness Louis Rominger had on various occasions stated to him that the man he had so seen was not Billings.

"COURT HAD THIS AFFDAVIT"

The trial court had this affidavit before it at the time it passed upon the defendant's motion for a new trial and must be presumed to have weighed and determined where the truth lay between these two witnesses at the time it denied the defendant's motion for a new trial. It is also contended and sought to be shown by certain ex parte statements that each of these three witnesses had been guilty of certain moral and legal delinquencies which discredited their aforesaid testimony; as, for example, that Rominger had been living in adultery with the mother of Estelle G. Smith; that Estelle G. Smith had been mixed up in a sordid murder case in Southern California, and that Pete Vidovich had some years before been convicted of petit larceny in Alaska and sentenced to pay a fine of $100.

The impeachments of these three witnesses, if they be such, were not presented at the trial of Billings nor upon his motion for a new trial, but are of later discovery and presentation. As to these discrediting circumstances affecting each of these witnesses it may be said that they do not supply any legal ground for disregarding altogether each of their circumstantial story given under oath upon the witness stand.

"USUAL STANDARDS"

The State in criminal trials does not manufacture its witnesses, but must take and rely upon such persons for witnesses as the circumstances and environment of the particular crime afford. The testimony of a witness who may have moral delinquencies, or who may even have been convicted of some offense foreign to that under inquiry is to be weighed by the usual standards for determining the credibility of witnesses and should not be altogether disregarded in the particular case unless it be shown that the witness had some interest or some motive which might furnish a temptation to commit perjury.

As to the testimony of Nellie Edeau and her daughter, we think it was sufficiently discredited by the affidavit of William Smith of the Oakland Police Department, as well as by her own later retraction, to be wholly disregarded upon this inquiry.

We are, however, fairly satisfied that the evidence taken as a whole presented at the defendant's trial sufficiently shows that the defendant Billings was seen upon Market street in the city of San Francisco within a few blocks of the scene of the explosion and within a short time before it occurred carrying a suit case of the general dimensions and color of that which contained the time bomb which exploded at said time and place.

This conclusion destroys all of that portion of the attempted alibi of the defendant which relates to his conduct and whereabouts during the hour which preceded the explosion. His testimony in that regard, both as to the fact that he had no suit case and that he was not at or near the place where these witnesses placed him during that time, we are sufficiently satisfied is false.

"UNSUPPORTED"

As to that portion of his alibi, sworn to only by himself, which relates to his whereabouts at the precise time of the explosion and during the half hour which followed its occurrence, it has the not infrequent infirmity of being unsupported by the testimony of any other witness and it would seem to be almost incredible that if Billings was upon the public streets of San Francisco during that fatal hour, and at otherwhere than the scene of the explosion, he would have been unable to show that fact by the supporting testimony of persons who saw him at the times and places where he alone gave testimony to have been.

On the other hand, there is certain evidence, aside from that of John McDonald, that Warren K. Billings was seen and spoken to within a few hundred feet of the place of the explosion and within the space of five minutes after it had occurred. John Crowley testified at the trial that he was standing at the corner of Steuart and Mission streets just after the explosion had occurred; that he knew Billings and saw him there right after the explosion occurred; that when the band began to play a patriotic air and everyone else took off their hats Billings did not take off his hat and was called to by a man in the crowd to "take off your hat;" whereupon Billings moved away toward Howard street. He is positive in his identification of Billings and states that he "cannot be mistaken about it."

"WITNESS UNSHAKEN"

This witness was also unshaken upon cross-examination and the only way in which he is now sought to be discredited is by a showing that in the year 1911 he was convicted of failing to support his wife and was admitted to probation. This, as we have seen, is not a sufficient ground for disregarding wholly the positive testimony of this witness, who is not show to have had any interest or motive for falsifying in this particular case.

There is another and very significant body of evidence to be considered in relation to Billings's part, if any, in this terrible crime. After the explosion had occurred a considerable amount of material was picked up upon the scene or extracted from the bodies of the victims indicating the content of this time bomb prior to its explosion. The District Court of Appeal made the following comment upon the evidence thus collected and the connection of Billings with the manufacture of the bomb established thereby.

"DEVILISH INGENUITY"

It said: "The devilish ingenuity which constructed this infernal machine did not rest content with placing in it the explosive alone. It was filled with pistol cartridges, with pieces of iron pipe and with steel balls like the ball bearings of automobiles. From the debris of the explosion and from the bodies of the dead and wounded many of these articles were discovered and introduced in evidence. When the defendant was arrested his room was searched and in his room was found a can of bullets and pistol cartridges like those placed in the infernal machine. Automobile ball bearings were also found in his room. The defendant admitted that this can and its contents were his property and said he 'used them when it was thought necessary.' Asked where he bought them he said he did not remember."

It will be seen from the foregoing that the case against Warren K. Billings at his aforesaid trial did not rest wholly for its support upon the testimony of the eyewitness to the placing of the suitcase at the place of its explosion, John McDonald.

"INHUMAN CRIME"

Aside from the testimony of that witness, to which we shall presently recur, there was and is sufficient evidence in this record to create at least a strong probability that Warren K. Billings was one of those who plotted, prepared for and finally perpetrated this unspeakably infamous and inhuman crime.

In this connection it is to be remembered that the presumption of innocence which attended the defendant at all stages of his trial and up to the moment of the verdict and judgment ceased with such judgment. Upon motion for a new trial, upon appeal, and also we are satisfied upon this instant proceeding, the presumption of the integrity and correctness of such verdict and judgment prevails, and in so doing places upon the defendant and applicant herein the burden of making such showing as shall convince our reason that he is entitled to a recommendation for pardon, either because he was and is an innocent man wrongfully convicted through false and perjured testimony, or because, though guilty, he has so far reformed and repented of his crimes and of the evil courses and criminal motives which led to their commission as to be entitled to our merciful consideration, or because by his punishment thus far imposed he has sufficiently expiated his offense.

"ONLY EYE WITNESS"

The only one of these three alternatives upon which the applicant urges our recommendation for a pardon is that his conviction was brought about by the false and perjured testimony of certain witnesses, and chiefly by that of the witness, John McDonald, who was the only eyewitness to the defendant's immediate part in placing the suit case containing the time bomb at the place of its present explosion. With the foregoing background, we address ourselves to a consideration of the testimony of John McDonald presented at the defendant's trial and to his subsequent attempts as embodied in his ex parte affidavit, to retract certain portions of his said testimony.

On the afternoon of July 22, 1916, within a short time after the explosion John McDonald, a waiter by calling but who was not working at the time, having recently been released from a hospital where he had been under treatment for a stomach affection, told several persons with whom he casually came in contact that he had seen a man deposit the suit case which had exploded at the place where it had stood prior to the explosion. In these conversations he described and repeated in detail the appearance and actions of the man and also of his confederate who had apparently been awaiting his coming in a near-by saloon. He was advised to tell his story to the police.

"WENT VOLUNTARILY"

Accordingly on the following Monday morning John McDonald went voluntarily to the police department, where he met Duncan Matheson, lieutenant of police, to whom he told his story, which, according to the testimony of Matheson given during the trial was "substantially what he said here on the witness stand."

He did not at that time personally know either W. K. Billings or his associate at the scene of the explosion, T. J. Mooney, but when these two men were arrested a few days later and he was brought into their presence he identified them and each of them as being the men whom he saw in connection with the suit case a few moments before the explosion.

At the time John McDonald first told his story and at the time he identified the two men no inducements were held out to him so to do and no reward for the arrest and conviction of the perpetrators of the crime had been offered.

"IDENTIFIED PLACE"

The trial of Billings began on September 11, 1916, and occupied eleven days. On September 18 McDonald was called to the witness stand and sworn, and after stating that he had been at the corner of Stewart and Market streets a few moments before the explosion occurred, was shown a picture of the scene, whereupon he identified the place where he was standing when and where he saw the defendant Billings first upon the scene.

He then proceeded to describe in detail and with but little questioning on the part of the prosecuting officer the appearance, conduct and actions of Billings from the time he came nito view with the suit case and placed it upon the sidewalk down to the moment when the latter disappeared from the scene a few moments before the explosion. His description was circumstantial.

His reasons for his particular observation of both Billings and T. J. Mooney, whom he met upon the spot, bore every semblance of sincerity and truth, and were in accord with what would, it seems, have been the natural conduct and actions of men engaged in such a perilous and nefarious enterprise.

"IDENTIFICATION POSITIVE"

His identification of Billings was positive and complete, and when he was asked the question, "You observed him across the street and are positive he was the man, his answer was, "I certainly am as God is my judge," and when later and on cross-examination he was asked, "By whom was he accompanied at the corner?" he replied, "by a man that I afterward picked out as Mr. Mooney," and when further asked, "Are you as sure that it was Mr. Mooney as you are that it was Mr. Billings?" he answered, "Yes, sir; just as sure as I am sitting in this chair."

His cross-examination proceeded at considerable length, during the course of which McDonald repeated without material variation the statements which he had made upon his direct examination with, if anything, more of detail, consistency and assurance. At a later stage of the trial he was recalled to deny that he had made to a witness produced by the defense any other statement inconsistent with that to which he had testified upon the trial.

Upon the trial of T. J. Mooney, as the records of this court disclose, held in the following month, John McDonald was again called as a witness and again repeated, with the same consistent detail and circumstance, the statements to which he had sworn upon the trial of Billings, and was again subjected to a searching cross-examination, during which his story and particularly his identifications remained unshaken.

Both of these defendants were convicted of murder in the first degree, the latter with the death penalty, but in the case of Billings, possibly on account of his youth, possibly because of the closing remarks of counsel for the prosecution to the effect that there was some hope that Billings, who is described as a "mere puppet" would sooner or later tell the whole story of the crime, recommended life imprisonment.

Both of these convictions were affirmed upon appeal during the succeeding year. John McDonald remained in San Francisco for the following three years, working at his calling as a waiter, during the course of which there was much public agitation and discussion, both in and out of the courts, over questions, controversies and personages revolving about the cases and convictions. . . . During that period McDonald made no sign . . . (in 1921 he made the affidavit) upon which the applicant herein most strongly relies. . . . The original testimony of McDonald, as given with so much of circumstances and detail . . . within a short time after the occurrence of the tragedy . . . bears the stamp of truth, while . . . this belated affidavit . . . bears the stamp of falsity. . . ."

The court then remarked that Billings had objected to efforts of the court to discover McDonald and requestion him, and had insisted that the matter be decided upon the records alone.

"The application for the pardon of Warren K. Billings . . . is not . . . based upon any claim supported by any affirmative showing that . . . Billings is an innocent man. The utmost effect of all that has been herein proposed or presented is to cast doubt on the regularity of his conviction. We have . . . arrived at the conclusion that sufficient doubt has not been thus cast. . . ."

HIGH LIGHTS OF THE DECISION

"Upon the entire record before us we acquit the then officials of San Francisco, who were charged with the duty of discovering and bringing to trial and conviction the authors of this dastardly crime, of the charge that in so doing they were actuated by improper motives, or made use of wrongful or improper methods."

"There was and is sufficient evidence in this record to create at least a strong probability that Warren K. Billings was one of those who plotted, prepared for and finally perpetrated this unspeakably infamous and inhuman crime."

"The applicant herein has made no attempt to offer anything in the way of an affirmative showing that with respect to the crime in question he is in truth and in fact an innocent man. . . . There is sufficient in the record before us to show that the deliberated and fiendishly prepared-for crime of Preparedness Day was in all human probability conceived and carried forward to its execution by the same group of evilly disposed individuals, whose friend and associate Billings for several years had been and into the inner council of which he was wont to come and go. . . . It is an almost irresistible conclusion that if Warren K. Billings did not himself prepare and plant the deadly time bomb of the Preparedness Day disaster, he and his intimate associate and codefendant Mooney, know and have always . . . known who did prepare and plant that bomb. . . . Yet there has never come from the lips of either . . . the slightest tangible hint . . . which might lead to the discovery of the real perpetrators . . . if these two defendants were not the guilty ones; nor has there ever come to public notice . . . the slightest clew or trace which might serve to point . . . to any persons . . . other than these defendants."

"John McDonald (the witness who testified to seeing Billings plant that bomb and identified both him and Mooney, positively, as having been in the immediate vicinity) remained in San Francisco . . . three years . . . during the course of which there was much public agitation and discussion, both in and out of the courts, over questions, controversies and personages revolving about the cases and convictions. . . . During that period McDonald made no sign . . . (in 1921 he made the affidavit) upon which the applicant herein most strongly relies. . . . The original testimony of McDonald, as given with so much of circumstances and detail . . . within a short time after the occurrence of the tragedy . . . bears the stamp of truth, while . . . this belated affidavit . . . bears the stamp of falsity. . . ."

The court then remarked that Billings had objected to efforts of the court to discover McDonald and requestion him, and had insisted that the matter be decided upon the records alone.

"The application for the pardon of Warren K. Billings . . . is not . . . based upon any claim supported by any affirmative showing that . . . Billings is an innocent man. The utmost effect of all that has been herein proposed or presented is to cast doubt on the regularity of his conviction. We have . . . arrived at the conclusion that sufficient doubt has not been thus cast. . . ."

offices of the legal counsel [illegible] of these defendants in [illegible] we may not even attempt [illegible] mise.

It may be stated, [illegible] that upon the receipt of [illegible] plication the members of [illegible] court felt that [illegible] should be made to [illegible] McDonald with a view to [illegible] further questions as might [illegible] to shed light upon the [illegible] stances and motives [illegible] and animating the [illegible] the affidavit in question, [illegible] to find that McDonald has [illegible] parently disappeared.

Some publicity having been [illegible] to our disposition in this [illegible] the applicant herein on May [illegible] addressed a letter to the [illegible] of this court, stating that [illegible] rumor had reached him [illegible] "being the applicant in [illegible] persons, I consider it my [illegible] suggest that inasmuch as [illegible] the constitution of the [illegible] the Penal Code specifically [illegible] any such jurisdiction for the [illegible] gation or carrying on of [illegible] investigation in matters of [illegible] jurisdiction, that it is not [illegible] tention or spirit of either [illegible] stitution or the code to [illegible] powers or such jurisdiction [illegible] court in matters pertaining [illegible] application for recommendation [illegible] executive clemency, which [illegible] is very much in the nature [illegible] appeal from the findings of [illegible] court. It is my contention [illegible] court must under the statute [illegible] the matter upon the record [illegible] case, supplemented by such [illegible] testimony as may be filed with [illegible] in the form of affidavits or [illegible] briefs as may be submitted by [illegible] applicant."

"CONFINED TO EXECUTIVE"

Without determining [illegible] what the powers of this court [illegible] membership may be in the [illegible] lose, or in any like [illegible] have herein accepted and [illegible] accord with the application [illegible] as above set forth, and have [illegible] fined our investigation of [illegible] ter to the record and matters [illegible] sented with this application [illegible] our own official records and [illegible] of the Appellate Court upon [illegible] the trials and appeals of [illegible] defendants.

We have considered the [illegible] letters and communications [illegible] persons who, with varying [illegible] have seen fit to recommend [illegible] granting of a pardon to the [illegible] cant. These, however, are [illegible] for the consideration of the [illegible] executive who, subject to [illegible] constitutional provision, is [illegible] with the ultimate power [illegible] granting or withholding [illegible] clemency with respect to [illegible] convicted of crime.

The foregoing mass of [illegible] presents no judiciable issue [illegible] not, therefore, come within the [illegible] view of the powers with which [illegible] members of this court are [illegible] by the terms of the [illegible] and statute above cited.

"ATROCITY OF CRIME"

We have given to the [illegible] which are properly before us a [illegible] longed and most careful consideration, both on account of the [illegible] and atrocity of the crime of which the applicant stands convicted, also because of the widespread interest in the cases of Billings and Mooney which has been aroused in the public mind. It is by reason of this latter situation that we would wish to add to our [illegible] review of the record before us certain further reflections, based upon the record and [illegible] mitted for our consideration, which we germane, we think, to the [illegible] ability and duty with which we have been invested.

The application for pardon of Warren K. [illegible] presented to the Chief Executive and as forwarded to us [illegible] an application for executive clemency or for our recommendation that it should be granted, based upon any [illegible] ported by any affirmative showing that, with reference to the Preparedness Day tragedy, [illegible] ings is an innocent man, the utmost effect of all that has been herein proposed or presented is to cast doubt upon the regularity of his conviction, we have, as has been seen, arrived at the conclusion that sufficient doubt has not been cast upon the regularity of the conviction of Warren K. Billings for the crime for which he is undergoing punishment to justify a recommendation that he be granted a pardon.

"WIDESPREAD INTEREST"

We might well let the matter rest here, but in view of the widespread public interest which has been aroused by various means and methods in this and in other cases we deem it our duty to call attention to the fact that the applicant herein has made no effort to offer anything in the way of affirmative showing that with respect to the crime in question he is in truth and in fact an innocent man. We are brought to the conclusion that the applicant is bound to tender some such showing as a basis for his request for a pardon, in view of his conviction of a cognate crime, and of the other facts and circumstances which, as we have hereinbefore pointed gravely even if not entirely to his participation in the crime.

The record sufficiently shows that prior to and at the time of the conviction of his former associate in crime, the friend and associate of this organized group of persons, men and women, who were actively engaged in plotting, attempting and executing crimes of violence upon both property and persons [illegible] during labor disputes, but [illegible] as a means of utterly [illegible] test against both the [illegible] industrial forms and [illegible] modern society.

"FELLOWSHIP CONTINUED"

The evidence further discloses that between the commission of the first and second crimes this [illegible] and association on the part of [illegible] lings continued to exist. [illegible] fair inference at least and [illegible] showing to the contrary, [illegible] opinions, motives, purposes [illegible] sions which had moved him [illegible] mit his first crime still [illegible] to rule his life.

There is sufficient in the record before us to show that the deliberated and fiendishly prepared for crime of Preparedness Day was in all human probability conceived and carried forward to its execution by the same group of evilly disposed individuals, whose friend and associate Billings for several years had been and into affidavit of John McDonald in detail we discover that the main gravamen of its statements consists in an attempted showing that his first identification of Billings as the man he saw placing the suit case at the place of its explosion was brought about by the crude and archaic plan on the part of the police officers of calling Billings from his cell by name and thus presenting him for the affiant's identification; and that the same procedure was had in the case of Mooney.

"MUST HAVE BEEN KNOWN"

If it be true, as the affiant states, that his first identification of these two men was procured through such crude and improper means, that fact occurring in the presence of each must have been fully known to both Billings and Mooney when each was placed upon trial, and being so known would in reason have been communicated to their able and zealous counsel; and it is unbelievable that if so communicated they would not have taken full advantage of it to bring into discredit the affiant's identification of these two men as sworn to by him at their respective trials.

Yet nothing of that kind occurred, nor was the slightest showing attempted at either trial by cross-examination or otherwise to the effect that the affiant's identification of these defendants had been brought about by any such irregular means. We are satisfied, therefore, that the affiant's statements in the foregoing respect is a tissue of falsehoods.

"CASTS SHADOW"

The falsity of McDonald's affidavit in the above respect casts its discrediting shadow upon the further statements therein which relate directly to the matter of identification. The affiant's statement is, "I did not know Billings and did not remember ever having seen him before and could not identify him had Lieut. Goff not brought me to his cell and told me who he was;" and again with reference to Mooney he states, "I did not know Mooney and could not have told him that that was Mooney had Lieut. Goff not pointed him out to me in the cell."

The foregoing two statements contain the only two statements in the McDonald affidavit wherein its affiant undertakes to directly cast discredit to his sworn testimony given at the trial of both Billings and Mooney, wherein he positively, and, as we have seen, emphatically identified these two defendants as having participated in the placing of the time bomb at the place of its explosion.

"STAMP OF TRUTH"

However much McDonald may have sought to discredit himself and his former testimony by the making of such an affidavit, we are satisfied that placing his two conflicting statements together and considering each in the light of the circumstances under which it was made, the original testimony of John McDonald as given with so much of circumstance and detail upon the trials of each of these men, within a short time after the occurrence of the tragedy for the causation of which they were being tried, bears the stamp of truth, while, on the other hand, this belated affidavit, wherein he undertakes with so much of intermingled untruth to cast discredit upon his former testimony bears the stamp of falsity, and that the substance and effect of this affiant's former positive and damning identification of both of these men as the perpetrators of this foul crime has not thereby been overthrown.

Reading the McDonald affidavit as a whole, and in the light of the foregoing consideration of its essential content, it would seem upon its face to have been inspired by McDonald's reiterated sense of injury and complaint against the police department and public officials of San Francisco because he failed to receive the reward which he claims to have been promised by them or certain of them, but which promise he claims had been violated. This seems to constitute the main gravamen of McDonald's affidavit; and, so far as its face discloses, his chief motive in having made it at the time he did.

What other motives or influences may have inspired him to travel from his home in Maryland to the

BILLINGS'S PLEA ON STUDY

[illegible] inner councils of which he was [illegible] went to come and go.

It is a matter of public history that for several weeks prior to the Preparedness Day parade there had been going forth from the inner councils of this group of persons a rabid opposition to the holding of said parade, coupled with all sorts of suggestions by public speaking and newspaper propaganda as to how this patriotic demonstration could be discouraged or prevented, even to the extent of the advocacy of violence as a means to those ends

"FAMILIAR WITH PLOTS"

It is fairly inferable from his past and present affiliations that Warren K. Billings was familiar with the plots and plans of this group of his most intimate associates, and this being so it is an almost irresistible conclusion that if Warren K. Billings did not himself prepare and plant the deadly time bomb of the Preparedness Day disaster, he and his intimate associates and codefendant, Mooney, know and have always, both before and since the occurrence of that tragedy, known who did prepare and plant that bomb, and the deadly purpose for which it was prepared and planted.

Yet there has never come from the lips of either of these defendants, or from out the inner circle of their associates, the slightest tangible hint or aid to the public officials or to any one else which might lead to a discovery of the real perpetrators of this revolting crime, if these two defendants were not the guilty ones; nor has there ever come to public notice during all the years which have elapsed since the commission of the Preparedness Day crime the slightest clew or trace which might serve to point public official inquiry to any persons or group of persons other than these defendants and their associates who might reasonably be suspected or charged with the disposition to conceive or commit such a crime.

From the foregoing considerations and from the inferences which we think are fairly deducible therefrom as to the actual or probable guilt of this applicant, we are unable to recommend to Your Excellency a consideration of the application of Warren K. Billings for pardon.

...NK'S OPINION

...His Excellency, the Governor ... State of California:

...mit me to make the follow... observations with reference to ...

...the application of Warren K. Billings for pardon:

In his letter to the members of the Supreme Court of date May 4, 1930, the applicant has testified that the powers of the members of the court in deciding whether a pardon should be recommended are limited to a consideration of the record before us and that the same should be considered in the nature of a cause pending before us as upon appeal. The treatment of the subject signed by a majority of the members of the court, and to which this is appended, is on the theory thus insisted upon by the applicant.

From that standpoint the reasoning and conclusions of the majority are, in my optnion, unassailable. But my conception of the powers of the members of the court in the premises is that they are not so limited. The application is addressed to the individual conscience and discretion of each member, to be acted upon not strictly as a court matter, but as one to be considered with the same latitude exercisable by the chief executive, who has the right, I take it, to employ any and all proper means in an endeavor to arrive at the truth, and in so doing is not limited to the 'affirmative' showing made on the application.

"THOROUGHLY EXAMINED"

The means should be made available, as occasion may require, to disclose the circumstances and conditions under which a witness, thoroughly examined and cross-examined at a public trial, has later cast reflections upon or repudiated his former testimony given under oath in open court. Such circumstances and conditions can only be surmised on a consideration of McDonald's ex parte affidavit, for example, made five years after the trial and presented to us eight years after it was made.

The important thing is to arrive at the truth of the matter and, in order to do so, we should have the power to employ any appropriate means to satisfy ourselves of the truth or falsity of the repudiation, especially in the absence of any statute or rule governing the procedure in the premises. If we should exercise that power it might be that the truth would be satisfactorily brought to light, either for or against the application.

On the showing now made by the applicant I do not entertain a sufficient doubt of the justness of his conviction to warrant a recommendation for pardon.

Respectfully submitted,

Associate Justice.

PRESTON'S OPINION

To His Excellency C. C. Young,
Governor of California:

The crime committed on July 22, 1916, was a direct assault upon organized government.

Those killed or maimed by this explosion were no more the objects of this fiendish plot than other members of society. They were victims only because they happened to be within the range of the deadly missile. The State could not be expected to remain supinely inactive in the face of this outrage. It has within its keeping the liberty and rights of its citizens. It acted in this matter by bringing the petitioner to trial. Concededly the trial was a fair and impartial one. Indeed, the trial court excluded evidence tending to show a conspiracy between the petitioner and others, which might well have been admitted. No evidence whatsoever is present to show any misfeasance or oppression by any officer connected with the prosecution of the case.

Some of the general aspects of the case are: The petitioner has been previously convicted of a crime which showed a distinct leaning toward sabotage and sabotage is akin to anarchy. His associations as well as other actions showed a like tendency.

"RECORD AMPLE"

The record, speaking in a legal sense, was ample to warrant the conviction of petitioner. In the same sense it is equally true that nothing has subsequently occurred which would overthrow this record. The data submitted is not in form sufficiency or authenticity to permit its introduction as legal evidence. Ex parte affidavits are not ordinarily admitted because no opportunity has been given to test the truth of the one-sided statements made therein. Moreover, an affidavit taken in 1921, some five years after date of conviction, and held some eight years more before actual use thereof is made, loses much of its value.

On top of the above showing comes the petitioner himself, evidently acting under legal advice, and protests against any efforts on the part of the members of this court to verify these affidavits by trying to ascertain the circumstances under which they were made or the reasons which prompted the variation by the affiants from their previous repeated testimony given where both examination and cross-examination was had.

We are thus practically required to examine the record purely in its legal aspects.

DOUBT HAS ARISEN

Moreover, the petitioner rests his claim for a pardon upon his innocence. This does not follow as a certainty for the showing he makes. The most that could be claimed for it is that a doubt has arisen as to the sufficiency of his identification. He does not come forward with any showing that points to the perpetration of the deed by another, thus proving his own innocence. No legitimate explanation of the crime, consistent with his innocense, is offered. Fourteen years have elapsed and nothing has been revealed to show that the perpetrator was some other person.

If the petitioner were merely asserting that the issue is one of identify and that subsequent events have cast a doubt upon the sufficiency of such identification, I, for one, would feel inclined to give careful consideration to this plea upon an application by him for a commutation of sentence. Identity is a form of opinion evidence and hence has a certain amount of inherent weakness.

In this case, as practically none of the witnesses knew petitioner personally, a legitimate doubt might now be engendered as to the verity of the identification made. But petitioner does not appear before us in this role. He apparently insists upon pardon, which would carry with it the inference that he was innocent and was convicted by illegitimate means.

I cannot concur in any such view of the case; hence I am joining with the majority in withholding at this time a recommendation for his pardon.

Respectfully,
[Signed]
JOHN W. PRESTON,
Associate Justice, Supreme Court.

LANGDON'S OPINION

I do not concur in the majority report. The constitution of the State of California provides that "neither the Governor nor the Legislature shall have power to grant pardons, or commutations of sentences in any case where the convict has been twice convicted of a felony unless upon a recommendation of a majority of the judges of the Supreme Court."

A majority of the judges of the Supreme Court have refused such recommendation. There is no provision in the law for a minority recommendation and such a recommendation is wholly ineffectual for any purpose as also is a statement of the minority's views. It seems to be sufficient to state that upon the record now before us, I am not so free from doubt of petitioner's guilt as to withhold a recommendation for executive clemency and thus preclude the Governor from taking such action upon the application as in his judgment he may deem proper.

W. H. LANGDON,
Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

YOUNG DELAYS MOONEY RULING

definitely with regard to Mooney, the Governor has stated repeatedly that in taking action on the application he will be "guided largely" by the Supreme Court's judgment of Billings's petition. He has indicated the judicial recommendation will be "wonderfully persuasive" in his consideration. The two cases are so strikingly similar, he has pointed out, that very probably "what is fair in the one would be fair in the other."

Gov. Young's time yesterday was occupied wholly with addressing patriotic gatherings in and about the city. He delivered speeches at eight Independence Day celebrations.

CASES HAVE BEEN UNDER CONSTANT SCRUTINY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (AP)—Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, viewed by many as martyrs and by others as perpetrators of a bomb outrage that killed ten persons and injured forty others during a San Francisco Preparedness Day parade in 1915, have one more disappointment.

Their cases have been under officity scrutiny since February 10, 1917, when Mooney was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The trial followed that of Billings, alias Henry Wall, the first of a group of five suspects to face a hearing. Billings received a life term.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

Presidential intervention by Woodrow Wilson occasioned an appeal to the Governor, resulting in a commutation of Mooney's sentence to life imprisonment. With disclosures of purported perjured evidence against the men, hopes were aroused they both would be pardoned as victims of a "frame-up."

The defendants consistently maintained San Francisco police, panic-stricken at inability to fix the crime on the perpetrators, manufactured evidence against them.

Following the convictions a campaign was started by labor unions and other forces in their behalf and at least two general nation-wide strikes were threatened. Nothing happened.

Witnesses came forward and claimed they gave perjured evidence directly responsible for the men's conviction. Mooney and Billings remained in prison, Mooney at San Quentin, Billings at Folsom. A series of attempts to free the men followed, arousing their hopes without success.

REVIEW PROMISED

Then Gov. Young promised to review the entire transcript of the two cases and asked the State Supreme Court to offer recommendations. The tribunal's adverse report in the case of Billings was made public today, with one justice, Langdon, dissenting.

clemency and thus preclude the Governor from taking such action upon the application as in his judgment he may deem proper."

NEWS SHOCK TO MOONEY BUT HE KEEPS SILENCE

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (Exclusive)—A few tears, an ironic smile, admissions of disappointment, but an embracing determination to keep up the fight as far as it can be taken, marked reactions today of those closest to Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings when the State Supreme Court recommendation against pardons became known.

Mooney, whose expectation for release from San Quentin rested on the Supreme Court's judgment on the Billings pardon application, took it with greater outward fortitude than others, but the grim smile that he carried into the discussion with newspaper men and prison officials palpably was a shield to his real feelings.

"Well, that's bad news," he said, "but I'm not going to give up the fight. I will never give up the fight to prove my innocence.

"The Governor says that if Billings is guilty I am. However, Mr. Oxman, who said he saw Billings and myself at the corner of Market and Steuart streets the day of the bombing, has been proved to have been asleep in the home of a friend in Woodland.

WIFE STILL FIRM

"I have nothing more to say until I have read and studied the report of the Supreme Court. And now, please excuse me—I want to see the ball game."

With which he walked back into the prison recreation yard, his shoulders square and unbowed and a set smile upon his face.

Mrs. Rena Mooney, the prisoner's wife, declared:

"Of course, I feel very badly, but I have waited fourteen years and I won't give up now. I have cried until there are no more tears, and I'm going away for a few days to rest a bit. I believed so strongly and have fought so hard. I will never give up trying."

Mrs. Mary Mooney, his mother, who is in her seventies, said:

"I had all the hopes in the world of the decision being different. I am still in hope of something being done for my boy. All through these years I have tried my best to keep up and I'll still do so. I've never lost my faith in justice nor in Tom's innocence. I know right will win out in the end."

Mary E. Gallagher, secretary of the Mooney Defense League, in which the fight for freedom has been centered, was inclined to optimism, saying:

"The decision of the Supreme Court does not need to affect the action of Gov. Young because the Supreme Court, in studying the Billings petition, did not consider anything outside the record of the trials. The proof of the innocence of both Mooney and Billings rests on matters discovered since the trials; confessions and affidavits of perjury. These documents are contained in the Mooney petition for pardon and must be considered by Gov. Young in deciding upon that application."

PROSECUTOR'S STATEMENT

Charles M. Fickert, who, as District Attorney, prosecuted the bombing cases, declared himself unwilling to comment on the decision of the court, but of the effort to free the men, he said:

"I have always been confident the distorted framework reared in years of effort to release these men would, under searching inquiry, tumble like a house of cards.

"When the defendants were tried and convicted, I believed them guilty, and I am still of that opinion.

"In conducting the prosecution of these cases, I entertained no personal feeling against the accused. Regardless of personal or political consequences to myself, I endeavored to do my full duty as a sworn officer of the State. Even the fact that my assassination was attempted by a bomb sent through the mail, as well as being shot at from ambush did not persuade me that I was wrong."

BILLINGS TO CONTINUE FIGHT FOR RELEASE

FOLSOM PRISON, July 4. (AP)—Disappointed? Yes. Discouraged? No.

That was the impression given by Warren K. Billings here today after he had heard the decision in which the State Supreme Court denied his plea for a pardon recommendation.

The man who has spent fourteen years of a life sentence for murder in connection with the 1916 Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco, still has plans and visions of freedom.

He outlined to the Associated Press two possible future lines of action, one he designated as "loopholes in the Supreme Court's decision," which might make a petition for reconsideration possible, and the other habeas corpus proceedings, leading perhaps to the United States Supreme Court.

"Why haven't you tried habeas corpus proceedings before?" he was asked.

"The lawyers advised me against it," he said.

Billings attributed the adverse decision of the court partly to the fact that he had presented his petition himself instead of employing a lawyer. When asked why he didn't have a lawyer, he replied an attorney wanted $5000 and that he didn't have the money.

SAN DIEGO, July 4. (AP)—Ruth Alexander, who five years ago today took her first flight in an airplane, celebrated the Fourth by beating the altitude record for women's light planes.

Flying in a ninety-horsepower Barling monoplane she soared to a height of 20,000 feet. The former record, held by Miss Alexander and made about five months ago, was 18,000 feet.

The San Diego aviatrix ran into a temperature of 20 deg. below zero at the top of her climb from Lindbergh Field. Her altimeter registered an ascent to 21,000 feet, but the barograph which she carried would register only to 20,000 feet and the record will be determined by that instrument.

Miss Alexander was up two hours and thirty seconds. She took off at 2:19 p.m., and came down at 4:19:30.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) July 4. (AP) A resolution indorsing the candidacies of Senator Heflin as United States Senator, Hugh A. Locke as Governor and Dempsey Powell as Lieutenant-Governor was adopted unanimously this afternoon at a mass meeting.

The resolution also declares for an amendment to the primary law providing for the election in 1931 of a new State Democratic executive committee "in an election in which all white Democrats can run and vote and from which no white Democrat can be barred either as a voter or candidate."

The resolution sets forth the three candidates stand pledged to support such legislation and indorses an amendment requesting the election of delegates and alternates to the Democratic National Convention.

Grave Peril to World Sighted by Lloyd George

BOURNEMOUTH (Eng.) July 4. (AP)—A grave warning that international atmosphere is "poisoned with mistrust and suspicion" was delivered to the banquet of the International Congregational Church Council delegates tonight by former Premier David Lloyd George.

The Liberal leader declared the peace of the world depends on the co-operation and good will of Great Britain and the United States.

"Peace is by no means secure," he said. "In spite of treaties, man has not yet given up the idea of war. Preparations for war are going on in every country of the world."

HOOVER CALLS PACT SESSION

Naval Treaty Proclamation Blocks Senate Exodus

Summons Follows Wind-up of Long Spell of Work

Executive Message Slated for Delivery Monday

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—A Presidential proclamation halted Senators in midstep today and turned them back for a special session to consider the London naval treaty before they can depart for their homes.

But a few brief hours after they had worked out the last of the legislative snarls that had held them in uninterrupted debate for almost a year, President Hoover issued his proclamation.

Shorn of technical language, it said the public interest requires the Senate convene at noon Monday to receive a message from the President and consider whether it shall ratify the London naval treaty.

After issuing the call the President left for his lodge on the Rapidan for the holiday and weekend. While there he plans to prepare his message to Congress.

In the capital the hush that followed his proclamation was unbroken by statements. There were quiet preparations, however, by those who will lead the opposing forces on Capitol Hill.

The debate will find an administration Republican, a Democrat and a Republican Independent leading the demand for ratification of the treaty. Senators Reed, Pennsylvania, a Republican, and Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, who aided in drafting the document, will be allied with Borah of Idaho, a leader of the Republican Independent-Democratic tariff coalition, in behalf of the treaty.

On the opposite side of the fence, Senators Johnson, California, and McKellar, Tennessee, a Republican and a Democrat, will lead the opposition.

PRESIDENT GOES TO VIRGINIA RETREAT

ORANGE (Va.) July 4. (AP)—To the same verdant woods where less than a year ago he sat down with Ramsay MacDonald to survey problems of international peace, President Hoover went today to ponder the message to urge the Senate to ratify the treaty which sprang from that survey.

The President went to his Virginia retreat without the large group of guests which usually accompanies him. With him are his secretary, Walter Newton; Mrs. Newton and their son, John; Marshall and Lawrence Richey, another secretary.

The President's journey to the camp was slowed by the holiday-clogged roads and various minor delays. At a narrow bridge across the Rappahannock his party was forced to wait for a herd of cows which had started over the stream ahead of him.

There was no fishing at the lodge, the Virginia season having closed on June 30, last.

ZION PARK ROAD OPEN TO PUBLIC

Many Governors Take Part in Unusual Dedication

Thousands of Tourists and Utahans at Ceremonies

World-Famous Scenic Link Engineering Marvel

ZION NATIONAL PARK (Utah) July 4. (Exclusive)—A mile high along the face of a solid cliff, 2000 persons gathered today to witness the formal dedication of the Zion-Mt. Carmel tunnel and highway, while twenty governors and their guests looked on.

The celebration was set in one of the largest of the seven galleries cut into the solid rock, looking out upon the huge east temple, which rises for thousands of feet above and overlooking the canyon and portions of the national park.

The governors, who have been making speeches in Utah since last Monday, sat by today as national parks officials, highway men of State and nation, and State road builders gave a complete history of the improvement, which is said to be one of the most spectacular engineering feats in road building in the world.

EXERCISES MILE HIGH

The dedication exercises were held at an altitude of an even mile, after the governors' party was motored from Zion Lodge 2000 feet below over a winding road leading into the west portal of the tunnel. The tunnel is paved, is more than a mile long, and links the highways between Zion and Bryce national parks and the north rim of the Grand Canyon. Heretofore, it was necessary for motorists to go into Arizona from Zion to reach the remaining parks.

When the governors reached the second gallery in the tunnel they were met by hundreds of residents of Southern Utah who have watched the building of the tunnel and who sent a male chorus to sing paeans of thanks for the improvement. They met also, hundreds of tourists from other States. Automobiles were parked for a mile far down the grade.

DEDICATED TO PUBLIC

Heber J. Grant, president of the Mormon Church, spoke the prayer of thanksgiving for the tunnel. Horace M. Albright, director of national parks, who presided, called attention that today is the birth anniversary of the late Stephen J. Mather, director of parks, who had helped project the highway. He suggested that the new highway be named after Mather.

Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, introduced many of the government and State engineers who co-operated in the construction of the tunnel, while B. J. Finch, district engineer in Utah, formally turned over the completed work to the National Parks Service.

Gov. Dern of Utah also suggested the new highway be named the Stephen G. Mather Highway, after the late parks director. The Governor dedicated the project to public service.

Wobbly on Feet, But Happy

ENDURANCE PLANE DOWN

streaked over the wings and the fuselage.

"We had more trouble this afternoon with the 'gas' and we were afraid of the leak," John said.

Both flyers were taken to the second floor of the hangar into the dormitories after mechanics and police fought to clear the crowd for them.

"That's one thing I'll never go through again as long as I live," Kenneth said wearily. "It's the last word in misery and torture. Look at that." And he pointed down into the hangar where an open door on the plane revealed a veritable pig sty inside.

FUTURE UNDECIDED

Neither of the flyers has any definite idea concerning his future.

"Just give me a bath," exclaimed Kenneth. "You don't know how much you miss one until you do without it for three or four weeks." He revealed neither he nor John had bathed during the whole time of their flight, although he said they shaved occasionally.

After a brief rest, the two pilots and their brothers, Walter and Albert Hunter, who manned the refueling plane, were escorted to the top of the hangar and introduced to the crowd amid cheers.

It was announced they would be taken to a Chicago Loop hotel for an overnight rest and the crowd, invited to join in an automobile parade to the Loop, lost no time in falling in line for the triumphant procession.

Kenneth had to borrow a pair of trousers before he could remove his grimy overalls. He explained he had torn the leg from his own pants to use as a rag.

UNNOTICED AT FIRST

The plane took off virtually unnoticed on June 11 at 3:46 p.m., central standard time. Albert and Walter Hunter, brothers of the endurance flyers, dropped their coal business in Sparta, Ill., and came up to Chicago to man the supply ship.

In their second-hand plane the flyers kept on their circling over Sky Harbor without attention until they approached the former world's record held by the St. Louis Robin, which remained aloft 420 hours, 21 minutes and 30 seconds. They kept on piling up the record with no indication of coming down.

Today 20,000 automobiles crowded the airport and adjacent fields.

There was no indication that they intended to come down. In fact the flyers sent down a note just before their oil trouble developed stating that Kenneth would go out on to the top of the ship and slide back to the tail to remove debris at 7 o'clock this evening.

LAST STRAW

Apparently the broken oil gauge was the last straw. It was the second trouble the flyers had had with their oil supply during the day. This morning they sent down a note saying: "We allowed all the fresh oil to run through the motor. Ain't we dumb? Send up some more in a hurry."

As the hours wore on the ship lost steadily and it became increasingly difficult to keep repaired the fuel lines that broke and bolts that fell out.

While the flight progressed money poured in to the flyers and more money was promised in contracts. Sparta citizens came up in a large delegation and with them they brought the brothers' family, Mrs. Ida Hunter, the mother, who was on the field tonight when her sons landed, and Irene, their sister, who prepared their food.

Today as the boys entered their twenty-fourth day in the air an army of backers continued to wrangle. And this brought the decision on the part of the brothers on the ground to end the flight Saturday afternoon.

Just before the plane landed Walter intimated that the boys in the air were beginning to get tired with "what was going on on the ground" and were ready to come down.

Their landing was remarkable, flyers said, in view of their many days of grinding work aloft. The plane came down evenly and made a three-point landing.

In the twenty-three days in the air the plane had made 223 contacts with the refueling ship, used 7630 gallons of gasoline and 400 gallons of oil. The mileage flown is estimated at 41,475.

MUCH SLEEP LOST

The brothers complained about losing much sleep the last few days, blaming the numerous other planes which kept circling near them as they soared around the airport.

"We had to keep our eyes open most of the time," they said.

The boys said they limited themselves to only two meals a day, in the morning and evening, and said they didn't begin to get used to their aerial meals until they had been up about a week.

They divided the task of piloting the ship, each taking the controls for intervals of from three to five hours, while the other caught a few moments' nap, looked over the plane and performed the other necessary duties.

NEW FLIGHT PLANNED

Both John and Kenneth said they hope to make a nonstop refueling flight around the borders of the United States as quickly as it can be arranged.

The record-breaking plane is a second-hand Stinson - Detroiter, powered by a Wright Whirlwind motor of 300 horsepower. It is two years of age and was built and sold to the C. A. K. Air Lines in 1928 for commercial aviation.

After considerable service on that line it was sold to the Chicago We Will Corporation and used by it in two endurance flights here last fall, each of ten days' duration. It had flown approximately 70,000 miles before it went up on its latest flight.

CALCUTTA (Bengal) July 4. (AP) Reports today from Jalpaigurt, near Bengal, said earth shocks still were occurring in that vicinity, having been intermittent since the heavy quake of yesterday.

Several persons are reported injured and one large building collapsed at Rangpur. The Town Hall was damaged seriously.

EMBASSY COUNSELLOR WILL WED AT DUBLIN

PARIS, July 4. (AP)—European diplomatic circles were interested today in the announcement that George Anderson Gordon of New York, counsellor of the American Embassy in Berlin, will be married to Mrs. Alice Vandergrift Garrett, prominent in Washington society, at Dublin Monday.

The marriage will be held at the American Legation in Dublin. Mr. Gordon is a former army officer.

WATERWAYS BILL SIGNED

Hoover in Statement Cites Measure's Vast Import

Attention Called to Project Eclipsing Panama Canal

000. One hundred and seventy projects are given government approval under it. The work is to be done over a period of from one to fifteen years.

President Hoover said that under it:

"We now can build the many remaining segments of a definite canalization of our river systems through which modern barge trains of 10,000 to 15,000 tons of burden can operate systematically through the Midwest and to the Gulf of Mexico, and through the lakes to the Atlantic.

"The system, when completed, will have 12,000 miles of waterways."

MAJOR ITEMS

Among its major projects, the act provides for the government to take over the Erie and Oswego canals and the Illinois waterway, and for a nine-foot channel in the Upper Mississippi between the mouth of the Illinois and St. Paul and Minneapolis, a six-foot channel in the Upper Missouri from Kansas City to Sioux City, a nine-foot channel on the Tennessee from its mouth to Knoxville.

Others include channel deepening along the Great Lakes, work along the St. Lawrence waterway, and a Lake Okeechobee flood-control project, improvement of the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor, in addition to numerous smaller harbor and waterway development activities.

EXECUTIVE STATEMENT

The text of President Hoover's statement follows:

"It was with particular satisfaction that I signed the rivers and harbors bill as it represents the final authorization of the engineering work by which we construct and co-ordinate our great system of waterways and harbors, which I have advocated for more than five years; it was promised in the last campaign and in my recommendations to Congress.

"We now can build the many remaining segments of a definite canalization of our river systems through which modern barge trains of 10,000 to 15,000 tons of burden can operate systematically through the Midwest and to the Gulf of Mexico, and through the lakes to the Atlantic.

MILES OF WATERWAYS

"The system, when completed, will have 12,000 miles of waterways and will give waterway connection between such great cities as New Orleans, Memphis, Knoxville, Chattanooga, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and Sioux City, Keokuk, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago, Evansville, Cincinnati, Wheeling and Pittsburgh. Through the Great Lakes and the Erie Canal many of these points will have access to Central New York and the Atlantic. By its authorization for deepening of lake channels we shall support the present commerce of the Great Lakes and make preparation for ocean shipping by the ultimate deepening of the St. Lawrence. It authorizes numerous improvements in our harbors.

COURSE PROPOSED

"It is a long view plan for the future. It will require many years to complete its construction. I do not propose that we should proceed in a haphazard manner, but that we should approach the problem on sound engineering lines, completing the main trunk systems and gradually extending the work outward along the lateral rivers.

"Some of the items authorized have not yet been recommended by the engineers and, of course, they will not be undertaken unless they are so recommended.

"The bill does not call for any increase in the budget for this fiscal year, the appropriations having been provided by which work will be pushed at all available points in assistance to the temporary unemployment situation.

NEW ORGANIZATION

"I have, in co-operation with Secretary Hurley, established during the past year a new organization for the conduct of these works. In this organization we have created under Gen. Lytle Brown eight separate divisions, headed by responsible directing engineers, as follows: "Great Lakes division, Col. E. M. Markham; Upper Mississippi Valley, Lieut.-Col. G. S. Spalding; Lower Mississippi Valley, Brig.-Gen. T. H. Jackson; North Atlantic division, Col. W. J. Borden; South Atlantic division, Col. H. B. Ferguson; Gulf division, Lieut.-Col. Mark Brook; North Pacific division, Col. G. Bukell; South Pacific division, Lieut.-Col. T. M. Robins.

"In the aggregate this inland waterway undertaking represents a larger project than even the Panama Canal. It will provide employment for thousands of men. It should be fruitful of decreased transportation charges in bulk goods, should bring great benefits to our farms and to our industries. It should result in a better distribution of population away from the congested centers."

Robinson Hits Veterans' Bill

(AP) Predicting a demand within a few years for pensions for World War veterans without relation to disability, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, in a Fourth of July address here today said the veterans' relief measure, passed yesterday by Congress, will cost more in the end than the Johnson-Rankin measure vetoed recently by President Hoover.

BRIAND'S PLAN TERMED UNRIPE

Holland Voices Objections to Federation Idea

Added Bitterness Between Continents Feared

Importance of Economic Accord Stressed

PARIS, July 4. (AP)—The government of The Netherlands today informed the French Foreign Office of its belief that the ground had not been sufficiently prepared for a federation of European states, as recently suggested in a world-wide memorandum of Foreign Minister Briand.

Holland submitted a formal reply to the former Premier's proposal, which was made public today.

The Dutch officials expressed a lively appreciation of France's initiative but suggested that further exchanges must take place before the project can proceed.

CONFLICT WITH LEAGUE

The memorandum submited today expressed fear that such a federation might prove an embarrassment to the League of Nations and that continental grouping might, in practice, aggravate differences betwen the continents.

This, Holland feels, is the most difficult side of the problem that establishment of such a federation creates.

The Holland Foreign Office, in another reservation, takes issue with M. Briand's suggestion that the proposed federation should be based first on a political accord and then upon economic grounds.

ENCOURAGEMENT FELT

Holland feels, the memorandum says, regulation of political issues is not necessary to a general lowering of customs duties, which by implication it stresses as the most important problem confronting Europe today.

In official circles the reply was taken as encouraging. It was considered the objections raised will be in no way difficult to overcome. French officials pointed out that Foreign Minister Briand always considered such a federation must be grafted upon the structure of the League of Nations and could not succeed if in any way inimical.

To the idea that the federation might aggravate the differences between continents, the French today replied it would manifestly reduce the number of problems separating them.

PLANE USED TO CONTROL AUTO JAMS

Police Observer Watches Traffic from Air During Chicago Pageant

CHICAGO, July 4. (Exclusive)—Air control of ground traffic was introduced to the Chicago area today in handling the automobiles that visited the first day of the Pageant of Aerial Progress at the Curtiss-Reynolds Airport. The experiment will be continued tomorrow and Sunday in perfecting a traffic control system for the national air races at this port from August 23 to September 1.

A police observer in an airplane watched the movement of motor vehicles from an altitude of about 1000 feet. When a blockade formed at some particular point, the plane was landed; telephone communication to strategic points reported the congestion and it was relieved by re-routing motorists.

For the national air races, the traffic observation plane is to be equipped with a radio for instant communication with police headquarters on the ground. Without the radio, the advantage of the bird's-eye view of the traffic problem was discounted because of the delay in getting information to the ground.

Traffic was in a jam at times during the afternoon for miles around the Curtiss-Reynolds field.

RADIO DEVOTEE SHOT; SUICIDE SUSPECTED

INDIANAPOLIS, July 4. (AP)—Mrs. Josephine Dazey, 39 years of age, who, a few days ago was made a defendant with her husband in a damage suit filed by neighbors on assertions that the Dazey radio was played so loud and so continuously as to be a public nuisance, was found dead in her home today with a bullet wound in her head. Apparently she had committed suicide.

CLARENCE BENNETT, PLAYWRIGHT, DEAD

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) July 4. (AP) Clarence Bennett, 74 years of age, author and actor, died yesterday. As actor and playwright Bennett produced "Under the North Star," "A Royal Slave" and "The Holy City." The past fifteen years Mr. Bennett had been devoted to Masonic work.

BOOTLEGGER KILLS WIFE AND HIMSELF

WENATCHEE (Wash.) July 4. (AP) Henry Ruhl, 46 years of age, convicted bootlegger, shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide here today. The shooting climaxed a quarrel which started after Ruhl returned from an outing and his wife refused to get breakfast.

ANGELENO HELD IN ARIZONA AS ROBBER

PHOENIX, July 4. (AP) — Frank Hall of Los Angeles is in the Prescott jail today in connection with a pay-roll robbery. Hall was arrested by a posse an hour after Gus Wolfe, paymaster for a mine at Mayer, was robbed of $2000. The money was recovered.

GROWTH

Just 3 months ago (March 31, 1930) Mercantile Building-Loan Association's regular quarterly statement showed resources of seven million dollars . . . and investment security holders numbering 20,000.

Our statement just issued, dated July 1st, shows resources in excess of $12,800,000 . . . and more than 30,000 investors. Resources nearly double — investors a third more in number!

What is behind this tremendous growth? We say faith . . . faith in ourselves and faith in us on the part of those 30,000 people who invest their funds with Mercantile. Behind that faith is the fundamental idea of this building and loan institution . . . safety of principal, availability of investment, and 6% interest.

LAW HELPLESS TO FREE YOUTH KEPT SHACKLED

NEW LONDON (Ct.) July 4. (Exclusive)—The shackles that 12-year-old Clifford Dunmire has worn for three years kept him chained to a rocking-chair in his back yard today as police admitted there is no law that can enforce his release.

As his boy companions celebrated Independence Day in the street outside his home the willing prisoner dragged his rocking chair.

His freedom was at all times bounded to various points in the yard by the length of chain which linked the leg iron on his left ankle to the heavy chair.

"If I take off that chain, he'll run away," his mother, Mrs. Anna Dunmire asserted, pathetically, and Clifford, grinning, nodded his head in agreement with her explanation.

Indian Frontier Trouble Brews

BOMBAY, July 4. (AP)—A wave of unrest on the northwest frontier was reported from Peshawar today, dispatches saying natives are trying to stir new action among the Utman Khel tribesmen.

It was added the Utmans, who recently suffered from the operations of the British Royal Air Force, have thus far refused to become excited over the agitation.

Pandit Madan Malaviya was appointed president of the working committee of the All-India National Congress by Vithalbhai Patel, head of the congress body, last year.

LONG BEACH, July 4.—What's the use of printing record books while this marvelous mermaid from the Northwest, Helene Madison, is in swimming competition? That must have been the thought in the minds of A.A.U. officials here today at Recreation Park, where the second day's program of the 1930 outdoor national championships was run off. For it was Helene Madison who again stole the limelight in the aquatic meet by making her third world's record in two days with a swimming performance that brought the 12,000 spectators to their feet shouting applause that almost rocked this beach city to its foundation.

Miss Madison, a girl who was unknown in swimming circles less than three years ago, was today the toast of the aquatic world by reason of her performances in the past two days. Today she shattered the world's record for the 440 free-style distances for women by splashing her way to the tape in 5m. 32.4s., without seeming to wet her bathing cap.

Helen Wills Captures Title Fourth Time

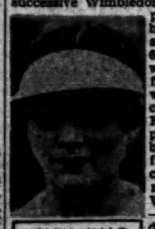
Four All-American Finals at Wimbledon

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WIMBLEDON (Eng.) July 4. (AP) Helen Wills Moody won her fourth successive Wimbledon tennis championship today by beating Elisabeth Ryan, 6-2, 6-2, in the women's singles final, but that was only an incident in the Fourth of July play that brought about four all-American title matches at Wimbledon—an unprecedented outcome of England's classic tennis meeting.



HELEN WILLS MOODY

So many Americans are elbowing each other out of the path to titles the tournament must stretch into a third week to give them all an equal chance. Wilmer Allison, the slim Texan, plays Big Bill Tilden for the men's singles crown tomorrow. With Johnny Van Ryn today Allison won a fine match from the Britons, J. Colin Gregory and Ian G. Collins, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3, and will play in the men's doubles final against George Lott and John Doeg who whipped the last of the French, the great doubles team of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, 8-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1.

PLAY MONDAY

So that Allison won't have to play two hard final matches in one day, the doubles play will be set over to Monday. Besides Allison and Tilden, the other title play tomorrow will pit Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan against Edith Cross of San Francisco, and Sarah Palfrey, Boston miss, in the women's doubles final, while Jack Crawford and Miss Ryan will play Daniel Prenn and Miss Krahuinkel for the mixed doubles championship.

Thus the finalists in men's sin-

ANGELS ANNEX HOLIDAY BILL

Beavers Drop Two Contests by 10-0, 6-5 Scores

Ducks Held to Two Hits by Yerkes in Opener

Seraphs Are Four Games in Front of Senators

PORTLAND (Or.) July 4.—The Galloping Angels continued their winning stride today with two more victories over the Portland Ducks, from whom they have now won five out of six. In the first games Carroll Yerkes carried the revenge idea to an extreme by blanking his ex-team mates, 10 to 0, with only two hits. The second game was a rough-and-tumble affair, with the Angels nosing out, 6 to 5, after terrible Portland base running had kissed away a cinch chance in the eighth to tie the score.

Rhiel and Robertson were on third and second at the time with none gone, and Portland only two runs behind, 6 to 4. Ballou had just relieved Delaney who was shaky. Bob Johnson lammed a terrific smash to right. Schulmerich made a great running one-hand catch off the boards and slammed the ball to second. He all but nipped Robertson, who had run up the line, and Rhiel also had to come back and touch third.

Eventually Rhiel scored on an infield out, but Robertson was left stranded with the tying run.

Yerkes was sold to Los Angeles earlier in the season by Tom Turner on the theory that he had nothing left, but he certainly made Turner moan this afternoon, and the Portland fans added a razzberry chorus for their magnate.

Fullerton singled off Yerkes in the second inning, and Johnson repeated in the eighth, but both died on first base and were the only Duck athletes to get that far. Yerkes did not walk a man. Only twenty-nine batsmen faced him. He showed a fast ball that must have hurt Turner's feelings, a fine curve and a change of pace that had the Beaver-Ducks popping into the air. Seventeen of them went out that way.

The Angels began hammering Fullerton early and continued it late. In the second game they lit on Roy Chesterfield for four first-inning runs, but later, on, Barfoot weakened, was replaced by Delaney, who, in turn, gave way to Ballou. The latter saved the fray, as he did earlier in the week.

As a result of their two wins, the Lelivelitians are now four full games ahead of Sacramento with only ten more games of the first half remaining. Scores:

Six Records Smashed as Women Meet

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—The flying feet of Stella Walsh, Cleveland flash, and the strong right arm of Mildred (Babe) Didrickson, 17-year-old Dallas star, sent five world's athletic records for women tumbling into the discard in the national A.A.U. track and field meet at Owney Stadium here today.

Miss Walsh set new international marks in all three events in which she competed, the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump. In running the century in 11.1, she defeated the former record-holder, Betty Robinson of Chicago, by a scant two inches. The previous record was 11.2.

OAKLAND DROPS TWO DECISIONS

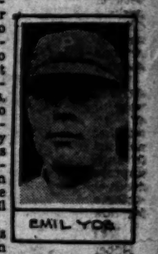
Sheiks Slug Way to Win in Opener by 10-9 Score

Yde Pitches Vittmen to 2-1 Triumph in Nightcap

Brannan Scores Winning Run in Eighth Inning

BY BOB RAY

No matter how you figure it, ten and two makes a dozen. And the Hollywood Stars yesterday added two more victories to their ten in a row to run their winning streak to twelve straight by twice humbling the Oaks, 10 to 9 and 2 to 1. The double-barreled victory sent the Sheiks up into undisputed possession of third place and they're still going strong.



EMIL YDE

Oscar Vitt's hirelings had an easy time winning the opener, although the Acorns did put across five runs in the ninth to come within one of knotting the count, but they had a tough battle winning the nightcap. In the final struggle Emil Yde and Howard Craghead hooked up in as sweet a hurling duel as you could wish to see with the former getting the decision in eight innings when Umpire Forrest Cady called Otie Brannan safe at the plate despite the fact that it looked as though he was out by at least four feet.

Some 11,000 fans turned out for the Fourth of July bargain bill and got a big kick out of the Stars' double victory.

YDE OUTLASTS CRAGHEAD

It looked as though the Hollywood winning streak was going to end in the nightcap with Craghead hurling so effectively, but Yde, pitching his best game of the season, matched the Oaklander's mound efforts and outlasted him.

Both hurlers pitched five shut-out frames with the Oaks putting across the first run after two were out in the sixth. A double by Jack Fenton, a passed ball by Bassler and Pug Griffin's infield single, on which Brannan made a great play, produced the lone Oakland tally.

The Stars came right back with a countering tally in their half of the sixth when Brannan walked, took second on Barbee's infield out and scored on Cleo Carlyle's solid single to center.

Oakland threatened in the eighth when Martin singled, was bunted to second by Vergez, and took third on Arlett's out, but Yde struck out

Fresno Welterweight Takes Decision from Thompson After Almost Knocking Champion Out

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (AP)—Sturdy, swift-punching Young Corbett, Italian boy from Fresno, Cal., added another bristling chapter to an already brilliant fistic career today, when he gave young Jack Thompson, Filipino welterweight champion, a ten-round beating in a nontitle fight at Ewing Field.

Thompson tumble to the canvas for a nine-count, floored by a vicious left to the body. The Negro was badly hurt, but staggered to his feet and weathered out the session. Corbett tried desperately for a knockout, but the round was too far gone.

It was a battered champion who responded to the tenth round gong, but he survived the storm of gloves Corbett drove in. Thompson fought back gamely, but his few rallies were nipped short as the Fresno southpaw bored in with devastating lefts to the midsection.

Corbett surprised not only Thompson, but his most ardent supporters, by abandoning his usual defensive tactics to force the fight most of the way.

Right jabs began beating a tatoo on the Negro's nose in the opening

Lazard Lippman's Craft in First Place as Honolulu Race Classic Starts

LONG BEACH, July 4.—Winging away to a flying start Lazard Lippman's Talayha took an early lead on the field as the seventh Honolulu ocean classic got under way off San Pedro Light today.

The cutter crossed the starting line just as the gun sounded and she headed out into blue waters of the Pacific at least a quarter of a mile in the van of the yawl Contender, skippered by Walter Horne. The yawl Mollilou of Santa Barbara, was in third position and the favorite, Morgan Adams's schooner Enchantress, was last as the field disappeared in the direction of Catalina Island.

MISHAPS WRECK ARNOLD'S HOPES

Youngster Places Seventh as Wilbur Shaw Wins

BRIDGEVILLE (Pa.) July 4. (AP) Indianapolis, a city known far and wide for its automobile racing, today sent the winner to the Pittsburgh-Bridgeville track in the person of Wilbur Shaw, who took the 100-mile A.A.A. Independence Day sweepstakes, covering the distance in 1h, 29m. 57 2-5s. He averaged 66.9 miles an hour.

Russell Snowberger, Philadelphia driver, finished in second place, two laps behind the winner, and Burt Karnatz, Detroit, was third. Dave Evans, Evansville, Ind., came fourth.

A series of mishaps, which started in the qualifying trials, kept Billy Arnold of Chicago from making a strong bid for first honors. Arnold, who won at Indianapolis on Memorial Day and Altoona on Flag Day, needed today's race to give him the A.A.A. championship for the year, but fate ruled otherwise.

Arnold's accidents left him unhurt and he finished seventh with

NUSAKAN IS WINNER IN AGUA CALIENTE OPENER

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) July 4. Nusakan, famed eastern sprinter, recently purchased by C. B. Irwin, portly Wyoming turfman, provided the Fourth of July fireworks as the first summer race meeting of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club got under way here today.

Nusakan won the Independence Handicap, opening feature, by the narrowest of whisker margins from Hatrick, owned by Baron Long, despite his starting antics, putting the red colors of Irwin home in front. Satin Spar, owned by the Bill Bee stable, and running coupled with Edisto, got the show. Time for the six furlongs was 1:11 4-5.

The fireworks all came at the start. Nusakan, acting badly, at first refused to even enter the new starting stalls which have been installed at the six-furlong chute. Finally he was led in, lunging toward the locked gates at the front. Nusakan threw Willie Moran, leading rider at the track and the stable jockey, over his head. The boy was thrown heavily and was picked up and rushed

PRINCETON CREW OUT OF HENLEY REGATTA

HENLEY (Eng.) July 4. (AP)—The crew of Connecticut eliminated Princeton University's lightweight, only other American crew in the regatta—in a close race over the mile and 550 yards today to enter the semi-finals for the Thames challenge cup, an event open to all amateurs eligible.

The two American boatloads, following their national heroes from Henley house, drew the greatest crowd on a day that had victorious significance for England, at the same time dealt a doubled threat for the semi-finals tomorrow and finals in the afternoon. It is regarded as a slight favorite to repeat the victory of Cambridge eight, Browne of Cambridge, last year.

It is generally believed that Kent, now it has passed such a formidable contender as the crack Princeton boatload, can defeat Worcester College of Oxford in the semifinal heat, if a time comparison in previous races forms an accurate gauge of ability. The American youngsters traveled the course in 7m. 27s. in defeating Princeton by half a length, while Worcester eliminated Lady Margaret College of Cambridge in 7m. 39s.

In the other semifinal tomorrow Quintin Club eight rows against the Vesta Rowing Club.

The diamond sculls provided a surprise today when Joe Wright of Toronto was eliminated in a semifinal heat by G. Boetselen, first German entry in many years at Henley. Jack Guest, also of Toronto, qualified for the finals, however, and will meet the German star tomorrow.

Semifinal Matches Scheduled Today in Pacific Coast Titular Doubles Tournament

THREE UPSETS IN MEN'S PLAY

Patterson Wins Over Hanna in Surprise Match

Berry Wins Two Battles in Singles Tourney

Caroline Babcock Wins Easy Contest from Foe

BY RALPH HUSTON

Semifinal matches are scheduled for today in the Pacific Coast doubles championship tournament in progress at the Los Angeles Tennis Club, as well as those in the special divisions for men's and women's singles.

The teams of Bartosh and Tidball, Hanna and Lewis, Mahoney and Riseo, and Barker and Berry won their way into the semifinals of the doubles, through yesterday's victories. One quarter-final match is scheduled in the men's singles, Ed Berry meeting Bob Stanford with the winner scheduled to oppose Gerald Bartosh in a semifinal affair. Leonard Patterson, prominent local junior, is to face Frank Westamith, former U.C.L.A. star, in the semifinal in the upper half. Gladys Pats plays Esther Bartosh, and Elisabeth Dieke faces Caroline Babcock in the women's semifinals.

Bartosh and Tidball reached the doubles semifinal with a hard-won victory over Garrett and Root, 6-0, 6-4, 7-5. Hanna and Lewis won from Baiano and Von Elts in a tough match, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, to gain the semifinals, while Mahoney and Riseo took Graves and Rowley, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Barker and Berry advanced by default from DeLory and Ojo.

In the men's event, several upsets were registered. Leonard Patterson sprang a surprise by winning from Phil Hanna in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5. Westamith was a surprise winner over Elbert Lewis, Pacific Coast intercollegiate champion, 6-4, 6-3. Stanford's victory over Scholtz was a mild surprise, and Ed Berry's twin victories over Hymer and Riviere were in the nature of a sensation. Berry at first had little trouble with Clay Mahaney, winning, 6-4, 6-2, but found a strong competitor in Solly Baiano before he won, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2, to gain the semifinals.

Gladys Pats won as expected from Dorothy Robinson, 6-2, 6-1, and will meet Esther Bartosh today, the latter having won from Violet Doeg, 6-3, 6-0. Elisabeth Dieke won from Gertrude Hauswald, 6-4, 6-3, to earn the right to meet Caroline Babcock in the semifinals. Miss Babcock defeated Kate Northcote, 6-0, 6-2, for her first game-loss in the tournament. Yesterday's results, and tomorrow's schedule:

MEN'S DOUBLES

Bartosh and Tidball defeated Garrett and Root, 6-0, 6-4, 7-5; Hanna and Lewis defeated Baiano and Von Elts, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2; Mahoney and Riseo defeated Graves and Rowley, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-0; Barker and Berry defeated De Lory and Ojo by default.

MEN'S SINGLES

Third round—Patterson defeated Bird, 6-1, 6-4; Hanna defeated Cornica, 6-1, 6-4; Westamith defeated Goodman by default; Lewis defeated Barker, 6-1, 6-4.

Fourth round—Patterson defeated Hanna, 6-3, 7-5; Westamith defeated Lewis, 6-4, 6-3; Stanford defeated Phelps, 6-4, 6-4; Scholtz defeated K. Lott, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4; Berry defeated Hymer, 6-4, 6-0; Berry defeated Riviere, 6-4, 6-3; Baiano defeated Mahoney, 6-4, 6-0; Baiano defeated Schlueter, 6-2, 6-4; Bartosh defeated Baiano, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Pats defeated Robinson, 6-2, 6-1; Bartosh defeated V. Doeg, 6-3, 6-0; Dieke defeated Hauswald, 6-4, 6-3; Babcock defeated K. Northcote, 6-0, 6-2.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

11 a.m.—Berry vs. Stanford.
11 a.m.—Bartosh vs. Gladys Patz.
2 p.m.—Mahoney and Riseo vs. Barker and Berry.
2 p.m.—Bartosh and Tidball vs. Hahn and Lewis; Patterson vs. Westamith.
3 p.m.—Gladys Patz vs. Babcock.
3 p.m.—Bartosh vs. Winner Berry vs. Stanford.

KING ALFONSO YACHT TAKES SECOND PLACE

BEMBRIDGE (Isle of Wight) July 4. (AP)—King Alfonso of Spain, aboard his eight-meter yacht Hispania, gained second place in the eight-meter international class at today's concluding events of the Bembridge Sailing Club regatta. Suecia won the event in 2:38:46. Hispania's time was 2:40:38, while Cutty, which finished third, turned in 2:41:49.

HOT-WEATHER KID

BUD TEACHOUT, who couldn't make good in the Coast League, continues to be of material assistance in the Chicago Cubs' drive for a second successive National League bunting.

The former Occidental southpaw pitched his mates to a 10-1 victory in the first game of the double-header with Pittsburgh yesterday, thereby enabling the Windy City crew to stick on Brooklyn's tail in the percentage standings, and adding luster to his own escutcheon.

Teachout's success as the summer grows recalls a statement by Phil Ellsworth, graduate manager at Occidental.

Phil told me that Teachout confided to him he was a "hot-weather" pitcher, and Phil observed that the only time Bud ever met trouble in his college pitching days was on a cold afternoon.

In the Coast League Bud was in disgrace before the real hot weather ever arrived, but it appears that Brother McCarthy of the Cubs has managerial orbs and ears that are atune to all idiosyncrasies.

THE KING SLAYER

YOUNG CORBETT did the expected when he easily defeated Young Jack Thompson, the welterweight champion, in a ten-round nontitle bout at San Francisco yesterday.

But it was hardly anticipated that the Fresno southpaw would have the champion on the floor for the count of nine and then knock him through the ropes in the ensuing and final round.

It will now be proper to refer to Corbett as the slayer of champions. He accounted for Jackie Fields last February, and now he has Thompson's name on the list.

In four fights with the Fresnan—three before he won the welter title—Thompson has never been able to take the measure of Corbett. The black boy has lost three bouts. Once he got a draw.

ALL-AROUND QUEEN

WHAT manner of girl is this Helene Madison, the 17-year-old swimming miss from Seattle?

She smashes world's records ruthlessly all the way from 100 yards up to the mile.

That isn't at all according to Hoyle.

A sprint swimmer is supposed to be a sprint swimmer and nothing else.

And a distance shark is expected to be more or less of a loss in the sprints.

But the fair Helene in two days of competition in the national A.A.U. championships at Long Beach has hung up new world marks in 100, 440 and mile.

She bit off the quarter yesterday, beating Jo McKim, the former title-holder, and lopping eight seconds from the former record.

Literally, that is going some.

FOUR ALL-YANK FINALS

WIMBLEDON and all-American finals in four events—men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles.

It's an unprecedented feat and worth a cheer even if the French do ascend the heights again and retain possession of the Davis Cup later on this summer.

At least, the play of the Yanks at Wimbledon has inspired hope that we may upset the French applecart when the cup days roll around.

Frank Wykoff Maps Training

Frank Wykoff, University of Southern California's record-breaking sprint champion, will train only two or three times a week during this month but will get down to intensive work during the first two weeks in August in preparation for his participation in the national A.A.U. championships at Pittsburgh, August 23, next, it was announced today by his coach, Dean B. Cromwell.

At the A.A.U. meet the Trojan flash will have a return meeting with both George Simpsons of Ohio State and Eddie Tolan of Michigan, whom he defeated in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships a month ago. Wykoff will run only the 100 in the national meet, according to Cromwell.

GOTTLUND CAPTURES MARATHON HONORS

MONTEREY (Cal.) July 4. (AP)—Walter Gottlund of Pacific Grove, won the Carmel-to-Monterey marathon today, covering the four miles in 25m. 25s.

Lorin Todd, Pacific Coast Grove, led until the final sprint, finishing second. Buddy Napoli, Monterey, was third; Kenneth Mulholland, Monterey, fourth; Charles Dennis, Monterey Presidio, fifth and Alwin Briones, College of Pacific, sixth. The marathon was a feature of the Monterey Peninsula Independence Day celebration.

FULL QUART BREAKS OUTBOARD RECORD

MADISON (Ind.) July 4. (AP)—John Maypole's Full Quart of River Forest, Ill., raced to a new world's mark at 41.27 miles per hour in the Class C outboard event in the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association regatta here today. The previous mark was 41.13, set at Seattle, Wash., last month by Roy Craig.

The Empire State, driven by C. H. Hall of Jamestown, N. Y., won the 151 class limited in two heats at an average of 42.887 miles per hour.

her first year in track and field, wrecked the former world marks both in the javelin and baseball throws and finished second to Miss Walsh in the broad jump. She threw a standard baseball 268ft. 10 1-2in. to beat the former mark by more than 10ft.

A sixth world record out of the eleven events on the program fell to the speedy 440-yard relay team from the Milrose Athletic Club, New York City, which sped the distance in 49.4s. The former record of 50s. flat was set by the Toronto Ladies' A. C. in 1927.

Helen Filkey, star of the Illinois Women's Athletic Club, was defeated in the eighty-meter hurdles for the first time in eight years when she tripped over a cross-bar and fell heavily after having been five yards in front of the field. Her world record of 12.6 for the event was not touched.

Notwithstanding the sensational performances of Walsh and Didrickson, however, team honors for the meet went to the Illinois Women's Athletic Association for the second straight year. Presenting a well-balanced team that placed in all but one event, the Chicago outfit scored 30 points.

Employers' Casualty Company of Dallas, featuring Didrickson, was second with 21 while the Y.W.C.A., Cleveland and the Boston Gymnastic Association tied for third, each with 18 points.

Other team scores were: Bonwit Teller, Fort Worth, 7; Milrose, New York, 6; Bedford Girls' Club, Bedford, Mass., 5; Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, 3½; Duffy League, Newark, 3; Watertown, Mass., 3; New Orleans, 3; South Park, Chicago, 3; Eureka, Cal., 3, and St. Louis, 2.

Northwestern Girl Shatters Another World's Record

New York Athletic Club Star Betters Dorsal Time

from the record set by Josephine McKim last year in the national championships. Miss McKim, competing for the Los Angeles Athletic Club, finished second here today, thirty-five yards behind the Amazon from Seattle. Lisa Lindstrom, pretty little miss from the New York Women's Swimming Association, was just inches behind Miss McKim.

Just think of it! In two days Miss Madison, competing unattached, has scored more points than any of the national teams entered in the championships. Helene has run up a total of 15 points, while the nearest club, the Los Angeles A. C., with all its resources, has but 13 points to its credit. If there is a mermaid in the world at this time that can compete with this marvel from the Northwest we would like to see her.

Miss Madison was not the only record-breaker of the day. George Kojac of the New York A. C. broke two records, but George didn't attract near the attention that the Northwestern swimming marvel did with her performances.

Kojac smashed the world's record for the 200-meters backstroke and the American mark for the 220-yard in winning the latter event here today from a fine field. The husky New Yorker, considered in a class by himself at the dorsal style of swimming was an easy winner over Maiola Kalili of Honolulu and Frank Walton of the Hollywood A. C. His time was 2m. 35.4s. This erased the mark set by himself in the American record books and a world's mark established by Teshio Iriyi, Japanese star, for 200 meters.

MISS COLEMAN WINS

Georgia Coleman, comely Los Angeles A. C. diving miss, retained her ten-foot fancy board championship in the meet here today. Bernice Phelan of San Francisco finished second and Dorothy Poynton was third.

Maiola Kalili of the Hui-Makani Hawaiian Association, put the Hawaiian Islands back on the map in a large way again, the first time in national circles since the days of Duke Kahanamoku by winning the 440-yard free-style championship in a neck-and-neck finish with Buster Crabbe, a transferred Honolulu boy, now competing for the Los Angeles A.C. Kalili and Crabbe battled it out like two strange bulldogs with the dark-skinned boy winning the nod by inches. Austin Clapp of Hollywood took third.

The Los Angeles A.C. holds the lead in both the women's and men's team events. The third day's program will be staged tomorrow and the meet closes Sunday afternoon.

Long Beach and A.A.U. officials insist that the meet to date has drawn the largest crowds ever to attend a swimming carnival anywhere in the nation.

Eleanor Holm retained her championship in the 220-yard backstroke event but did not set any record, strange as it may seem. The tiny Women's Swimming Association star apologized for this over the "mike" after the race. She promised to break one the next time she started.

WOMEN'S

220-yard backstroke—Won by Eleanor Holm (N.Y.W.S.A.); Lisa Lindstrom (N.Y.W.S.A.), second; Marion Gilman (Western Women's Club, San Francisco.) third. Time—3m. 3s.

10-foot spring-board diving—Won by Georgia Coleman (L.A.A.C.); Bernice Phelan (San Francisco.) second; Dorothy Poynton (Pasadena) third.

MEN'S

440-yard free style, first heat—Won by Buster Crabbe (L.A.A.C.); C. C. Pegg (Pasadena), third; Ray Muddy (N.Y.A.C.) third. Time—5m. 24 1-5s.

Second heat—Won by Albert Zorilla (N.Y.A.C.); Austin Clapp (Hollywood A.C.), second; Jack Howland (Yale.) third. Time—5m. 24 2-5s.

Third heat—Won by Maiola Kalili (Honolulu); Bud Shields (Provo, Utah.) second; C. Osborne (Yale.) third. Time 5m. 9 1-5s.

Final—Won by Maiola Kalili (Honolulu); Buster Crabbe (L.A.A.C.), second; Austin Clapp (Hollywood A.C.), third. Time—5m. 7 2-5s.

220-yard backstroke—Won by George Kojac (N.Y.A.C.); Maiola Kalili (Honolulu), second; Frank Walton (Hollywood A.C.), third. Time—2m. 35.4s. (New world's record for 200 meters and new American record for 220 yards.)

Frame Sets New Record

LANGHORNE (Pa.) July 4. (AP)—Two world's automobile records over a dirt track were claimed here today in the annual Langhorne Speedway event.

Fred Frame, California driver, won the 100-mile race in 1h. 19m. 4s., and Frank Farmer, Philadelphia, shoved the old car of the late Ray Keech around the oval for one mile in 37 2-5s.

Both were announced as new records. During the 100-mile drive Frame set a mark of 38m. 10s. for fifty miles.

Frame took the lead in the sixth lap when Farmer was forced out because of engine trouble and finished two laps ahead of his nearest competitor, Herman Schurch, Hollywood, Cal. Bill Albertson, Penn Yan, N. Y., was third and Bill Cummings, Indianapolis, Ind., finished in fourth place after losing ten laps due to motor trouble.

TALAYHA LEADS HONOLULU RACE

ed up and down before the start. It seemed as if every skipper that had a boat of any size was on hand as the white-winged race horses paced up and down, awaiting the starting gun.

When Starter Paul Hiller, chairman of the Southern California yachting committee sent the fleet away all of the harbor put on a great celebration. Incoming steamers turned on their loudest whistles and the smaller craft seemed ready to explode from the noise they made as the yachts cut through the briny toward the Hawaiian Islands.

Morgan Adams, skipper of the Enchantress, took his time coming to the mark because of the last-minute preparations aboard his boat. The rest of the field had crossed the line and headed out to sea before the Enchantress really got set, but when she got going she picked up on the field in fine fashion.

Old sea dogs around the harbor predicted that the Enchantress would be in the lead before the boats passed the west end of Catalina Island. The Enchantress, the scratch boat, must give the Mollilou, the smallest craft in the race, approximately three days under the handicap ratings. The Talayha is the second highest rating boat on the list and the Contender next.

Morgan Adams, his navigator, Nelson Taylor, and J. Park Douglas, past commodore of the California Yacht Club, are positive that the Enchantress will break the record for actual sailing time to Honolulu held by the Mariner. That mark is approximately eleven days.

Despite rumors that Clem Stose and his yawl Teva, winner of the 1928 race, would be on hand such was not the case when the gun sounded sending the field away. Stose wanted the race staged under universal rules, but the trans-Pacific committee would not agree to this and the San Diego skipper would not sail.

Favorable weather greeted the boats as they faced the line. They were averaging about eighteen knots as they headed out to sea.

Big Six

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Holiday double-headers brought a big change in the Big Six standing, due to the clouting activities of Frank O'Doul, Chuck Klein and Lou Gehrig. O'Doul in eight times at bat drove out six hits, two of them homers, and lifted his batting average from .401 to .413.

Klein trailed not far behind, hitting four times in seven tries to increase his second-place average five points to .404. Gehrig batted his way to the American League lead and third place in the Big Six, making five hits in eight times up. His average is .396.

Al Simmons, who hit but once, dropped out. Mickey Cochrane lost ground without losing his place. He got two hits in nine times up, going into fourth place at .391.

Paul Waner and Babe Ruth each hit safely three times, the Babe including his thirty-second homer in the total.

TURF CLASSIC WON BY BLUE LARKSPUR

ARLINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, July 4. (AP)—Blue Larkspur, 1929 3-year-old champion of American won the $33,000 Stars and Stripes Handicap at a mile and an eighth before 40,000 spectators today. Misstep was second and Sun Beau third. Blue Larkspur ran the distance in 1:45 2-5, smashing the track record hung up by Misstep by a full second.

Joe Stecher on Trail of Sonnenberg

Joe Stecher, former mat king, who will meet Everett Marshall at the Olympic on Wednesday night for the Pacific Coast title, wants a return match with Champion Gus Sonnenberg here within the next six weeks.

Stecher and his brother-manager, Anton, yesterday stated they were ready to guarantee Sonnenberg $25,000 for the match, to be held under State Athletic Commission rules, which has a ruling against the flying butt. The former champion declared they were ready to place the guarantee in Promoter Lou Daro's hands any time Sonnenberg agreed to such a match.

Seven Pilots Cheat Death in Boat Races

LONG BEACH, July 4.—(Exclusive)—While the start of the Southern California-Honolulu race today held the attention of scores of seagoing yachtsmen, smaller boats in both power and sailing divisions furnished exciting amusement for a great holiday crowd at several points along the coast.

Close to fifty speedboat pilots, from Northern California, Arizona, Salton Sea, Lake Elsinore and near-by points staged the most thrilling card in the history of the Southern California Outboard Association on the new one-mile lagoon course here, seven boats turned turtle, two crashed and pilots had narrow escapes on the crowded roadstead.

H. G. Ferguson of Lake Elsinore, M. C. Martin of Hollywood, H. S. Reynolds of Phoenix, Norman Demark of Pasadena, Don Condit of Long Beach, James Jordon of Phoenix and Mrs. R. L. Bultken were high-point scorers in the various classes.

Because of the rough water and the sharp turns most of the races were shorter than is usually run by the local association. No official records were possible because of the short course.

Walton Hubbard, Jr., international champion three years ago, led a dozen star sloops over the finish line this afternoon in the opening sailing events of the summer elimination series of the Newport Harbor star fleet off Balboa. Hubbard sailed his Tempe IV over the new course in 2h. 14m. and 31s. but was pushed all the way by Billy Lyon, at the tiller of his new craft Vega. The end Vega was less than a minute astern of the ex-champion. Tom Robin with Tom Webster jockeying was third.

The Alamitos Bay Yacht Club turned out nineteen Patricia skimmers this afternoon on the bay course in the first race of the club's cup series which includes events each Saturday and Sunday all summer. The first five boats home were Dick Russell's Patricia, Jack Hay's Stromberd, Billy Wagner's Bat, Gil McHaffy's Wings and John Swigert's Sally.

More sailing races in the star sloop and skimmer classes will take place at Alamitos Bay and Newport Saturday and Sunday and the Southern California Outboard Association will run official American Power Boat Association time trials, endeavoring to establish new world's records for Class B, C and D boats at Newport Bay Sunday.

Bob M'Donald Plays Slice

BY SOL METZGER

Most star players use the slice. Average players should not try to. Their efforts must be confined to mastering a straight shot. But if they study the causes of slicing they can in this way help to cure their own slicing troubles.

Take big Bob MacDonald. He plays the slice when demanded. And to secure it you'll notice a change in his stance. For a straight drive Bob uses a square stance. That is, his toes are parallel to the direction line. For a slice he opens his stance. That is, his left foot is farther from the direction line than the right.

True, certain stars use an open stance for all shots. But the average player will find that it causes him to slice. The reason is that his natural swing from this stance causes him to swing the club out beyond the ball and then pull it in and across it to make the contact. A slice is bound to result.

NUSAKAN WINS BORDER OPENER

to the track hospital. Examination there disclosed that he was not seriously injured, merely shaken up.

Nusakan was returned to the paddock and Jockey George Woolf given the mount and the horse returned to the starting line. After several more attempts to get the horse inside the stall, he was finally given a berth on the outside, which proved to his advantage.

Breaking on the wing, Nusakan quickly dashed to the rail and by the time the field had gone an eighth he was two lengths in the van. He held the advantage all down the back stretch with Hatrick second on the rail, followed by Seth's Hope and Sunspero. The latter, a winner of the Tia Juana Cup in the colors of Hamilton Cotton, Los Angeles sportsman, was making his first racing start in more than two years. Rounding the turn for home, Hatrick moved out of the pack and began closing the gap. It looked almost too big a task and proved so, but by the narrowest margins, the crowd watching the race from a little behind the start, thought Hatrick, the outside horse, had won.

Miss Leatrice Joy, motion-picture and stage star, crowned the winner with a wreath of flowers to the mixed plaudits and boos of the crowd. A crowd exceeding all estimates turned out for the inaugural of the summer race meeting, which will run forty-two days. At least 18,000 fans were inside the track inclosures.

The meeting which opened today, marks the first time that summer horse racing has been attempted below the border in fourteen years. It was in 1916, the opening season of the Tia Juana Jockey Club, that the last summer racing was staged. That year the track was partly washed out by a flood soon after the winter meeting got under way and racing was not resumed until April, the session running until July. The summary:

First race, five and one-half furlongs, three and up, claiming, purse $500—Star Kist (Turk), 104, won; Tecolote (Hines), second; Bonoma Roses (Lang.) 96, third. Time, 1:07 3-5.

Second race, five furlongs, maiden, two-year-olds, claiming, purse $800—Zelma Mae (Moran), 110 won; Sam Gilmore, 118, second; John M. Harvard, 118, third. Time, 1:02 2-5.

Third race, five and one-half furlongs, three and up, claiming, purse $800—Woodface (Moran), 104, won; Little Bloom (Gilmet), 113, second; Thomas Lynn Lennon, 104, third. Time, 1:08 4-5.

Fourth race, seven furlongs, three and up, claiming, purse $800—A. Mizpah (Lopez), 111, won; Point Loma (Smith), 111, second; Consent (Hayward), 106, third. Time, 1:28 3-5.

Fifth race, five furlongs, three and up, claiming, purse $800—Seth Hoxsey (Moran), 110, won; Pelita (Philpot), 113, second; Dapper (Savage), 113, third. Time, 1:01 4-5.

Sixth race, five and one-half furlongs, three and up, claiming, purse $800—Frank D. (Woolf), 115, won; Bonnie Kay (White), 111, second; Cheep, Jean (Lang.), 109, third. Time, 1:07 1-5.

Seventh race, Independence Handicap, six furlongs, all ages, purse $1200—Hatrick (Woolf), 120, won; Hatrick (Turk) 110, second; Satin Coat (McGrath), 100, Bill Bee Stable entry, third. Time, 1:13 1-5.

Eighth race, mile, three and up, claiming, purse $800—Carlos Maid (Bertacher), 104, won; Khaki Monk (Holden), 113, second; Thistle Boaty (Turk), 103, third. Time, 1:41 3-5.

Ninth race, five and one-half furlongs, claiming, three and up, purse $800—Daphne Bell (Ringo), 106, won; Corriedale (Robertson), 106, second; Manos (Turk), 113, third. Time, 1:04 4-5.

Tenth race, seven furlongs, three and up, claiming, purse $800—Sir Gallahad, 109, won; Kit Carson (Jones), 104, second; Star Prince (Bertacher), 114, third. Time, 1:26 4-5.

BRITISH GIRL BURNS UP COURSE IN TRIAL

GRAVENHURST (Ont.) July 4. (AP)—Miss Marion B. Carstairs, British hope in the Harmsworth trophy races at Detroit, attained a speed of seventy miles an hour today with her speed boat Estelle IV in a test on Lake Muskoka. This boat is the slower of her two challengers for the trophy. The trial was the first for the Estelle IV since it was redesigned and conditioned last winter. The boat behaved remarkably at high speed, casting little spray. Miss Carstairs expects to drive her first-string boat 100 miles an hour in the Detroit races August 28 to September 1.

CORBETT BEATS JACK THOMPSON

round and he bled throughout most of the battle.

For four successive sessions, the Freanean kept up his attack to pile up a big advantage.

The Negro, furious from the bewildering attack, rallied in the fifth to shake Corbett with stinging rights to the jaw. The sixth was fairly even and Corbett came back in the seventh to score with several telling uppercuts. Thompson put on another spurt in the eighth to gain a slight margin.

Corbett's closing finish in the last two frames had the crowd of 20,000 fans in a frenzy.

Raising of the Fresno lad's hand by Referee Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion, was a mere formality. The Associated Press score sheet gave Corbett seven rounds.

It was the third victory for Corbett over his rangy rival. In the old four-round game he took a decision from Thompson. Later they fought a ten-round draw and a few months before the Negro became champion he lost a ten-round decision to the left-hander, who has repeatedly, without success, challenged the last three title holders in his division.

Today's victory brought Corbett's record to approximately 110 fights, with but three defeats chalked against him.

SMALL HANDFUL WELCOMES MAX SCHMELING IN BERLIN

BERLIN, July 4. (AP)—A small crowd saw Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion, come down out of the clouds today with the laurels he won in America from Jack Sharkey on a foul. Fans waiting inside the Tempelhof Airport as the monoplane bearing the title-holder and his mother from Bremerhaven could have been squeezed into a hangar and the crowd outside the fence did not endanger the railings. A small army of police detailed to the airport to control the expected throng had nothing to do. Schmeling was cordially "hoched," however. Before leaving he received a belt, gift of the Union of German Boxers and spoke into a radio microphone.

"I'm glad to get back to Berlin," he said, "I am thankful for the confidence the people have in me and hope I will always be worthy of it."

STARS NAB BARGAIN BILL

Hollywooders Down Acorns Twice to Run Winning Streak to Twelve Straight

HOW THEY WON OUT

Then came Hollywood's winning half of the eighth. After Arlett had raced back to the right-field screen to pull down Lee's long drive Brannan worked Craghead for another walk. Barbee singled to center and Martin bobbled the ball. Brannan went to third and continued on home when Martin muffed the ball. Martin hurried his throw to Verges, whose relay arrived to Read in plenty of time. Read perfectly blocked Brannan off about four feet from the plate, but in the ensuing scramble Umpire Cady called Brannan safe, and that meant the ball game.

The Oaks, led by Read and Fenton, gathered around Cady to argue their cause and the fans tossed out cushions and firecrackers to add to the confusion, but the ball game was officially over and the Hollywood winning streak was still intact.

FREE-HITTING AFFAIR

The first game was as much a free-hitting affair as the nightcap was a tight hurling duel. The Stars batted Jim Edwards off the mound early and had a 7-to-0 lead piled up in the first four innings.

However, Gordon Rhodes, who complained of a sore arm, began wobbling in the fifth and the Oaks scored one run and added three more in the sixth. Rhodes blanked the Acorns in the seventh and eighth, but retired at the start of the ninth because his flipper was troubling him.

Angie Johns was delegated to hurl the ninth against the Acorns, but he ran into more trouble than he could handle and Hank Hulvey was sent in to retire the side after the Oaks had come within a run of knotting the count.

Dave Barbee, the guy who hits 'em from hamlet to hamlet, was the fair-haired boy of the first Hollywood victory. He slammed out a triple with the bases loaded and a home run with one on to personally account for half of the Sheiks' scores.

BARBEE PARKS ONE

Barbee's homer was his tenth in the eighteen consecutive games he has been with the Stars, which ought to be some sort of a record. Dave has twenty home runs for the season. Mickey Heath also hit a home run for the Sheiks in the first game, while Jack Fenton poled one with two on for the Oaks in that heetic ninth round.

The day's scoring began in the second, when Rumler was safe on Devireros's low throw and Heath followed with his circuit clout over the right-field wall.

A hit batsman, two walks and Heath's sacrifice fly added another tally in the third.

The real fireworks were set off in the fourth, during which Edwards was chased and the Stars scored four more runs. Severeid singled and stole second to open the fourth. Gazella hit to Edwards, who threw to Verges too late to get Severeid at third. When Rhodes walked, bulging the bags, Edwards went out and McQuaid came in. McQuaid hit Hill, forcing in a run, but Lee and Brannan both forced runners at the plate to somewhat ease the situation. Barbee, however, lined a triple off the center-field wall to score three men and practically ice the contest.

Singles by Fenton and Devireros, and two walks gave the Oaks a run and left the bases filled before a man was out in the fifth, but Rhodes got out of the jam with no more scoring.

Three more Oaks counted in the sixth, walks to Verges and Lombardi and doubles by Arlett and Griffin doing the damage.

STARS GET THREE MORE

Hollywood nicked McQuaid for three more in its half of the sixth, Lee's double, Brannan's single and Barbee's homer over the left-field wall accounting for the trio of tallies.

The Oakland ninth started badly for Johns when Heath dropped Pinch Hitter Uhalt's pop fly. Dean forced McEvoy, who ran for Uhalt, but Martin doubled and Verges singled for two runs. Lombardi also singled and Pearson ran for him. Arlett fanned for what should have been the third out with only one run counting. Fenton, however, drove one into the bleachers and scored behind Verges and Pearson, leaving the Oaks but one run behind. Hulvey came in and disposed of Griffin on a foul fly to Heath and the excitement was over.

Foul Tips

Young Vance Page, who stopped the Oaks in their tracks after replacing Frank Shellenback Tuesday, will attempt to pitch the Stars to their thirteenth straight victory today. Lou McEvoy is expected to be Zamloch's mound choice.

Both Rhodes and Yde struck out eight Oaks in the eight innings they worked yesterday. Yde, however, pitched a much more brilliant game, not issuing a single walk.

Yde's rocking chair delivery annoyed Jack Fenton so much in the eighth that he finally stepped out of the batter's box. But Jack rocked right back into his delivery and set Fenton down on three strikes with a run on third.

Hank Severeid got a stolen base in the first game, but Mike Gazella helped him along by stepping in Lombardi's way as Ernie was about to throw to second.

Dave Barbee has driven in over thirty-one runs for the Stars in the eighteen games he has played for Hollywood, since being bought from Seattle.

Guess there's not much doubt about the Angels winning the first half now. Their twin win yesterday put them four games ahead of the nearest. The Lelivelians certainly have a cheer coming for their feat of winning fifteen out of their twenty games on the road.

It's been a great home stand for the Sheiks, who have won eighteen out of their last twenty games and knocked two contenders out of the first half flag race.

Young Shakespeare, the Hollywood mascot, doesn't care much for firecrackers. He made a bee-line for the dugout every time somebody fired one on the field.

Boston Rallies to Win Out in First Contest

Detroit Takes Two Games from Cleveland

BOSTON, July 4. (AP) — The league-leading Athletics broke even in a double-header today with the Red Sox. A holiday gathering of 30,000 persons saw the Sox take the first game, 7 to 6, and the A's the second, 4 to 2.

Rommel held the Bostonians to six hits in the second game and the visitors scored all their runs off Lisenbee in the seventh.

The Sox came from behind to win the first game in which Bishop, Simmons and Miller of the Athletics got homers. The scores:

WOMAN VICTIM OF WILD SHOT

Shooting Gallery Attendant Accidentally Wounded

Amusement Zone Crowd at Long Beach Startled

Youth Pulls Gun Trigger, Thinking it Empty

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 4. (Exclusive) The holiday crowds moving through the amusement zone, laughingly tolerant of the Fourth of July discharge of fire crackers, were startled today when, following a sharp detonation, a woman screamed shrilly.

Inside the shooting gallery at 248 West Seaside Boulevard they saw Mrs. Charlotte Keith, 27 years of age, the attendant, fall to the floor, while outside the counter stood William Keyes, 19, clutching a rifle and staring in horror at the slumped figure of the woman.

Police found that Mrs. Keyes, who lives at 246 Virginia Court, Long Beach, had been shot just above the heart. She was taken to Seaside Hospital, where it was found the .22 caliber bullet had lodged in her spine after passing through her body and that she has a chance to recover, notwithstanding the dangerous character of her wound.

From her and the terrified Keyes they learned the latter fired a round of shots at the targets provided by the gallery and then had laid the rifle back on the counter, thinking it empty.

Unthinkingly, however, he had kept his finger on the trigger. A slight pressure again discharged the weapon, which contained one bullet that had not been fired.

Police said they will not hold Keyes, the shooting of Mrs. Keith, who had been employed at the gallery two years, being obviously an accident.

MEETING OF COAST BODY ANNOUNCED

Academy of Political and Social Science to Gather at Westwood Next Week

The summer meeting of the Pacific Southwest Academy, a center of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, will be held in connection with the summer session of the University of California at Los Angeles Tuesday and Wednesday. Dean Thomas M. Putnam will formally open the meeting at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Education Building at the university with an address on "Governmental Organization and Procedure for the Protection of American Foreign Investments."

Discussions and addresses by Prof. Irvin Stewart, American University, Washington, D. C.; Prof. Owyn W. Cook, University of Southern California, and Prof. Ernest Minor Patterson, president of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, will comprise the program for the first day.

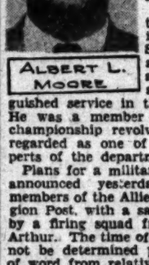
Subjects to be heard during the Wednesday program include "The Nature and Direction of American Foreign Investments," "International Debts and World Economic Readjustments" and "The Prospects of Peace in Europe."

All the addresses and discussions are open to the general public free of charge, the committee announces.

Albert L. Moore, Popular Police Officer, Expires

Dinty Moore, one of the most popular and widely known policemen in Los Angeles, is dead.

The officer, whose real name was Albert L. Moore, died early yesterday as the result of a sudden heart attack at his home, 1504 Reed street. He was stricken during the night and died before a physician could respond to Mrs. Moore's call for medical aid. He was 38 years of age.



ALBERT L. MOORE

Moore served two enlistments in the United States Army, and was awarded a medal for distinguished service in the World War. He was a member of the police championship revolver team and regarded as one of the pistol experts of the department.

Plans for a military funeral were announced yesterday by fellow-members of the Allied American Legion Post, with a salute to be fired by a firing squad from Fort MacArthur. The time of the service will not be determined pending receipt of word from relatives in the East.

During his service with the police department, Moore had been assigned to duty with virtually every branch from patrolman to detective. At the time of his death he was attached to the crime prevention bureau in Wilshire division. He leaves only his widow.

ANGELENO NAMED TO CHIROPRACTIC BOARD

Dr. Lee H. Norcross of 119 South New Hampshire avenue has been appointed by Gov. Young to the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, according to information received here yesterday. The appointment puts three Los Angeles men on the board. Dr. Norcross will take his seat when the board meets on the 14th inst. Friends of the new appointee declare he is not a member of any chiropractic faction or organization and his appointment may end chiropractic conflict in California.

GINGER ROGERS PLAYS HEROINE

Lupe Velez's Sister Makes Debut in Pathe Feature; Conrad Nagel Wins Lead in Universal Talker; Woolf Writes Story for First National

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Ginger Rogers isn't to come west to play in Irving Berlin's picture for United Artists, after all.

Instead the young actress will remain in New York and will play opposite Ed Wynn in his Paramount starring vehicle, "Manhattan Mary," which title, by the way, probably will be changed to something more indicative of the masculine.

GINGER ROGERS

Miss Rogers has just finished playing the lead opposite Jack Oakie in "The Sap From Syracuse."

CLAIRE LUCE WILL PLAY FOX HEROINE

When John Ford gets to work directing his Fox prison story, "Up the River," he will have as his leading lady Claire Luce, who will play opposite Spencer Tracy.

CLAIRE LUCE

Miss Luce was brought west by Fox recently. She has been appearing on the stage, playing the lead in New York, London and Paris in "Excess Baggage."

Spencer Tracy appeared in New York in "The Last Mile," making a hit. He will return east to start rehearsals in a new play, leaving here late in August.

Conrad Nagel Plays Lead

When "The Lady Surrenders" goes into production, the leading man will be none other than Conrad Nagel. John M. Stahl is directing the Universal feature, as you remember.

The role which Nagel will play is a romantic one, and one well suited to his talents and personality, inasmuch as it will afford him good acting opportunities.

Irvin Willat Here

Irvin Willat, director, is expected to arrive in town today. Since leaving he has been in Germany, where he directed a picture. Willat has directed many notable pictures, including several for Paramount, Universal and First National.

JOSEPHINE VELEZ MAKES FILM DEBUT

It appears that not all the talent in the Velez family is centered in Miss Lupe. She has a sister who is clever, too.

JOSEPHINE VELEZ

The sister's name is Josephine Velez, and she has just been cast by Pathe for a part in Tay Garnett's picture, "Her Man," in which appear Marjorie Rambeau, Helen Twelvetrees and others.

The role which Josephine will play is a small one, but it has importance. This will be practically her film debut, though she has played as an extra in some of her sister's pictures. She is said to photograph in a way that makes her appear to greatly resemble her sister Lupe, although in real life one sees little resemblance between the two.

Woolf Writing

That most prolific of all vaudeville writers, Edgar Allan Woolf, seems about to duplicate his skillful endeavors in that field by his rapid writing for the films.

Though he has been here but a few days, he has been given an assignment by First National, to whom he is under contract, to write a story, and already has it two-thirds completed.

Universal Signs Author

John Wexley, author of "The Last Mile," has been signed by Universal to write for that organization. He arrived in town from New York yesterday.

Marie Walcamp Comes Home

It seems that I owe Marie Walcamp an apology. It was she, and not Priscilla Dean, who appeared in Universal's silent picture, "The Flirt," when it was made some years ago. Miss Walcamp and her husband, Harland Tucker, have just returned from New York, where Tucker appeared in a play.

Genevieve Tobin Arrives

Genevieve Tobin, noted stage actress of Broadway, has arrived in town, and will shortly start work in a Universal feature.

Miss Tobin celebrated Fourth of July by arriving yesterday. She is to take a house in Beverly Hills or Hollywood.

FILM THEATER REVUE WINNER

Crowd Gives Indorsement to Stage Prologue

Ceballos Show at Warner's Lively and Pictorial

'Nancy from Naples' Feature of the Screen

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Larry Ceballos's singers and dancers smashed their way through the screen yesterday at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater, and their arrival was hailed by a salvo of applause. So I guess that means that audiences want their prologues. Indeed, even the appearance of an orchestra in the pit of the playhouse once again brought a miniature ovation.

The Ceballos revue is being reintroduced with the showing of "Nancy From Naples" from the stage play, "See Naples and Die," by Elmer Rice, and it is unquestionably the popular event of the show. "Nancy From Naples" is a great deal livelier than most musical films, and consequently it doesn't suffer too much by comparison. In the comedy of Olsen and Johnson, at least, it proves rough and ready, though laughable enough entertainment. Charles King does some very acceptable singing, and Lowell Sherman a fair bit of acting. Irene Delroy is the feminine lead in the film, and Lotti Loder, Vivienne Oakland and Gino Corrado are others importantly seen, while Lawrence Grant, Elsie Bartlett and Charles Judels also figure in the plot. The picture was directed by Archie Mayo from the screen play and dialogue by Joseph Jackson.

However, it's the Ceballos revue which will probably capture most showgoers, because of its pictorial attraction and because it presents plenty of lively and original, not to say difficult, dancing numbers. There is a Fourth of July finale, a stock market number and romantic and specialty affairs, that are in general flashingly costumed. There is too much prologue, and portions will need speeding up, but there is no doubt that the flesh and blood quality does appeal, after the vain attempts made to squeeze dance ensembles onto the screen.

If all screens were as wide as the one that is used to prologue the prologue, perhaps musical films wouldn't be so bad. Pictures of the chorus losing its job in the studios were shown on Vitascope, which resembles Grandeur, and seems even larger.

The screen on which this much amplified picture was projected turned out not to be a screen at all, but in part a paper curtain, and when the right moment arrived the girls (real girls) just burst through onto the front of the stage. It was a very clever effect.

"Nancy From Naples" reflects much of that artificiality and staginess which are characteristic of the musical film. More and more is it beginning to look ridiculous, for anyone to start a song and dance number with a whole crowd looking on in the background. And when the onlookers also step into the dance and song, all feeling for the realities of the screen is lost.

Outside of the inherent fault of implausibility, "Nancy From Naples" has what might be termed the routine musical comedy plot, the usual melange of misunderstandings in love. The heroine has to marry a dissolute prince to save her sister from being blackmailed, and therefore gets in Dutch with her fiance, the reporter. There are also a Montenengrin general, and his lady friend mixed up in the story, but it doesn't seriously matter how. Thanks to Olsen and Johnson, even with some of their very crude comedy, the picture moves breezily along.

King seems still to be one of the few movie singers who knows how to "put over" a number on the screen. Miss Delroy is a debateable type for the film medium. Lotti Loder, however, is very interesting in the flashes of her, and appears, fortunately for her, in the brighter situations that feature Olsen and Johnson. Corrado is very good.

A short film, in which Noel Madison is the principal player, is also on the program. Fair.

Favorite Plays Screen Wife Again

Irene Rich

Has appeared as the better half of Will Rogers in practically all of the noted humorist's film vehicles, both silent and talking. She enacts the same role in "So This is London," now showing at the Carthay Circle Theater.

HUMOROUS YARN TOLD ON SCREEN

Benny Rubin Enacts Chief Role in "Hot Curves" at California Theater

BY JOHN SCOTT

Benny Rubin, the Jewish gentleman who used to frolic about on the stage of a local theater, and who later decided to seek the larger confines of the film studios, blossoms out as a comedy star in "Hot Curves," a rambunctious vehicle built for laughing purposes, which started yesterday at the California Theater.

Benny introduces himself early in the picture.

"My last name is Goldbolg," he said, "and my Christian name is Benny."

With a big league baseball background, "Hot Curves" gets under way with Rubin playing a peanut butcher on a train. A baseball scout has been instructed to secure a certain played named Goldberg and has failed. So he picks on Benny, who admits to having performed on the diamond during his orphan asylum days.

Needless to say, Goldberg makes good for Pittsburgh, after some farcical scenes in the ball park. Romance is furnished by the daughter of the team manager and Jim Dolan, son of a former star, who is temporarily led astray by a scheming lady named Mazie. Goldberg attempts to steer Dolan back on the straight and narrow path and receives a beautiful black eye for his trouble. Things turn out satisfactorily, however, and Benny, Jim and members of the two local ball clubs win the world series.

As a type comedian Rubin stands alone, excepting, perhaps, Harry Green. Many of Benny's favorite tricks are further exploited, but are again good for many laughs. There are some exceedingly humorous sequences, the one on the train, Rubin on the diamond for the first time, trying to catch a ball and later striking out Slug, the heavy hitter; his romance with Cookie, a young lady who proves quite exasperating to the Jewish ball player, and last, but not least, the scenes in an airplane.

The comic side of "Hot Curves" is the main feature, of course. Pert Kelton as Cookie, Paul Hurst as Slug and the star dominate the picture. Rex Lease and Alice Day provide the romantic side of the plot and Natalie Moorhead is the lady who fleeces Dolan during his weaker moments. Both Lease and Miss Day present sincere performances. Miss Moorhead makes a very acceptable feminine menace and Hurst is capable as the swaggering slugger. Mary Carr plays a mother role pleasingly and others are John Ince as the team manager and Mike Donlin as the scout. Norman Taurog directed for Tiffany and further established his knowledge of comedy values.

The surrounding program brings a Pathe talking news, a "Silly Symphony" cartoon and a Technicolor novelty called "The Dancing Bear." Abbey-Krause plays the organ and piano.

Yiddish Art Group Offers A Melodrama

BY JACOB COOPER

There is such a thing as carrying versatility too far, and in the case of the Yiddish Art Theater it went to the extent of an insertion in its repertoire of a play which is in distinct contradiction to the company's original aim and purpose. "Out of the Beyond," which was presented last night at the Biltmore Theater, is a rabid melodrama somewhat on the order of the sort of thing that packs houses purveying the cheaper and more popular type of Yiddish stage presentation—the type that the Yiddish Art Theater set out to combat.

The author of this play is J. D. Berkowich, whose main claim to fame lies in the fact that he is the son-in-law of the renowned Yiddish humorist, Sholom Aleichem. The only other plausible reason for this company's choice of the play might be "box office"—a desire to draw the attendance of those who patronize the so-called "popular" Yiddish theaters.

The theme of the play deals with the too familiar eternal triangle, plus complications and variations. The author is American; therefore the scene is laid in a New York apartment. True to this type of thing, there were the usual English interpolations which very rarely fail to jar the more or less sensitive ear. It takes a playwright of the type of Leivick to do this with all due logic and euphony.

The attempts of the actors to glorify this opus were perhaps sincere, but Jacob Ben-Ami found himself in a role which allowed no opportunity of displaying the subtle technique which characterized him in such plays as "Samson and Delilah" and "Green Fields." Some very fine work was done by Bertha Gersten, Lazar Freed and Anna Appel, with the assistance of Joseph Greenberg, Mark Schweid and Anna Teitlebaum.

The company will finish the week (and doubtless redeem itself) with performances tonight and tomorrow of Feuchtwanger's "Jew Suss."

Foreign Film Farce Comes to Filmarte

Farce comedy of a unique nature is to be found in "Hurrah, I'm Alive," a German importation spreading the holiday spirit at the Filmarte.

A comic effect is gained from a tragic substance; and more often than not the uninitiated American finds himself serious instead of smiling. For the story, which is one of Holland and its people, provokes its mirth by dwelling upon the disasters which might befall a certain traveler shipping out to America.

As soon as this man decides to leave, there is handed to him an insurance policy against accident or death. Then, following him to the boat is a succession of storm notices, icebergs sighted, besides a large photo of Robinson Crusoe clinging to a spar. These, of course, should strike the audience as very funny indeed, but somehow the man seems sort of scared. And he is not to be blamed, for after he misses his boat, it promptly sinks and the audience has another hearty chortle.

The story, however, is unimportant. The traveler returns to his mourning family only to find that compared to an insurance policy he is better dead than alive. The principal interest is to see that this particular brand of foreign humor arises solely from actions either cruel, deceiving or unfortunate.

Directed by Wilhelm Thiele, the feature has several most commendable points. The photography, for one thing, is exceptional and vistas of Dutch towns and countryside are appreciable. There is, for another thing, a strong continuity which practically without aid from subtitles tells a tale clearly and compellingly. Typed to perfection, the various characters restore one's belief in the art of pantomime, an art which seems sadly vanishing with our increase of dialogue.

Heading the cast is Nikoli Kolin, the wanderer, an actor of unusual merit. His sense of comedy almost borders on drollery and is at all times delightful.

Gustav Frohlich and Betty Astor, who bears a striking resemblance to Vilma Banky, are effectively sympathetic in weaving the trivial romance incidental to the primary theme.

The latter portion of the film, which releases itself in pure buffoonery, is the most enjoyable, perhaps because its method differs only slightly from that to which Mack Sennett early accustomed us.

TALKIE OF STAGE AT DOWNTOWN

Dorothy Mackaill Featured in "Bright Lights," Drama All in Color

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Backstage again! "Bright Lights," in which the spectrum is strongly represented, went into Warner's Downtown Theater yesterday. This is a Vitaphone picture from the stencil of Humphrey Pearson, the gentleman who, if memory serves, made the leap from ad writing to the talkies with "On With the Show." Like his maiden effort, the present one details all the happenings that the audience misses when it goes to the playhouse. And what happenings they are, to be sure, with murders and masters of ceremonies at every turn.

"Bright Lights," if you like your melodrama interlarded with music, is lively enough. Certainly it looks expensive. Dorothy Mackaill is Louanne—once plain Lu—a lady who, like another shimmy dancer, learned about life in a honky-tonk. All this is brought out gradually; when Lu, receiving the press in her dressing-room, amusingly deigns to recount the story of her past for the edification of her public.

Not that Lu tells the truth; oh, no, it is a fine, flawless picture of prim girlhood that she paints. But the merciless camera, neatly double-crossing her, ventures back first to the South African bagnio where Lu did her "Congo" number ("I loved wild things," she coyly tells the press,) and then to the circus sideshow where she matriculated in that exact science, the hula ("a fashionable girls' school," she describes it inaccurately but modestly.)

These are the brightest sequences in the film, the Technicolor work being rather better than I have seen it recently. For the rest, there are the musical comedy already mentioned, a loyal master of ceremonies, a Portuguese villain out of South Africa, an inebriated newspaper reporter made up to look like Charles Ruggles, a thoroughly unbelievable rich man-about-town, a comedy team always at loggerheads and always, emphatically, Miss Mackaill in and out of very few clothes.

Frank Fay, nominally the hero, has been a master of ceremonies so long that he is likely to remain one forever—his single notable excursion afield having been made as the caballero in "Under a Texas Moon." He never varies his best officially bored manner here. Noah Beery plays the Portuguese heavy more kindly than menacingly. Others are James Murray, Tom Dugan, Daphne Pollard, Frank McHugh, Inez Courtney, Jean Bary, Eddie Nugent, Philip Strange—to name those most in evidence.

While "Bright Lights" will not stand careful scrutiny in so far as its drama is concerned—being, in truth, much ado about nothing—its many-faceted production should engage you frequently. Michael Curtiz directed for First National.

Short subjects include an episode of the Potter family: "Scotch Love," a good-natured poke at thrifty ribs; Lee Morse, blues singer; Wallace Ford in a skit, "Pore!" and The Times-Universal newsreel.

LATE SHOW SCHEDULED

Tonight patriotic atmosphere will surround the midnight matinee of "Hell's Angels" at Grauman's Chinese Theater, in keeping with the spirit of the week-end holidays. Sid Grauman has invited war-time aviators and representatives of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps as guests.

Martial melodies will be featured and Grauman is planning special surprise numbers in connection with the showing of the Hughes air spectacle and the prologue.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As Tarzan freed his hands, from the jungle came a low guttural and the ape-man became suddenly a silent, rigid statue, with ears and nostrils straining to span the black void which his eyesight could not reach. Again came the uncanny sound from the thick verdure beyond the camp. A sentry halted abruptly, straining his eyes into the gloom. The kinky wool upon his head stiffened and raised. He called to his comrade in a hoarse whisper. "Did you hear it?" The other came closer, trembling. Again the weird sound was repeated.

Trees overhung the boma on the opposite side from them. They dared not approach nearer. Their terror even prevented them from arousing their fellows—they could only stand in frozen fear and watch for the fearsome apparition they momentarily expected to see leap from the jungle. Nor had they long to wait. A dim, bulky form dropped lightly from the branches of a tree into the camp. At sight of it one of the sentries recovered command of his muscles and his voice. He screamed loudly to awaken the camp and threw a mass of brush on the flickering fire.

Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved. 96

The flames leaped high from the rejuvenated fire, lighting the entire camp, and the awakened men shrank back in superstitious terror from the sight that met their frightened vision. A dozen huge and hairy forms loomed large beneath the trees at the far side of the inclosure. The white giant, his hands free, had struggled to his knees and was calling to the frightful, nocturnal visitors in a hideous medley of bestial gutturals, barkings and growlings. Werper had managed to sit up. He, too saw the savage faces of the approaching anthropoids.

Growling, the great apes leaped forward toward Tarzan and Werper. Chulk led them. The Belgian officer called to his men to fire upon the intruders but the negroes held back, filled as they were with superstitious terror of the hairy tree-men, and with the conviction that the white giant who could thus summon the beasts of the jungle to his aid was more than human. Drawing his own weapon the officer fired and Tarzan, fearing the effect of the noise upon his really timid friends, called to them to hasten and fulfill his commands.

DEMAND ON WOOL MART SLACKENS

Weekly Review Reports Noticeable Let-Down in Activity of Mills

BOSTON, July 4. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

Business in the seaboard wool markets has slumped noticeably in the last week. Manufacturers are showing little interest in wool after recent heavy purchases and are evidently waiting for better demand for goods. The holiday and inventories also contribute to the dullness and there is a disposition to await London sales both here and abroad. Prices generally are maintained without change this week.

In the West buying has also slowed up, although growers show no disposition to lower prices for wools which are still unsold.

Foreign markets have shown an easier tendency and Bradford predicts 5 to 7 1-2 per cent decline at London generally, for sales commencing Tuesday.

Mohair continues slow of sale with no quotable change in prices.

Rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to July 2, 1930, inclusive, were 67,-611,500 pounds against 86,889,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to July 2, 1930, inclusive, were 156,457,600 pounds, against 152,-589,185 pounds for the same period last year.

DOHERTY ENTRY AWAITED

Oil Trade Hears Numerous Rumors of Cities Service Negotiations for Local Companies

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Since the visit of Henry L. Doherty and associates to the Pacific Coast the petroleum industry has been humming with rumors of Doherty activities in connection with the purchase of California oil companies. This new crop of gossip was prompted by the definite statement from Mr. Doherty while in Los Angeles that his company was considering an entry into the California oil business.

Controlling the huge cities Service enterprises comprising public utility and oil companies, the Doherty group is powerful enough in financial resources and managerial talent to successfully effect an invasion into the petroleum industry on this coast. Apparently the only stumbling block is the selection of the right channel.

INDEPENDENTS ALERT

Current speculation intimates that Doherty representatives have tentatively looked into several of the independent companies with the idea of working out a consolidation of the stronger units. Probably a good many of the smaller independents, having sustained financial losses in the long-drawn-out gasoline war, would readily listen to such proposals.

On the other hand, the purchase and consolidation of a number of these companies would likely prove costly, since the resulting duplication in refineries, pipe lines, bulk terminals, etc., would call for the scrapping of a considerable part of the facilities purchased.

Conjecture has also pointed to the Wilshire Oil group, the largest of the independents. George L. Machris, president, denied the other day that bids have been submitted by Cities Service representatives for his properties, although he said that intermediaries are continually seeking to open negotiations on behalf of various interests.

Stock market activity in Bandini Petroleum, controlled by the Wilshire group, has also been laid to the Cities Service, but Mr. Machris explained that buying of the stock was probably due to the intention of the management to apply for listing on the New York Curb.

OTHERS MORE LOGICAL

Before entering into definite conversations with any of the independents, it is more likely that the Doherty people will await the outcome of the Sinclair invasion into California. Both Rio Grande Oil and Richfield Oil admittedly have been tendered propositions by Sinclair, but it is not known yet whether both companies or only one will enter into the Sinclair picture.

If either Richfield or Rio Grande should decline the Sinclair terms, it is entirely probable that Cities Service would immediately open negotiations. Either one of these companies would be an admirable Pacific Coast representative for the Cities Service system.

Most of the Cities Service oil activities are grouped under the head of Empire Gas & Fuel Company, which controls producing, refining, marketing and transportation activities. The Empire producing properties are located mainly in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and the marketing territory covers the midcontinent States.

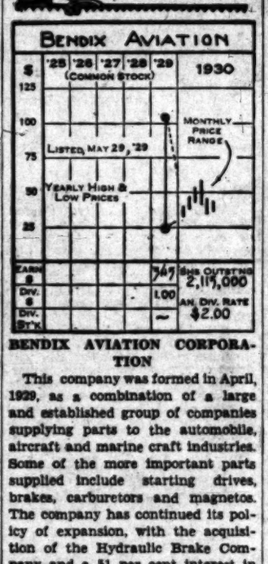
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

BENDIX AVIATION



BENDIX AVIATION CORPORATION

This company was formed in April, 1929, as a combination of a large and established group of companies supplying parts to the automobile, aircraft and marine craft industries. Some of the more important parts supplied include starting drives, brakes, carburetors and magnetos. The company has continued its policy of expansion, with the acquisition of the Hydraulic Brake Company and a 51 per cent interest in the new Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Air Brake Company. General Motors owns about 23 per cent of the common stock.

Net income, for the first quarter of 1930, amounted to $2,097,454, or 36 cents per share on the common stock. Comparative figures are not available, but for the first half of 1929 net was $2.56 per share. Full year 1929 net was $3.45 per share. It is apparent that the company failed to earn its first quarter dividend requirements of 50 cents in 1930. Steady improvements in manufacturing economies are being made, however, leading steadily toward this objective. Working capital at the end of 1929 amounted to $22,-030,800. Of the total current assets, over $16,000,000 was in cash and call loans.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY FORECAST

Marked Revival in 1931 Viewed as Certain by Standard Statistics

Recent disappointing behavior of business, commodity prices and stock prices has made more uncertain the prospect for an important recovery in the autumn of the current year, but has made still more certain the prospect for important and sustained revival in 1931, according to the Standard Statistics Company of New York, which continues in part:

"We still maintain the position that 1931 is to be a relatively good business year. We believe that business recovery will be strikingly in evidence by next spring and that the main trend of activity for the year as a whole will be upward.

"The current low level of productive activity and the prospective low level of activity during near-by future months are certain to create moderate deficits of goods which must later be filled. This forecasts some bulge in production and sales volumes in the autumn. Unless agricultural prices improve, however, this bulge now seems likely to be moderate in degree.

"Judgment as to the longer term outlook must be geared to the basic hypothesis that there is nothing fundamentally or permanently wrong with the American business situation; that as the causes of the current depression were neither new nor incurable; that the desires and consuming habits of our people have not permanently changed, but are only being held in check by temporary maladjustments; that readjustment is as inevitable as the present maladjustments were made inevitable by early excesses.

"All of these hypotheses we believe to be fully justified."

Allis Chalmers Gain Forecast

CHICAGO, July 4.—Net income of the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company for the six months ended June 30, last, although not officially reported as yet, will be in excess of the net income of $2,179,-088, or $7.72 a share, reported for the same period of 1929, according to estimates here.

Bookings for the six months amounted to $29,500,000, an increase of about $1,500,000 over the $28,-000,000 reported for the same six months of last year.

Probable Price Drift After Holidays Puzzles

Past Week on Mart Dullest Over Long Period

Developments During Next Fortnight Awaited

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—The stock market is taking its Fourth of July vacation with fingers crossed. Many astute observers believe that further tests of present levels are to be made in the weeks just ahead, and although all but the irreconcilable bears are expressing hope that the recent lows will not be punctured by fresh selling, few are willing to commit themselves to definite forecasts. In short, the situation is still regarded as uncertain.

Trading this week has been mostly professional and at all times quiet. Spasmodic efforts to mark stocks down met with rather impressive resistance, and the smaller short interests were satisfied to cover. On the other hand, profit-taking quickly followed the rallies.

However, with the market duller than in two years, operations in either direction were insignificant and it is toward the next fortnight that all eyes are turned.

There are reports that strenuous efforts will be exerted to break prices through the lows of last November. Unfavorable second-quarter earnings, the instability of commodity prices and the sagging trade indices are cited as weapons with which the bear element is likely to arm itself.

PUBLIC ALOOF

In addition there is the apathy of the investing public. Investment buying is doubtless increasing, but most of the support from that quarter seems to be awaiting confirmation of scattered assurances that the market has struck bottom.

Despite the quiet confidence of many bears, the other side is not defenseless. One of its strongest weapons is the enormous extent of liquidation during June. Stocks, it is pointed out, have passed from weak hands into strong, as was evinced by the June decrease of more than $1,000,000,000 in stock exchange members' borrowings on security collateral.

Also for two consecutive weeks the commercial loan total reported by Federal Reserve members banks has shown an increase amounting in the fortnight to $170,000,000. It is impossible to discern a definite trend in so short a time, but a continuation of this upward movement would be interpreted as a sign of increasing business activity.

BONDS OUTLOOK BETTER

Furthermore, banks' investments are still gaining and are up nearly $600,000,000 since February. This, it is pointed out, must ultimately help the bond market, and at present a strong bond market would be warmly welcomed by the financial community. A rather definite advance was made by fixed income securities this week.

The grain markets were highly irregular, opinion on the long-term prospect in wheat seemed to be bearish, with attention directed particularly to the increasing competition in production from abroad. The Department of Agriculture pointed out that adjustments in acreage were necessary if American growers were to profit in the next few years and added that world wheat prices over the next seven-year period would average considerably lower than the last seven.

Standard Statistics Company placed the hypothetical value of this year on the basis of tentative estimates, at about 20 per cent below that of 1929, amounting to a decrease in money of $189,000,000.

This analysis also said, in connection with the short-term outlook, that improvement in export demand and resumption of Farm Board activities "should result in an average price level during the next few months at least equivalent to that now prevailing."

The stock market, as always, is closely watching the steel industry for signs of a revival which so far have been lacking. Some experts suggested that the holiday shutdowns affecting many plants would tend to move stocks of materials, thereby stimulating purchases. In view of the week-end lay-off, next week's steel ingot production figures are expected to show a sharp decrease.

BEVERLY HILLS BANK PROFITS POINT UP

Net earnings of $70,451.11 for the six months ended June 30, last, were the highest in the history of the First National Bank of Beverly Hills, Richard L. Hargreaves, president, announced yesterday. The net income after the deduction of $12,-498 for depreciation, taxes, employees' bonus and other charges was greatly in excess of the same period of 1929, when the net was $60,187.67, he stated.

Deputy Governor of New York Reserve Bank Believes Improvement Due Before Many Months

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, July 4.—Dr. W. Randolph Burgess, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, believes that improvement in the business activity may be expected before many months.

While the present depression is the most severe since 1921, Mr. Burgess does not believe that there is any clear evidence yet that the recession has come to a stop.

"Two important facts may, however, be noted about the recession. First, that the actual decline in the volume of business activity is nothing like as severe as might be assumed, from much of the public discussion. The decrease in business since May of last year has been about 12 per cent.

"The second important fact about the recession is that, while production is considerably depressed, consumption is very little depressed."

Then this New York banker made this thoughtful statement:

"The continuation of the consumption of goods at a fairly even pace by 120,000,000 people requires a continual flow of goods from the wholesaler to the consumer, and from the producer to the wholesaler, and this gives us assurance that just as in former times the economic maladjustments of this period will be ironed out before many months have elapsed."

Exactly! This is the crux of the whole matter. The prime element, however, as to just when consumption will catch up with overproduction in the popular sense is all that stands in the way of saying just when business recovery will begin.

Canada, one of the world's richest nations, with a per capita income near the very top, and with her latent resources almost untouched, will soon be a borrower in the New York market. A low rate of interest is certain.

Charles Stewart, Canadian Minister of the Interior, estimates that in 1927 the national wealth, exclusive of undeveloped natural resources, was a little more than $27,-500,000,000. Against that must be placed her national debt at a little less than $2,250,000,000.

Canada's internal finances are now in excellent shape. For the last fiscal year the government's income amounted to $447,000,000 and her outgo, or expenses, $402,000,000, thus closing the year with a surplus of $45,000,000.

Canada's field crop acreage in Western Canada increased over 8,000,000 acres during the last ten years.

"No less impressive has been the advance of hydroelectric development, which in the last ten years has had the effect of increasing Canada's total water power installation by roundly 3,000,000 horsepower," said Mr. Stewart. "Nor can her mining industry producing over $300,000,000 of new wealth annually be ignored."

Canada's credit rating should be AAA.

Arora Products Sales of Neon Signs Heavier

Net operating profits of Arora Products, Inc., manufacturers of Neon signs, for the first six months of the current year were well ahead of the preceding six months' period, William J. McGhee, president, announced yesterday.

During the past six months, branches have been established in San Francisco and San Diego. Further expansion will take place this month when headquarters will be opened in Long Beach, it was stated.

Installation of the record-size Forest Lawn Memorial Park sign is practically completed, Mr. McGhee said. This will be one of the largest Neon signs ever constructed on the Coast and measures 500 feet long and eighteen feet high. Over 2000 feet of Neon tubing was required for its construction.

PENN DIXIE CEMENT GETS LARGER ORDER

BRISTOL (Tenn.) July 4.—Penn Dixie Cement Corporation has been awarded a contract by the South Carolina Highway Commission for 600,000 barrels of cement, valued at about $1,500,000, which is to be shipped from the company's Kingsport (Tenn.,) Richard City, and Clinchfield (Ga.) plants. The Kingsport plant's proportion of the order will permit operation of the plant through the fall, whereas last year it was closed in that period.

PROFITS REPORTED BY NEW YORK BANK

NEW YORK, July 4.—Bank of the United States, exclusive of Bank of the United States Corporation, earned $1,799,229 in the six months ended June 30, last, equal to $1.78 a share on 1,010,000 shares outstanding. Earnings for the first half of last year were indeterminable because of merger activities.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

While trying for a complete water shut-off recently the Shell Oil Company's Porter-Day No. 1 wildcat six miles southeast of Bakersfield started blowing gas, and spouted considerable water and mud as a result of swabbing. Bottom of the hole is at 4965 feet.

This hole, which is on Sec. 29, 30-29, in what is called the Weed Patch district, registered considerable "kick," but it was insufficient to give the company enough sample to determine its possibilities. Swabbing is continuing to test the water shut-off. There are five feet of open hole. Eleven and three-quarter-inch casing is set to 4890 feet.

To Spud

The Richfield Oil Company is scheduled to start drilling on its tideland permit test at Seacliff in a day or two, planning to spud in its second project at the end of a 600-foot pier which was recently completed. The company's permit is not far from the General Petroleum Corporation's Ferguson No. 2 which was plugged back to 3200 feet in an endeavor to improve its flow.

Building of four validating piers for the Elwood Exploration Company started during the past week at Seacliff. The projects are to be located on the east side of the county beach park.

No Showings

The Helen Petroleum Company's No. 1 wildcat on Section 23, 28-17, a short distance north of Poso Creek is drilling below 2460 feet without showings of oil sand, according to field reports. This project is searching for an extension of the Poso Creek field.

Best There

The Venice Oil Syndicate's No. 1 on the ocean front in the Venice oil field continues to flow 3200 barrels of 28-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 6100 feet, and thus far is the best producer there. It recently came in at the rate of 4800 barrels of oil a day along with 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

To handle the flow the syndicate is trucking its oil on trucks and trailers to storage tanks at Torrance, where space has been leased from the General Petroleum Corporation. No pipe line is yet available to operators in the Venice field, with the exception of the Ohio Oil Company, whose product is being stored at El Segundo, as well as in its own storage tanks in the field.

Preparing Location

Location is being prepared by the Ohio Oil Company for its Welch-Brix No. 1 wildcat, due south of the Coalings oil field. Material and equipment have been trucked in to the company's new project, which will be drilled on Section 4, 21-15. This is about twelve miles northwest of the Kettleman Hills oil field. The area to be tested has never been drilled before and since it is near Coalings, one of the oldest oil producing fields in the State, is thought to have possibilities.

VIEWS OF BROKERS MIXED

Weekly Spring-Street Symposium Shows Traders Differ on Probable Market Trend

How Los Angeles brokers look at the current trend of security prices and the prospects for the near-term future is reflected in the following representative opinions:

A continuance of light volume of trading, with price movements sluggish, prevailed throughout the short preholiday week. The market seems to have substantially discounted the publication of poor first six months earnings and dividend readjustments. Investment of July funds should strengthen the general list early during the coming week. So many stocks are at attractive levels that this buying may easily cause considerable short covering. That individuals and institutions of large means have taken full advantage of the recent abrupt decline in prices to add to previous holdings of sound securities must be interpreted as reflecting confidence in the ultimate revival of industrial activity.—Wilcox Drake, Wilcox Drake & Co.

A further reduction of brokers' loans, together with a marked decline in volume of trading reaffirms our position that stocks are passing into stronger hands. While typical preholiday trading has produced no news that may be considered encouraging, there is, however, a stubborn resistance to selling by the stronger stocks at present levels. For the first time in weeks the financial reports from some of the basic industries are showing signs of improvement and with this slight betterment of conditions being noted by the far-sighted investor further accumulation of bargain stocks will become a strengthening feature of our market.—John O. Knight, Los Angeles Investment Securities Company.

On the basis of recovery from November, 1929, the percentage of loss during the months of May and June and the relative come-back during the past week, the following stocks stand out, in order: American Tobacco B, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Electric. It is, therefore, logical that the particular action of these stocks would serve as a barometer to the market as a whole. We still expect a rather hectic market during the coming week to be influenced greatly by published earnings statements for the first half of the year. However, we see no indication that the lows established during the last three weeks will be broken.—Fred P. Schrader, Dean Witter & Co.

Technically, the market is again in sound shape, and the future trend of prices will be governed largely by the trend of industry and business during the third and fourth quarters. While there is a possibility of renewed liquidation, due to a further depression in business, it seems fairly reasonable to hope for improvement shortly owing to the fact that the business depression has already run for a period of fully one year. During the coming week there is apt to be a renewal of short selling, which will reduce prices somewhat, but which we feel will meet the same obstinate investment resistance which has characterized the market during the last two weeks.—Franklin H. Donnell, Jones, Hubbard & Donnell, Inc.

The market absolutely flattened out this week and efforts to stimulate trading interest on either side were quite unsuccessful although the situation was discounted as one in which, for the present at least, there were no more long stocks left to sell. It seems quite clear from the action of the market that liquidation for the present has been completed and that the short interest is not as sure of its position as it was last week. We anticipate some extension of the trading recovery after the holiday.—Norman B. Courtenay, E. A. Pierce & Co.

The stock market during the past greatly abbreviated week was a typical preholiday affair. Accompanied by the smallest volume of recent years, security price levels wandered about in a comparatively narrow range, failing to give any tangible indication as to the immediate future trend. What small buying there was, had a marked appearance of short covering. Surprisingly small price advances appeared to uncover plenty of real stock to appease the demand. We feel that an early advance of any considerable scope is extremely unlikely and continue to advise investments only on a long pull basis, in the highest grade stocks, and only after the most careful consideration. — Frank L. Gardner, Banks, Huntley & Co.

The current public psychology seems to be one of avoiding the market until business shows some definite signs of turning for the better. Under such conditions it is difficult to develop a public following on the upswings and the bears find it equally hard to bring out public liquidation on their sharp drives downward. It would appear that the current lack of activity will continue until some adverse or favorable developments make themselves felt.—Frank F. Hargear, Sutro & Co.

Abundante Llanto de los Guardias de la Comisaría de Glendale

GLENDALE, Julio 4.—No obstante las profecías de nuestro meteorólogo, de que tendríamos un Cuatro de Julio seco, hubo hoy extraordinaria dosis de humedad en el cuartel general de la policía de Glendale y en sus cercanías, pues empezó a salirse el contenido de una bomba lacrimatoria, de esas que la policía usa en casos de urgencia, y todos los alcanzados por el gas comenzaron a llorar sin descanso.

El primero en verter copioso llanto fue el guardia F. J. Lipstreau, encargado del cuarto de utilería y enseres, y el inspector W. A. Loving y el sargento H. Carter acudieron a ver que le pasaba, pues le creyeron presa de repentino dolor.

Los dos se soltaron llorando a lágrima viva, y cuando los guardias de patrulla de la comisaría fueron en auxilio de los tres, les llegó una bocanada del nocivo gas, y se retiraron enjugándose los ojos.

La caja de las bombas fue por fin removida a otro rincón de la comisaría, donde la bomba defectuosa pudiera seguir exhalando sus picantes olores sin perjuicio de terçero.

Quedó Firmado el Proyecto de Ley de Navegación Fluvial

Ha firmado hoy el presidente Hoover un proyecto de ley de Ríos y Puertos, que, según las propias palabras del jefe del Ejecutivo, autoriza la ejecución de un proyecto más considerable que el del Canal de Panamá.

En una declaración que hizo pública después de haber estampado su nombre al pie de la ley, enumera el presidente tres beneficios casi seguros que se derivarán de la aprobación de esa medida legal: "Dará empleo a millares de gentes que ahora no lo tienen. Proporcionará fletes de transporte reducidos sobre artículos a granel, con lo que se beneficiarán grandemente nuestras granjas y nuestras industrias. Acarreará una más uniforme distribución de población en el país, atrayendo a la gente lejos de los centros de congestión."

La nueva ley más que duplica el total de las consignaciones votadas por el último proyecto de ley de Ríos y Puertos, firmado el 21 de Enero de 1926 por el presidente Coolidge. Este autorizó $71,000,000 para trabajos de construcción, algunos de los cuales no están aún terminados.

Los Australianos Llegan al Fin del Sendero

OAKLAND, Julio 4.—El comandante Charles Kingsford-Smith, ya sin más mundos que conquistar, aterrizó hoy con su monoplano "Southern Cross" en el aeropuerto de Oakland, a las 2:36 p.m.

Kingsford-Smith es el único de los tripulantes originales que salieron de Oakland hace más de dos años para emprender un vuelo alrededor del mundo, llevando su avión a los hemisferios norte y sur, a través del Pacífico del Sur, y a Australia.

Millares de personas aplaudieron cuando el gran aparato volador aterrizó rápidamente en el campo, con los cuatro tripulantes que traía a bordo.

Este grupo de aviadores atravesó el Atlántico Septentrional partiendo de Irlanda, y se vio obligado a bajar en Terranova por falta de combustible. Tomaron repuesto de éste los viajeros, llegaron triunfalmente a Nueva York el 26 de Junio, y comenzaron desde luego a hacer preparativos para la etapa final de su viaje, que ha dado fin aquí el día de hoy.

Dio la bienvenida a los aviadores el alcalde Davie de Oakland, y luego, escoltados por altos funcionarios, recorrieron en procesión las calles de la ciudad, donde se celebró una recepción en su honor.

La Doctora Hohanshelt Destituida Como Médica del Hospital General

En larga comunicación subscrita por el doctor N. N. Wood, superintendente del Hospital General, la cual se halla en manos de la Comisión de Servicio Civil del Condado, formula el citado facultativo cargos concretos de deslealtad e insubordinación contra la doctora Anna S. Hohanshelt, del personal médico del Hospital General.

La doctora Hohanshelt apeló ante la comisión, y ésta comenzó a estudiar el caso el jueves próximo pasado. Uno de los principales fundamentos de la protesta de la doctora Hohanshelt era que el doctor Wood no presentaba cargos concretos contra ella. De allí que el doctor Wood haya presentado la larga comunicación de que se hace mérito, citando en ella numerosos actos de la destituida, que, en su opinión, arguyen deslealtad, insubordinación y falta de cooperación por parte de la tantas veces mencionada doctora.

Esta última entró al servicio del Hospital General como interna en Septiembre de 1920.

La señorita Shearer y el señor Thalberg se han negado tenazmente a hablar de sus esperanzas de heredero; pero sus amigos predicen la pronta llegada de ésta.

Thalberg, que es uno de los miembros de la directiva de la compañía Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, se casó con la señorita Shearer, estrella de esa misma compañía, en Septiembre de 1927.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As Tarzan freed his hands, from the jungle came a low guttural and the ape-man became suddenly a silent, rigid statue, with ears and nostrils straining to span the black void which his eyesight could not reach. Again came the uncanny sound from the thick verdure beyond the camp. A sentry halted abruptly, straining his eyes into the gloom. The kinky wool upon his head stiffened and raised. He called to his comrade in a hoarse whisper. "Did you hear it?" The other came closer, trembling. Again the weird sound was repeated.

Trees overhung the boma on the opposite side from them. They dared not approach nearer. Their terror even prevented them from arousing their fellows—they could only stand in frozen fear and watch for the fearsome apparition they momentarily expected to see leap from the jungle. Nor had they long to wait. A dim, bulky form dropped lightly from the branches of a tree into the camp. At sight of it one of the sentries recovered command of his muscles and his voice. He screamed loudly to awaken the camp and threw a mass of brush on the flickering fire.

Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

The flames leaped high from the rejuvenated fire, lighting the entire camp, and the awakened men shrank back in superstitious terror from the sight that met their frightened vision. A dozen huge and hairy forms loomed large beneath the trees at the far side of the inclosure. The white giant, his hands free, had struggled to his knees and was calling to the frightful, nocturnal visitors in a hideous medley of bestial gutturals, barkings and growlings. Werper had managed to sit up. He, too saw the savage faces of the approaching anthropoids.

Growling, the great apes leaped forward toward Tarzan and Werper. Chulk led them. The Belgian officer called to his men to fire upon the intruders but the negroes held back, filled as they were with superstitious terror of the hairy tree-men, and with the conviction that the white giant who could thus summon the beasts of the jungle to his aid was more than human. Drawing his own weapon the officer fired and Tarzan, fearing the effect of the noise upon his really timid friends, called to them to hasten and fulfill his commands.

DEMAND ON WOOL MART SLACKENS

Weekly Review Reports Noticeable Let-Down in Activity of Mills

BOSTON, July 4. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

Business in the seaboard wool markets has slumped noticeably in the last week. Manufacturers are showing little interest in wool after recent heavy purchases and are evidently waiting for better demand for goods. The holiday and inventories also contribute to the dullness and there is a disposition to await London sales both here and abroad. Prices generally are maintained without change this week.

In the West buying has also slowed up, although growers show no disposition to lower prices for wools which are still unsold.

Foreign markets have shown an easier tendency and Bradford predicts 5 to 7 1-2 per cent decline at London generally, for sales commencing Tuesday.

Mohair continues slow of sale with no quotable change in prices.

Rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to July 2, 1930, inclusive, were 67,- 611,300 pounds against 88,889,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to July 2, 1930, inclusive, were 156,457,600 pounds, against 152,- 589,185 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will also publish the following quotations:

Yundt, president, Pacific Capital, Inc., treasurer; L. E. Glicksman, secretary; Gavin W. Craig, associate justice, California Court of Appeals, director; Oliver O. Clark, director.

DOHERTY ENTRY AWAITED

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Since the visit of Henry L. Doherty and associates to the Pacific Coast the petroleum industry has been humming with rumors of Doherty activities in connection with the purchase of California oil companies. This new crop of gossip was prompted by the definite statement from Mr. Doherty while in Los Angeles that his company was considering an entry into the California oil business.

Controlling the huge cities Service enterprises comprising public utility and oil companies, the Doherty group is powerful enough in financial resources and managerial talent to successfully effect an invasion into the petroleum industry on this coast. Apparently the only stumbling block is the selection of the right channel.

INDEPENDENTS ALERT

Current speculation intimates that Doherty representatives have tentatively looked into several of the independent companies with the idea of working out a consolidation of the stronger units. Probably a good many of the smaller independents, having sustained financial losses in the long-drawn-out gasoline war, would readily listen to such proposals.

On the other hand, the purchase and consolidation of a number of these companies would likely prove costly, since the resulting duplication in refineries, pipe lines, bulk terminals, etc., would call for the scrapping of a considerable part of the facilities purchased.

Conjecture has also pointed to the Wilshire Oil group, the largest of the independents. George L. Machris, president, denied the other day that bids have been submitted by Cities Service representatives for his properties, although he said that intermediaries are continually seeking to open negotiations on behalf of various interests.

Stock market activity in Bandini Petroleum, controlled by the Wilshire group, has also been laid to the Cities Service, but Mr. Machris explained that buying of the stock was probably due to the intention of the management to apply for listing on the New York Curb.

OTHERS MORE LOGICAL

Before entering into definite conversations with any of the independents, it is more likely that the Doherty people will await the outcome of the Sinclair invasion into California. Both Rio Grande Oil and Richfield Oil admittedly have been tendered propositions by Sinclair, but it is not known yet whether both companies or only one will enter into the Sinclair picture.

If either Richfield or Rio Grande should decline the Sinclair terms, it is entirely probable that Cities Service would immediately open negotiations. Either one of these companies would be an admirable Pacific Coast representative for the Cities Service system.

Most of the Cities Service oil activities are grouped under the head of Empire Gas & Fuel Company, which controls producing, refining, marketing and transportation activities. The Empire producing properties are located mainly in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and the marketing territory covers the midcontinent States.

VIEWS OF BROKERS MIXED

Weekly Spring-Street Symposium Shows Traders Differ on Probable Market Trend

How Los Angeles brokers look at the current trend of security prices and the prospects for the near-term future is reflected in the following representative opinions:

A continuance of light volume of trading, with price movements sluggish, prevailed throughout the short preholiday week. The market seems to have substantially discounted the publication of poor first six months earnings and dividend readjustments. Investment of July funds should strengthen the general list early during the coming week. So many stocks are at attractive levels that this buying may easily cause considerable short covering. That individuals and institutions of large means have taken full advantage of the recent abrupt decline in prices to add to previous holdings of sound securities must be interpreted as reflecting confidence in the ultimate revival of industrial activity.—Wilcox Drake, Wilcox Drake & Co.

A further reduction of brokers' loans, together with a marked decline in volume of trading reaffirms our position that stocks are passing into stronger hands. While typical preholiday trading has produced no news that may be considered encouraging, there is, however, a stubborn resistance to selling by the stronger stocks at present levels. For the first time in weeks the financial reports from some of the basic industries are showing signs of improvement and with this slight betterment of conditions being noted by the far-sighted investor further accumulation of bargain stocks will become a strengthening feature of our market.—John O. Knight, Los Angeles Investment Securities Company.

On the basis of recovery from November, 1929, the percentage of loss during the months of May and June and the relative come-back during the past week, the following stocks stand out, in order: American Tobacco B, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Electric. It is, therefore, logical that the particular action of these stocks would serve as a barometer to the market as a whole. We still expect a rather hectic market during the coming week to be influenced greatly by published earnings statements for the first half of the year. However, we see no indication that the lows established during the last three weeks will be broken.—Fred P. Schrader, Dean Witter & Co.

Technically, the market is again in sound shape, and the future trend of prices will be governed largely by the trend of industry and business during the third and fourth quarters. While there is a possibility of renewed liquidation, due to a further depression in business, it seems fairly reasonable to hope for improvement shortly owing to the fact that the business depression has already run for a period of fully one year. During the coming week there is apt to be a renewal of short selling, which will reduce prices somewhat, but which we feel, will meet the same obstinate investment resistance which has characterized the market during the last two weeks.—Franklin H. Donnell, Jones, Hubbard & Donnell, Inc.

The market absolutely flattened out this week and efforts to stimulate trading interest on either side were quite unsuccessful although the situation was discounted as one in which, for the present at least, there were no more long stocks left to sell. It seems quite clear from the action of the market that liquidation for the present has been completed and that the short interest is not as sure of its position as it was last week. We anticipate some extension of the trading recovery after the holiday.—Norman B. Courteney, E. A. Pierce & Co.

The stock market during the past greatly abbreviated week was a typical preholiday affair. Accompanied by the smallest volume of recent years, security price levels wandered about in a comparatively narrow range, failing to give any tangible indication as to the immediate future trend. What small buying there was, had a marked appearance of short covering. Surprisingly small price advances appeared to uncover plenty of real stock to appease the demand. We feel that an early advance of any considerable scope is extremely unlikely and continue to advise investments only on a long pull basis, in the highest grade stocks, and only after the most careful consideration.—Frank L. Gardner, Banks, Huntley & Co.

The current public psychology seems to be one of avoiding the market until business shows some definite signs of turning for the better. Under such conditions it is difficult to develop a public following on the upswings and the bears find it equally hard to bring out public liquidation on their sharp drives downward. It would appear that the current lack of activity will continue until some adverse or favorable developments make themselves felt.—Frank F. Hargear, Sutro & Co.

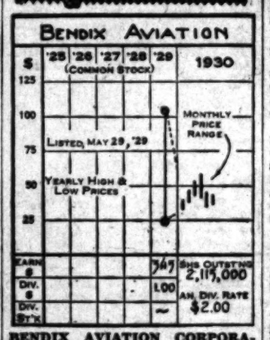
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

BENDIX AVIATION



BENDIX AVIATION CORPORATION

This company was formed in April, 1929, as a combination of a large and established group of companies supplying parts to the automobile, aircraft and marine craft industries. Some of the more important parts supplied include starting drives, brakes, carburetors and magnetos. The company has continued its policy of expansion, with the acquisition of the Hydraulic Brake Company and a 51 per cent interest in the new Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Air Brake Company. General Motors owns about 23 per cent of the common stock.

Net income, for the first quarter of 1930, amounted to $2,097,454, or 36 cents per share on the common stock. Comparative figures are not available, but for the first half of 1929 net was $2.56 per share. Full year 1929 net was $3.45 per share. It is apparent that the company failed to earn its first quarter dividend requirements of 50 cents in 1930. Steady improvements in manufacturing economies are being made, however, leading steadily toward this objective. Working capital at the end of 1929 amounted to $22,- 030,800. Of the total current assets, over $16,000,000 was in cash and call loans.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY FORECAST

Marked Revival in 1931 Viewed as Certain by Standard Statistics

Recent disappointing behavior of business, commodity prices and stock prices has made more uncertain the prospect for an important recovery in the autumn of the current year, but has made still more certain the prospect for important and sustained revival in 1931, according to the Standard Statistics Company of New York, which continues in part:

"We still maintain the position that 1931 is to be a relatively good business year. We believe that business recovery will be strikingly in evidence by next spring and that the main trend of activity for the year as a whole will be upward.

"The current low level of productive activity and the prospective low level of activity during near-by future months are certain to create moderate deficits of goods which must later be filled. This forecasts some bulge in production and sales volumes in the autumn. Unless agricultural prices improve, however, this bulge now seems likely to be moderate in degree.

"Judgment as to the longer term outlook must be geared to the basic hypothesis that there is nothing fundamentally or permanently wrong with the American business situation; that as the causes of the current depression were neither new nor incurable; that the desires and consuming habits of our people have not permanently changed, but are only being held in check by temporary maladjustments; that readjustment is as inevitable as the present maladjustments were made inevitable by early excesses.

"All of these hypotheses we believe to be fully justified."

Allis Chalmers Gain Forecast

CHICAGO, July 4.—Net income of the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company for the six months ended June 30, last, although not officially reported as yet, will be in excess of the net income of $2,179,- 088, or $7.72 a share, reported for the same period of 1929, according to estimates here.

Bookings for the six months amounted to $29,500,000, an increase of about $1,500,000 over the $28,- 000,000 reported for the same six months of last year.

UNEASY TONE IN BROKER CIRCLES

Probable Price Drift After Holidays Puzzles

Developments During Next Fortnight Awaited

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—The stock market is taking its Fourth of July vacation with fingers crossed. Many astute observers believe that further tests of present levels are to be made in the weeks just ahead, and although all but the irreconcilable bears are expressing hope that the recent lows will not be punctured by fresh selling, few are willing to commit themselves to definite forecasts. In short, the situation is still regarded as uncertain.

Trading this week has been mostly professional and at all times quiet. Spasmodic efforts to mark stocks down met with rather impressive resistance, and the smaller short interests were satisfied to cover. On the other hand, profit-taking quickly followed the rallies.

However, with the market duller than in two years, operations in either direction were insignificant and it is toward the next fortnight that all eyes are turned.

There are reports that strenuous efforts will be exerted to break prices through the lows of last November. Unfavorable second-quarter earnings, the instability of commodity prices and the sagging trade indices are cited as weapons with which the bear element is likely to arm itself.

PUBLIC ALOOF

In addition there is the apathy of the investing public. Investment buying is doubtless increasing, but most of the support from that quarter seems to be awaiting confirmation of scattered assurances that the market has struck bottom.

Despite the quiet confidence of many bears, the other side is not defenseless. One of its strongest weapons is the enormous extent of liquidation during June. Stocks, it is pointed out, have passed from weak hands into strong, as was evinced by the June decrease of more than $1,000,000,000 in stock exchange members' borrowings on security collateral.

Also for two consecutive weeks the commercial loan total reported by Federal Reserve members banks has shown an increase amounting in the fortnight to $170,000,000. It is impossible to discern a definite trend in so short a time, but a continuation of this upward movement would be interpreted as a sign of increasing business activity.

BONDS OUTLOOK BETTER

Furthermore, banks' investments are still gaining and are up nearly $600,000,000 since February. This, it is pointed out, must ultimately help the bond market, and at present a strong bond market would be warmly welcomed by the financial community. A rather definite advance was made by fixed income securities this week.

The grain markets were highly irregular, opinion on the long-term prospect in wheat seemed to be bearish, with attention directed particularly to the increasing competition in production from abroad. The Department of Agriculture pointed out that adjustments in acreage were necessary if American growers were to profit in the next few years and added that world wheat prices over the next seven-year period would average considerably lower than the last seven.

Standard Statistics Company placed the hypothetical value of this year on the basis of tentative estimates, at about 20 per cent below that of 1929, amounting to a decrease in money of $189,000,000.

This analysis also said, in connection with the short-term outlook, that improvement in export demand and resumption of Farm Board activities "should result in an average price level during the next few months at least equivalent to that now prevailing."

The stock market, as always, is closely watching the steel industry for signs of a revival which so far have been lacking. Some experts suggested that the holiday shutdowns affecting many plants would tend to move stocks of materials, thereby stimulating purchases. In view of the week-end lay-off, next week's steel ingot production figures are expected to show a sharp decrease.

BEVERLY HILLS BANK PROFITS POINT UP

Net earnings of $70,451.51 for the six months ended June 30, last, were the highest in the history of the First National Bank of Beverly Hills, Richard L. Hargreaves, president, announced yesterday. The net income after the deduction of $12,- 498 for depreciation, taxes, employees' bonus and other charges was greatly in excess of the same period of 1929, when the net was $60,167.67, he stated.

Deputy Governor of New York Reserve Bank Believes Improvement Due Before Many Months

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, July 4.—Dr. W. Randolph Burgess, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, believes that improvement in the business activity may be expected before many months.

While the present depression is the most severe since 1921, Mr. Burgess does not believe that there is any clear evidence yet that the recession has come to a stop.

"Two important facts may, however, be noted about the recession. First, that the actual decline in the volume of business activity is nothing like as severe as might be assumed, from much of the public discussion. The decrease in business since May of last year has been about 12 per cent.

"The second important fact about the recession is that, while production is considerably depressed, consumption is very little depressed."

Then this New York banker made this thoughtful statement:

"The continuation of the consumption of goods at a fairly even pace by 120,000,000 people requires a continual flow of goods from the wholesaler to the consumer, and from the producer to the wholesaler, and this gives us assurance that just as in former times the economic maladjustments of this period will be ironed out before many months have elapsed."

Exactly! This is the crux of the whole matter. The prime element, however, as to just when consumption will catch up with overproduction in the popular sense is all that stands in the way of saying just when business recovery will begin.

Canada, one of the world's richest nations, with a per capita income near the very top, and with her latent resources almost untouched, will soon be a borrower in the New York market. A low rate of interest is certain.

Charles Stewart, Canadian Minister of the Interior, estimates that in 1927 the national wealth, exclusive of undeveloped natural resources, was a little more than $27,- 500,000,000. Against that must be placed her national debt at a little less than $2,250,000,000.

Canada's internal finances are now in excellent shape. For the last fiscal year the government's income amounted to $447,000,000 and her outgo, or expenses, $402,000,000, thus closing the year with a surplus of $45,000,000.

Canada's field crop acreage in Western Canada increased over 8,000,000 acres during the last ten years.

"No less impressive has been the advance of hydroelectric development, which in the last ten years has had the effect of increasing Canada's total water power installation by roundly 3,000,000 horsepower," said Mr. Stewart. "Nor can the mining industry producing over $300,000,000 of new wealth annually be ignored."

Canada's credit rating should be AAA.

Arora Products Sales of Neon Signs Heavier

Net operating profits of Arora Products, Inc., manufacturers of Neon signs, for the first six months of the current year were well ahead of the preceding six months' period, William J. McGhee, president, announced yesterday.

During the past six months, branches have been established in San Francisco and San Diego. Further expansion will take place this month when headquarters will be opened in Long Beach, it was stated.

Installation of the record-size Forest Lawn Memorial Park sign is practically completed, Mr. McGhee said. This will be one of the largest Neon signs ever constructed on the Coast and measures 500 feet long and eighteen feet high. Over 4000 feet of Neon tubing was required for its construction.

PENN DIXIE CEMENT GETS LARGER ORDER

BRISTOL (Tenn.) July 4.—Penn Dixie Cement Corporation has been awarded a contract by the South Carolina Highway Commission for 600,000 barrels of cement, valued at about $1,500,000, which is to be shipped from the company's Kingsport (Tenn.,) Richard City, and Clinchfield (Ga.) plants. The Kingsport plant's proportion of the order will permit operation of the plant through the fall, whereas last year it was closed in that period.

PROFITS REPORTED BY NEW YORK BANK

NEW YORK, July 4.—Bank of the United States, exclusive of Bank of the United States Corporation, earned $1,799,229 in the six months ended June 30, last, equal to $1.78 a share on 1,010,000 shares outstanding. Earnings for the first half of last year were indeterminable because of merger activities.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

While trying for a complete water shut-off recently the Shell Oil Company's Porter-Day No. 1 wildcat six miles southeast of Bakersfield started blowing gas, and spouted considerable water and mud as a result of swabbing. Bottom of the hole is at 4965 feet.

This hole, which is on Sec. 29, 30-29, in what is called the Weed Patch district, registered considerable "kick," but it was insufficient to give the company enough sample to determine its possibilities. Swabbing is continuing to test the water shut-off. There are five feet of open hole. Eleven and three-quarter-inch casing is set to 4890 feet.

To Spud

The Richfield Oil Company is scheduled to start drilling on its tideland permit test at Seacliff in a day or two, planning to spud in its second project at the end of a 600-foot pier which was recently completed. The company's permit is not far from the General Petroleum Corporation's Ferguson No. 2 which was plugged back to 3200 feet in an endeavor to improve its flow.

Building of four validating piers for the Elwood Exploration Company started during the past week at Seacliff. The projects are to be located on the east side of the county beach park.

No Showings

The Helen Petroleum Company's No. 1 wildcat on Section 23, 25-17, a short distance north of Paso Creek is drilling below 2460 feet without showings of oil sand, according to field reports. This project is searching for an extension of the Paso Creek field.

Best There

The Venice Oil Syndicate's No. 1 on the ocean front in the Venice oil field continues to flow 3200 barrels of 28-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 6100 feet, and thus far is the best producer there. It recently came in at the rate of 4800 barrels of oil a day along with 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

To handle the flow the syndicate is trucking its oil on trucks and trailers to storage tanks at Torrance, where space has been leased from the General Petroleum Corporation. No pipe line is yet available to operators in the Venice field, with the exception of the Ohio Oil Company, whose product is being stored at El Segundo, as well as in its own storage tanks in the field.

Preparing Location

Location is being prepared by the Ohio Oil Company for its Welch-Brix No. 1 wildcat, due south of the Coalinga oil field. Material and equipment have been trucked in to the company's new project, which will be drilled on Section 4, 21-15. This is about twelve miles northwest of the Kettleman Hills oil field. The area to be tested has never been drilled before and since it is near Coalinga, one of the oldest oil producing fields in the State, is thought to have possibilities.

Abundante Llanto de los Guardias de la Comisaría de Glendale

GLENDALE, Julio 4.—No obstante las profecías de nuestro meteorólogo, de que tendríamos un Cuatro de Julio seco, hubo hoy extraordinaria dosis de humedad en el cuartel general de la policía de Glendale y en sus cercanías, pues empezó a salirse el contenido de una bomba lacrimatoria, de esas que la policía usa en casos de urgencia, y todos los alcanzados por el gas comenzaron a llorar sin descanso.

El primero en verter copioso llanto fue el guardia F. J. Lipstreau, encargado del cuarto de utilería y enseres, y el inspector W. A. Loving y el sargento H. Carter acudieron a ver que le pasaba, pues le creyeron presa de repentino dolor.

Los dos se soltaron llorando a lágrima viva, y cuando los guardias de patrulla de la comisaría fueron en auxilio de los tres, les llegó una bocanada del nocivo gas, y se retiraron enjugándose los ojos.

La caja de las bombas fue por fin removida a otro rincón de la comisaría, donde la bomba defectuosa pudiera seguir exhalando sus picantes olores sin perjuicio de terçero.

Quedó Firmado el Proyecto de Ley de Navegación Fluvial

Ha firmado hoy el presidente Hoover un proyecto de ley de Ríos y Puertos, que, según las propias palabras del jefe del Ejecutivo, autorizará la ejecución de un proyecto más considerable que el del Canal de Panamá.

En una declaración que hizo pública después de haber estampado su nombre al pie de la ley, enumera el presidente tres beneficios casi seguros que se derivarán de la aprobación de esa medida legal: "Dará empleo a millares de gentes que ahora no lo tienen. Proporcionará fletes de transporte reducidos sobre artículos a granel, con lo que se beneficiarán grandemente nuestras granjas y nuestras industrias. Acarreará una más uniforme distribución de población en el país, atrayendo a la gente lejos de los centros de congestión."

La nueva ley más que duplica el total de las consignaciones votadas por el último proyecto de ley de Ríos y Puertos, firmado el 21 de Enero de 1926 por el presidente Coolidge. Este autorizó $71,000,000 para trabajos de construcción, algunos de los cuales no están aún terminados.

Los Australianos Llegan al Fin del Sendero

OAKLAND, Julio 4.—El comandante Charles Kingsford-Smith, ya sin más mundos que conquistar, aterrizó hoy con su monoplano "Southern Cross" en el aeropuerto de Oakland, a las 2:36 p.m.

Kingsford-Smith es el único de los tripulantes originales que salieron de Oakland hace más de dos años para emprender un vuelo alrededor del mundo, llevando su avión a los hemisferios norte y sur, a través del Pacífico del Sur, y a Australia.

Millares de personas aplaudieron cuando el gran aparato volador aterrizó rápidamente en el campo, con los cuatro tripulantes que traía a bordo.

Este grupo de aviadores atravesó el Atlántico Septentrional partiendo de Irlanda, y se vio obligado a bajar en Terranova por falta de combustible. Tomaron repuesto de éste los viajeros, llegaron triunfalmente a Nueva York el 26 de Junio, y comenzaron desde luego a hacer preparativos para la etapa final de su viaje, que ha dado fin aquí el día de hoy.

Dio la bienvenida a los aviadores el alcalde Davie de Oakland, y luego, escoltados por altos funcionarios, recorrieron en procesión las calles de la ciudad, donde se celebró una recepción en su honor.

La Doctora Hohansheit Destituida Como Médica del Hospital General

En larga comunicación subscrita por el doctor N. N. Wood, superintendente del Hospital General, la cual se halla en manos de la Comisión de Servicio Civil del Condado, formula el citado facultativo cargos concretos de deslealtad e insubordinación contra la doctora Anna S. Hohansheit, del personal médico del Hospital General.

La doctora Hohansheit apeló ante la comisión, y ésta comenzó a estudiar el caso el jueves próximo pasado. Uno de los principales fundamentos de la protesta de la doctora Hohansheit era que el doctor Wood no presentaba cargos concretos contra ella. De allí que el doctor Wood haya presentado la larga comunicación de que se hace mérito, citando en ella numerosos actos de la destituida, que, en su opinión, arguyen deslealtad, insubordinación y falta de cooperación por parte de la tantas veces mencionada doctora.

Visitará la Cigüeña la Casa de una Célebre Actriz

A pesar de la reservadísima actitud de Norma Shearer y de su distinguido esposo, el señor Irving Thalberg, los amigos de la actriz están preparándose para felicitarla debidamente por la próximo llegada de la cigüeña a la casa de los Thalberg. Dicen los íntimos de la simpática pareja que para fines de Septiembre o principios de Octubre es cuando se espera el acontecimiento de que hablamos.

La señorita Shearer y el señor Thalberg se han negado tenazmente a hablar de sus esperanzas de heredero; pero sus amigos predicen la pronta llegada de éste.

Thalberg, que es uno de los miembros de la directiva de la compañía Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, se casó con la señorita Shearer, estrella de esa misma compañía, en Septiembre de 1927.

EZRA MEEKER TABLET PLACED IN WYOMING

INDEPENDENCE ROCK (Wyo.) July 4. (AP)—A tablet to the memory of Ezra Meeker, covered-wagon pioneer who spent the last years of his life in marking the old Oregon trail and calling it to the attention of the nation, was placed today on Independence Rock, one of the famous landmarks of the trail.

WORK ON RAIL LINK TO START IN SEPTEMBER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (AP)—Western Pacific Railroad officials announced today actual construction of the connecting link between Klamath Falls, Or., and Keddie, Cal., to connect the Western Pacific and Great Northern lines, will start September 1, next.

CURTIS URGES LAW SUPPORT

Vice-President Challenges Wets in New Jersey

Reverence for Constitution Declared Vital

Disregard of Statutes Held Peril to Nation

OCEAN CITY (N. J.) July 4. (AP) A call for "reverence" and obedience to the Constitution and "all its articles and amendments" was issued here today by Vice-President Curtis.

Speaking in this wet State before a gathering of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Vice-President took note of the prohibition issue indirectly in calling for strict enforcement of all laws.

KEY TO STRENGTH

"The Constitution of the United States," he asserted, "is the keystone of our national strength, our pride in the hour of prosperity, our consolation and rallying point under every pressure of adversity; and whoever seriously wishes to preserve our Constitution in its full purity and vigor must of necessity wish to have all its articles and amendments honestly obeyed and faithfully enforced."

"What we need now more than ever," the Vice-President told the assemblage, "is reverence for the Constitution and respect for the courts of our country. It is not pleasing to notice the wave that is sweeping over the country which disregards law and order and the Constitution and substitutes man's desires and weakens opinion of law.

PEACE SIGNPOSTS

"To determine the extent to which legislation is beneficial and beyond which it is hurtful, is the province of statesmanship. While people may differ as to the wisdom of enactment of a particular piece of legislation or as to amending the Constitution in regard thereto, it is impossible to ignore the Constitution and unthinkable to evade it by an administrative policy, either national or State."

Mr. Curtis also referred to the London naval treaty and asserted that conference along with the Washington naval conference of 1921; the recent evacuation of the Rhineland; the Kellogg pact, and the Locarno treaty "all point toward permanent peace."

"That it may come," he added, "is the passionate and lasting desire of the people of the civilized world."

N.E.A. WILL MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

Educators Highly Lauded for Resolution Pleading Dry Law Support

COLUMBUS (O.) July 4. (AP)—The 1931 convention of the National Education Association will be held in Los Angeles the last week of June and the first of July, it was decided today by delegates at the closing session of the meeting here.

ENFORCEMENT LEADER VOICES LAVISH PRAISE

BEVERLY (Mass.) July 4. (AP)—Praise for the recommendation of the National Education Association that instruction be given in the schools in support of enforcement of the prohibition law was voiced here today by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

"The Fourth of July declaration by the National Education Association meeting in Columbus, O., is worthy of our most influential and important body of citizens—American school teachers," said Mrs. Peabody. "To teach reverence for the Constitution and respect for law is to encourage patriotism and loyalty in the coming citizen. The action of this great body of educators is far more significant than any straw vote."

LITERARY EDITOR DIES

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—Grant Overton, literary editor of Colliers and former literary editor of the New York Sun, died today at his home in Patchogue, L. I. He was in his forty-third year.

"GAS HOUSE BOYS" IN BAD

Company May be Indicted for Failure of Meter Readers to Report Huge Liquor Plant

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) July 4. (NANA)—Are readers of gas and water meters to be informers for the government henceforth, or will they be elevated to the confidential class of doctors and lawyers, secreting in their bedenimed bosoms the unlawful spectacles they behold betwixt the basement steps and the cobwebby meter? Is the meter reader obliged to report clews as well as leaks, the inscription on basement bottles as well as the reading on the meter dial?

These important questions may be discussed by corporation lawyers if the Kansas City Gas Company is indicted as a "manufacturer of liquor," a charge based on the government's allegation that gas company employees must have seen an 800-gallon still recently seized in the basement of a purported garage. The gas meter was just behind the still, which, the government holds, had been in operation three months.

MUST HAVE BEEN SEEN

At least two gas meter readers and one water-meter reader must have seen the still on their way to the meter. The still was connected directly with the gas meter.

The fact that the gas-meter reader could not escape seeing the still, and the fact that the gas was used only for boiling the still, U. S. Atty. W. L. Vandeventer said, are sufficient evidence upon which to make the Kansas City Gas Company a "principal" in a charge of "manufacturing whisky" along with the still operators.

Maj. T. J. Strickler, vice-president and general manager of the Kansas City Gas Company, was amazed when informed late today of the government's intention to indict.

"I know nothing of the whole matter," he declared. "A still never was reported to me. Perhaps the garage's bill was $138 in May as the District Attorney says, but many such places have large bills. I can't say anything more now."

CITY NOT LIABLE

A charge of failure to report a felony to the authorities could be filed against the meter readers themselves, but the government is after the "big fellows."

The water-meter readers are as culpable as the gas-house boys if they saw the still. As a matter of fact, they couldn't miss it. The electric-meter readers are the only ones with an alibi. The still was not visible from the meter they read.

Mr. Vandeventer promised to investigate the City Water Department to learn whether a water-meter reader had visited the place since the still was put in operation. The city, however, is not criminally liable. It is exempt by virtue of being a municipal corporation.

HOLIDAY CRASH MAY BE FATAL

Three Los Angeles Persons Hurt at Bakersfield

Aged Woman Incurs Fracture of Skull; May Die

Tire Blows Out and Machine Goes Into Ditch

BAKERSFIELD, July 4. (Exclusive)—Three persons bound on a holiday excursion to the northern part of the State were injured, one probably fatally, when their auto turned over twelve miles south of here on the Golden State Highway this morning. The accident occurred near Switzer's Tavern when a tire on the touring car in which the members of the party were riding blew out, sending the machine into a ditch. The injured were all from Los Angeles.

The injured: Sarah Mills, 77 years of age, compound fracture of both bones in right leg, fractured left ankle, right arm mangled and compound fracture of skull; J. Henry, 48, bruises and facial lacerations; Mrs. Pearl Henry, 40, wife of Mr. Henry and daughter of Mrs. Mills, probable internal injuries and severe shock.

The family had left Los Angeles about 2:30 a.m. today and was nearing Bakersfield on the straightaway en route to Terra Bella to spend the holiday.

TORPEDO CAUSES YOUTH TO SPEND FOURTH IN BED

TULARE, July 4.—Orval Payton, 18-year-old Fresno youth, a Fourth of July visitor here, instead of spending the day in merriment with his friends, lies at the Belleview Hospital suffering from first-degree burns sustained last evening when a torpedo flung into the car in which he was riding exploded against his arm. Young Payton, with several companions, was in a machine racing about the city with other cars, filled with youthful merrymakers. They were entertaining themselves throwing explosives into passing cars and watching the passengers jump. Payton was the victim of such an explosive.

Two Men Dead in Gun Battle

WRIGLEY (Ky.) July 4. (AP)—Fourth of July gun-and-knife play in the general store here today cost the lives of two men and left two others seriously wounded as a quarrel of long standing between the families broke afresh.

George Gross, 60 years of age, and his son Bert, 18, were killed. Clarence Whitt was shot in the head and seriously wounded and Rufus Whitt, a brother-in-law, was stabbed. Doctors said Rufus probably will not live.

Friends said there had been bad feeling between the Whitt and Gross families for some time.

Fisher Striker Seized as Red

FLINT (Mich.) July 4. (AP)—Communist party membership application blanks and a large number of signed membership cards of the auto workers' international union were seized by police in a raid early today on the home of John Werner, one of the striking Fisher Body Company employees.

Werner was held on a charge of possessing a weapon without a permit.

The Fisher Body plant strike began Tuesday following a disagreement over wage-scale readjustments.

Bank Official of Omaha Gone

OMAHA, July 4. (AP)—Disappearance of E. L. Droste, Vice-President of the First National Bank of Omaha, Wednesday morning became known today as police and bonding company agents widened the search for him.

Droste's books are short between $25,000 and $30,000, bank officials stated.

CENTENARIAN DENIED SWIM ON BIRTHDAY

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) July 4. (AP)—Today is Maj. Edward James Monroe's 115th birthday anniversary, he said, but he did not join with his usual zest in the Independence Day demonstrations, for he just has received strict orders from his physicians. Among other things, he has been forbidden a daily swim in the St. John's River, which he enjoyed until recently.

MEXICO UNIVERSITY OPENS

MEXICO CITY, July 4. (AP)—President Portes Gil and Aaron Saenz, Secretary of Education, took part today in the opening of the new Workmen's University.

SMOKER, NOT FAG, TOASTED

Early Riser Reaches for Cigarette and Gets Firecracker

BERKELEY, July 4. (AP)—H. V. Pike arose before daylight today. He was nonchalant and reached for a cigarette.

When the air cleared and the police and fire departments departed, he explained what he thought was a cigarette was a firecracker.

Even that wouldn't have been so bad, but when it exploded in his mouth and he threw it on the floor a whole box full of fireworks exploded, too. The house was saved.

FITTS URGES WATER ACTION

Tulareans Told It's Time for Work on Problem of Future San Joaquin Valley Supply

TULARE, July 4.—"It's time to stop politics and start pouring cement," Dist.-Atty. Buron Fitts of Los Angeles told 2000 persons in a Fourth of July celebration at Mooney Grove, referring to the water problem in the San Joaquin Valley.

Fitts spoke for the most part on the cost of crime in government. He declared that with each family paying about $75 per month for government, the biggest single item is crime control. One third of 1 per cent of the people in the United States are criminals, Fitts said. Each year they take 15,000 lives, commit 300,000 burglaries, costing the people $16,000,000. Since he has been District-Attorney of Los Angeles county, he declared, murders have dropped from 157 to fifty-two a year, and robberies from 43,000 to 1600.

He urged establishment of a junior prison or school in which to care for youthful criminals, making salvaging of their lives its real aim. San Quentin, said Fitts, is the largest incubator of crime. Once there, the prisoner has little chance of ever becoming anything but a criminal. The speaker cited the present youthful age of criminals, declaring the great need of prison reform in order that they not become habitual criminals.

In conclusion he said the people can have any kind of a government they want; all they have to do is just go out and get it, referring to their power at the polls.

Fitts came to this city by air, arriving at Visalia Airport about noon, where he was met by a special committee of Tulare Legionnaires, city officials and political workers. He flew back to Los Angeles this evening. Today's celebration at Mooney Grove was sponsored by Tulare Post of the American Legion, featuring also sports events, band concerts, picnic luncheon and dancing.

Elderly Man Stabs Another Over Woman

STOCKTON, July 4. (AP)—An 87-year-old man stabbed a 40-year-old husband here today in a fight assertedly over the affections of the latter's wife.

The husband, Henry Moss, a structural iron worker, was taken to a hospital with a serious knife wound in the abdomen. His wife, Gladys Moss, who also gave the name of Gladys Thompson, and Frank Gomez, the asserted elderly suitor, were booked for investigation at the County Jail.

Propagandizing Professors Hit

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Acceptance of funds from private sources by professors and colleges for investigation of controversial questions affecting public policy was described as undesirable in a report made public today by the committee on ethics of the American Association of University Professors.

The report, prepared by Prof. E. R. A. Seligman of Columbia University, resulted from the Federal Trade Commission investigation of public utility concerns, in which it was charged certain professors were employed for propaganda purposes.

Americans of Genoa in Fete

GENOA (Italy) July 4. (AP)—The home town of Christopher Columbus today celebrated the Fourth of July with the Star Spangled Banner flying from all American business houses and many residences.

A garden party for the American colony was an afternoon feature.

BODIES OF THREE LAKE VICTIMS RECOVERED

ST. THOMAS (Ont.) July 4. (AP) The bodies of three residents of the United States, drowned in Lake Erie when their sailboat collapsed last night, were recovered today. They were identified as Stanley Winters, 30 years of age, of Cleveland, a salesman; Morris Ray Carroll, 30, of Detroit, salesman, and Oscar Layne, 21, of Fairview, Ky., a laborer.

THREE YOUTHS HURT IN AIRPLANE CRASH

RANGER (Tex.) July 4. (AP)—Three youths were injured in an airplane crash near the Ranger Airport today. Erwin Green, 20 years of age, pilot, of San Antonio, is not expected to live. The others, Joe Shankle, 20, and Sherman Mathews, 15, both of Ranger, were not seriously hurt. The plane fell 100 feet while attempting to land.

AMERICANS CONFER WITH BRITISH EQUITY

LONDON, July 4. (AP)—The British Actors' Equity Association met for the first time today in the presence of two anxious American equity godparents—Ethel Barrymore and John Emerson, president of the American Equity.

BULL FIGHTER LOSES APPEAL

MEXICO CITY, July 4. (AP)—The Supreme Court today denied the appeal of the Mexican bull fighter, Juan Silveti, against a two-year prison sentence imposed against him several years ago on a charge of reckless driving. Silveti's motor car was in an accident and one passenger was killed.

U. C. GIRL FOUND DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (Exclusive)—The body of Miss Gladys Elizabeth Clark, 22 years of age, University of California graduate, who came here from Reno June 15, last, was found in her room today with an empty poison bottle at her side.

COOLIDGE ALSO HAS BIRTHDAY

Many Send Greetings, and Among Them One Who Has Never Forgotten Him

NORTHAMPTON (Mass.) July 4. (AP)—Since the days when his mail came addressed to "His Honor, the Mayor of Northampton," until today, two years after his retirement as President, Calvin Coolidge has received a card of greetings from a woman in a little backwoods town in Vermont on each Fourth of July.

For the past twenty years she always has remembered July 4 is Mr. Coolidge's birthday.

When the former President went to his office today he found a bundle of greeting cards which, he said, in their scope represented a cross-section of the American people. Former members of his Cabinet, Washington officials and many of the rank and file of the country remembered his 58th birthday.

All pleased the former Chief Executive but the one from the woman in Vermont, whose identity he declined to reveal, was of especial interest. Included in the number were several from children who called attention to the fact that they, too, were celebrating a birthday in addition to the birthday of the United States.

Many families here sent flowers picked from their gardens, old friends made personal visits and Mr. Coolidge's former chef on the Presidential yacht Mayflower, sent a large cake from New York.

Indian Family Makes Fourth Nuptials Day

RENO, July 4. (AP)—Weddings featured the Fourth of July celebration for the Crooks family, Sioux Indians, when the members, including children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren gathered at the first family reunion in twenty years at the Washoe Indian reservation near Reno today.

At the Episcopal Church in Reno, George Crooks, 75 years of age, and his wife, 65, went through a simple ceremony that marked their golden wedding anniversary. Immediately following two of their sons were married in a double ceremony. John Crooks, 25, of Reno, married Miss Blanche Voss, 21, of Long Beach, Cal., and George Crooks, Jr., 21, of Long Beach, married Mamie E. Manley, also of the California city.

Tree Named in Mather's Honor

YOSEMITE, July 4. (AP)—A young sequoia trees in the Mariposa Grove of big trees was dedicated today to the late Stephen T. Mather, who was director of National Park Service. Dr. H. C. Bryant, assistant director, was speaker.

AUTO CRASH FATAL

WENATCHEE (Wash.) July 4. (AP) Harry Lehman, 50 years of age, of Penticton, B. C., was killed, and James McClean, his companion; Alex Murray, Aswell, Wash., and Murray's 12-year-old daughter, were injured seriously today in a head-on automobile crash on Wells Hill, near Aswell. A splinter of glass pierced Lehman's right temple.

YOUTH DIES IN AUTO CRASH

SANTA ROSA, July 4. (AP)—Jerome Smith, 23 years of age, of Oakland, was killed and Stewart Milne, 21, Oakland, seriously injured today when their automobile crashed into a service station near here.

WOMAN KILLED ON HIGHWAY

WINSLOW (Ariz.) July 4. (AP)—Mrs. P. McCoy, 45 years of age, of Winslow, was killed instantly sixteen miles east of here late tonight when an automobile driven by her husband overturned in passing another machine. McCoy was uninjured.

REUTER'S CHIEF DIES

LONDON, July 4. (AP)—Herbert Jeans, chief editor of Reuter's News Agency, died today during a heart attack in his residence at Putney. He had been ill for some time.

TWO KILLED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Another Victim May Die; Man Hurt Several Days Ago Expires

One woman and one man were killed instantly and another was injured seriously in holiday traffic accidents in and near the city yesterday. In addition, a man died of injuries previously received.

Mrs. Marie Grush, 24 years of age, 1136 Newby street, Glendale, lost her life in a collision at Rose and Roland streets, Burbank. She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband when it was struck by another machine, whose operator is not listed in police records. The impact threw her out and she was dead when picked up. Her husband escaped with minor hurts.

James Evans, 65 years of age, of 1115 East Thirty-seventh street, started to cross the street in front of 3618 Central avenue. A flashy automobile containing two young Negroes struck him squarely, killing him instantly. The automobile never even faltered. The fact that the automobile broke off one lamp may aid police in finding the hit-and-run driver.

Mrs. Della F. Price, 43, 905 South Mariposa street, may die, surgeons report, as the result of injuries sustained in another collision at Mariposa street and Wilshire Boulevard. Her car, according to police, crashed into a taxicab operated by John R. Burk, 2118 Meadow Valley Terrace. She has a brain concussion and possible internal injuries.

Her son, John, 8, who was riding with her, sustained cuts and bruises. Burk was not hurt, although his cab is said to have skidded more than 100 feet and then jumped the curbing before it stopped.

MILLIONS PAID FOR HOSTELRY

Alexandria Purchased by C. C. Chapman and Son

Land Leases Also Acquired in $3,000,000 Deal

Present Munagement Not to Be Affected by Sale

The Alexandria Hotel at Fifth and Spring streets has changed ownership in a realty deal involving $3,000,000, it became known yesterday when Charles C. Chapman announced that the Santa Ysabel Land Company, which he and his son, Stanley Chapman, control, had acquired the building, together with the land leases.

The sale will not affect the present management of the hostelry nor the tenants in the ground-floor stores of the building. The seller was the Alexandria Hotel Realty Corporation.

ONCE LEADING HOTEL

For many years until the building of the Biltmore seven years ago the Alexandria was the city's leading hotel and was host to many of the most notable personages and conventions of the country. It was erected in 1906 and its capacity increased by additions in 1908.

Charles C. Chapman, who resides on one of his large citrus groves in Fullerton, is an extensive holder of Los Angeles realty. He is the owner of the Charles C. Chapman Building at Eighth and Broadway, and together with his brother, has been developing the Chapman Park tract in the Wilshire-Ambassador district.

In addition to a large amount of cash the Alexandria Hotel Realty Corporation receives six parcels of ground totaling about 600 feet of frontage in the Chapman Park tract, a parcel in Anaheim and also the Victoria Farms property at Yorba Linda in San Bernardino county. The hotel property consists of leasehold estates on seven parcels of land and covers a frontage of 240 feet on Spring street and 206 feet on Fifth street.

William C. Crittenden and associates acquired the property in the spring of 1927, purchasing it from the Ambassador Hotel and Investment Corporation and he and his associates at that time formed the Alexandria Hotel Realty Corporation. At this time Gene C. Eppley, Omaha, Neb., head of the hotel system which bears his name, purchased the furniture and complete equipment of the Alexandria and leased the entire property for twenty-five years.

The active management of the hotel is vested in Charles B. Hamilton as vice-president. The Alexandria contains 700 guest rooms and its convention facilities are regarded as being especially well arranged.

Rites Today for Pioneer Woman

Funeral services for Mrs. Carolina Zolle, pioneer business woman and club member, who died Thursday after a brief illness, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the Paul D. Robinson mortuary, Washington and Toberman streets. Entombment will follow in Inglewood Cemetery.

A native of Germany, where she was born fifty-seven years ago, Mrs. Zolle came to America as a young girl, marrying in Deming, N. M., and settling in El Paso. With her husband, Martin J. Zolle, she moved to Los Angeles in 1900 and established a home at Eighth street and Broadway. For many years she operated the old Woodlawn Hotel on Main street between Second and Third streets, later opening one of the city's first cafeterias. In addition she acquired several parcels of valuable real estate. She was an active member of the Women's City Club.

Mrs. Zolle lived at 1232½ West Fifth street. Besides her husband she leaves one son, Martin A. Zolle.

DANCE FOR SHIP CREW

The British Overseas War Veterans' Association will give a dance at the T.V.G. Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday, in honor of the commander and crew of the British warship Dispatch, which is due in Los Angeles Harbor on that date for a six-day stay. John B. Creasy is in charge of arrangements.

GLORIOUS TIME ENJOYED BY ALL

Young and Old Alike Vote Nation's Holiday Great Success

IN THE way of noise making and general excitement produced by firecrackers, torpedoes, cap pistols and giant crackers the Fourth of July was voted a complete success by the youngsters yesterday, as discovered by a Times photographer who cruised around the streets.

There were not so many terrific explosions as in former years, but there was a continuous roll of small fire from little crackers and torpedoes. Within the city the sale of fireworks was confined to the so-called harmless type, but just beyond the city limits on the main traffic arteries numerous stands did a thriving business in the sale of giant crackers and other high-powered fireworks.

Beaches and mountains proved to be the great drawing cards for the three-day holiday crowds. The advance guard of the beach invasion began as early as Thursday night, and by yesterday afternoon room on the sands was at a premium. The highway from Santa Monica north was jammed by midafternoon.

THOUSANDS JOIN IN CELEBRATION

Programs Featured at Many Gathering Places

Battleships Thunder Salute and Shore Guns Reply

Beach and Inland Resorts Get Large Attendance

With throngs at the beaches, with innumerable picnics and reunions at parks, playgrounds and in the mountains and with a three-day celebration under way at Santa Monica and neighboring cities, Los Angeles and vicinity celebrated the anniversary of American independence yesterday.

At the harbor, United States battleships thundered out a salute of twenty-one guns, the salvos from the ships being answered by the guns of Fort MacArthur. The harbor was gay with bunting as craft from all over the world joined in the celebration.

The leading observance, however, was in the Santa Monica Bay region. Swimming races at Long Beach, ball games at Wrigley Park between Hollywood and Oakland and events at many playgrounds provided entertainment for those athletically inclined. Last night, at scores of places along the beach, at city parks and playgrounds and at inland cities the heavens were illuminated by displays of pyrotechnics.

THOUSANDS AT BEACHES

Santa Monica police officials estimate there were 500,000 visitors in the bay region from Point Dume to Redondo. Starting Thursday night streams of automobiles commenced pouring on the strand from Los Angeles and elsewhere. Bonfires twinkled all night long as the long lines of autos rolled up and parked.

The official program of the three-day celebration started at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the municipal pier, when Supervisor Quinn read the national pledge of allegiance. Thousands of voices responded. Later in the day Gov. Young delivered a patriotic address.

Two United States destroyers, anchored in the bay, drew throngs of visitors during guest hours. Fleets of airplanes from Clover Field and elsewhere joined in both day and night celebrations. A great fireworks display concluded the evening events.

At Ocean Park and Venice, places of amusement were jammed. Santa Monica and Venice traffic squads were called upon to aid in handling the congestion. The celebration along the beach will continue over Saturday and Sunday.

JUDGE TURNEY SPEAKS

Municipal Judge Turney was the principal speaker yesterday at the Venice community celebration. The program was given under the auspices of the Venice American Legion post.

He declared that the love of liberty has been the ruling passion of America since the beginning of the republic and among our ancestors for generations before.

"The revolution was fought to compel European kings to recognize what was already recognized in America," he said, "that no government is worthy of a place in civilization which does not derive it powers from consent of the governed."

CITY CELEBRATIONS

The largest celebrations of the day in Los Angeles proper were at Hollenbeck and Westlake parks. At Hollenbeck, the program was sponsored by the Hollenbeck Business Men's Association. Kilgrove's Park Band furnished music during the day. Watermelon-eating contests, games and races for persons of all sexes and ages, a Boy Scout review and a speaking program took up the afternoon. Among the speakers were Gov. Young, Senator Chamberlin, Judge Valentine and Mrs. Oda Faulconer.

"The flag of the United States is the symbol of freedom for all the world," said Gov. Young. "Poor in sentiment and loyalty indeed is the man or woman who does not thrill at the mention of Betsy Ross." A colorful pyrotechnical display was a feature of the evening.

NOVEL FEATURE

At Westlake Park the afternoon program, sponsored by the Westlake Business Association, included an address by Councilman Williams. A few seconds before he finished his address a giant firecracker was exploded and a great bouquet of red

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

OUR old "Uncle Carl" Laemmle of the Universal film company must be a little mixed in his emotions.

Week before last the illustrious editor of a local film magazine proposed that he be given the Nobel prize as a reward for having made the war picture, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

This week the "Technical Directors' Association" wastes a lot of telegraph tolls informing the President of the United States and others that dear old Uncle Carl is a "Mediterranean mongrel," a traitor, dimmer of the bright star of patriotism, etc., etc.—for having made the war picture, "All Quiet on the Western Front."

In his agitation Uncle Carl probably will send to Europe for some more nephews.

HEAVEN SENDS RELATIVES

Is there anybody who would still be heartless enough to want to punish the ex-Kaiser of Germany after learning that he has nineteen families to support?

BIGELOW

Many readers will have forgotten the circumstances that stand behind the making up of the Kaiser and Poultney Bigelow in Holland.

As a boy Bigelow was raised with the two young princes of the German royal family—he who was to become Kaiser, and Prince Henry. During the war Bigelow used his knowledge in a series of the cruelest magazine stories that could have been written.

It is a pity that great nations like the United States and England could not have accomplished the job of giving to Germany the licking she had coming without recourse to the artificial creation of hatred.

A SOLDIER'S ANSWER

I remember once asking Gen. Otis if he hated the men against whom he fought in the Civil War. "Of course I didn't hate them," he said indignantly. "I was a soldier—not a murderer. Had I hated them I should have refused to kill them."

GIMME MY MONEY BACK

I am not grateful to the Postoffice Department for returning to me the mail I sent by Maury Graham's plane that was wrecked. It cost me 15 cents and I expected it to get there—not back here.

FRONT LAWNS

A group of young architects in Los Angeles are conspiring. When real estate starts up again they want to set aside a section of the city where houses shall be built in the Spanish style—real Spanish style—with the houses coming flush to the street and the "front lawns" inside the patio.

The most grotesque example of stupidity in the history of the planning of Los Angeles is the front lawn. It is useless, senseless and inartistic. In the nineties we came out here from Newton Center, Kalamazoo, Dubuque, Cedar Rapids and Moose Jaw and decided to show people who had lived here all their lives how new houses should be built.

YARDS

You can put this in your Missouri corn-cob pipe and smoke it—or spit:

In a climate like this a yard should be an additional living-room. If it isn't that you are hopelessly all wrong.

Incidentally, except for this idiocy of front lawns, Los Angeles wouldn't have any $300,000,000 water problem.

CHARGES IN DISMISSAL DETAILED

Dr. Hohanshelt's Appeal Answered by Dr. Wood, General Hospital Head

Specific charges of disloyalty and insubordination against Dr. Anna S. Hohanshelt, recently dismissed from the medical staff of the General Hospital, are set forth in a long communication from Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent of the institution, now on file with the County Civil Service Commission.

Dr. Hohanshelt's appeal from dismissal was taken up by the commission last Thursday. After reading her communication the matter was laid over for one week to give the commissioners time to go through the one filed by Dr. Wood.

One of the principal grounds for Dr. Hohanshelt's protest was that Dr. Wood had not made specific charges against her. In answer to this Dr. Wood filed his lengthy report citing numerous asserted acts which he construes as acts of disloyalty, insubordination and lack of co-operation.

Dr. Hohanshelf began her service at the General Hospital as an interne in September, 1920.

Fire Destroys Old Pavilion in Long Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 4.—Amid the glare of flames, and in the presence of thousands of holiday excursionists, Alamitos Bay pavilion, venerable landmark erected in 1903 which in the fading glory of recent years was occasionally used as a skating-rink, passed out of existence tonight.

Fire, started perhaps by a carelessly thrown firecracker, consumed it utterly, and with it closed a chapter of local history which began twenty-seven years ago when it was a Mecca for excursionists and occupied a central place on what was then West Beach—and is now Long Beach.

About 100 feet square and approximating in height a three-story structure, it was built entirely of wood. It stood on the beach at Pier Place near Ocean Boulevard, a shabby reminder of a once glorious past.

Four companies of fire fighters fought the flames, but the fiery tide could not be stayed.

Many old-timers sighed a little as the last flicker guttered out.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD ORDER ON SEWER RESCINDED

The City Council has rescinded the instructions given almost four years ago to the City Engineer to prepare plans and ordinances for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Atlantic street between Mott and Pickert streets.

GAS PRICES REMAIN AT LOW LEVEL

Major Companies Fail to Meet Advances Made by Independent Refiners

Despite posted increases in the price of gasoline sold by several independent refiners Thursday and yesterday, the major companies continued to hold the wholesale price of their product at 12½ cents, with retail prices ranging from 12½ cents to 14½ cents.

The move to the former price level of 19½ cents was started by the Macmillan Petroleum Corporation and was quickly followed by the Union Pacific Refining Company, Southwest Refining Company, Andrews Refining Company and the Morrison Refining Company. However, a number of service stations retailing the gasoline from these companies continued to sell at cut prices, declaring they will not make an advance until their present stocks are exhausted.

R. S. Macmillan, president of the Macmillan corporation, said the increase is necessary to avoid disaster to the independent refiners, and pointed out that the new price will disprove the charge that the independent refiners are responsible for the present gas war.

VIEWS AIRED IN OIL DISPUTE

Technical Experts Discuss Projected Surf Wells at Venice for Benefit of "Times" Readers

Expert technical attention as well as court action and general public interest have begun to enliven the controversy as to whether the city should lease for oil exploitation the submerged lands off the Venice public beach. The question of legality of the proposal moved along another notch in the court yesterday and outside of that a number of persons of experience in such matters responded to a Times' request that their opinions on phases other than the legal ones.

Apart from the controversy as to whether the city legally can lease the lands for oil drilling, the question rises as set forth in a detailed article in The Times last Sunday, as to whether such exploitation on the ocean side of the beach will be advisable. It was pointed out how the Venice oil boom starting last December has moved the oil industry into the Venice recreation and bathing-beach center and that it appears private property owners shortly will have erected oil wells along the mile and one-half of Venice beach, hemming in the narrow strip of public beach varying from no width at all at high tide to about 100 feet at the widest place.

Prof. John P. Dodge, head of the petroleum department of University of Southern California, who has had considerable practical experience as an oil geologist, expressed the opinion that the city probably should permit exploitation of the lands. It is not certain yet, he said, whether the probabilities of the field warrant this, but if they prove to do so, he thinks the city should lease the lands and derive the revenue from them.

There is no reason, he said, why private wells at the tide edge, or at the farthest 100 feet back, should be permitted to pollute the ocean against bathing there. He asserted that if, as is proposed, wells be kept at least 300 feet offshore a lot of good beach will be left for public use and the revenue obtained from the oil can be used, as the city proposes, to buy more public beach elsewhere. Dodge said

CLARA'S BACK! BUT WHAT A CHANGE---FROM DALLAS

Clara Bow

Clara Bow, titian-haired motion-picture actress, didn't terminate a trust fund of $25,000 to settle a threatened alienation-of-affections suit.

She didn't go to Dallas, Tex., to pay a visit to a young doctor there whose wife is supposed to have received $30,000 in settlement of the suit two years ago.

She didn't and never has paid one penny to anybody to settle any lawsuit out of court.

She has never met nor has she ever seen the wife of the professional man nor her attorneys.

She still has the $25,000 which was withdrawn from the trust fund.

Summed up, these are the highlights of her comment yesterday regarding her recent visit to Dallas, which developed a sensation when she was quoted as saying everything she denied on her arrival here.

Alighting from the Santa Fe Chief last evening from New York, Miss Bow was all denials. In other words, it was much ado about nothing—that is, all the reports which came from Texas during her short but sensational visit.

Added to all this, she and Harry Richman, New York night-club owner and vaudeville entertainer, still are very much in love. But she could not or would not answer di-

HOLIDAY BRINGS TRAGEDY

Four Face Blindness as Result of Powder Blast; Large Number of Celebrants Injured

Seared in premature explosions, three men and a boy are threatened with either partial or total loss of their sight and a large number of others are being treated for various injuries as the result of Fourth of July celebrations in and near the city yesterday.

The outstanding mishap of the day occurred in a garage at 761 West California street, Glendale, when a quantity of high explosives five men were mixing preparatory to fashioning holiday torpedoes exploded and sent the five to the hospital besides wrecking the garage.

Those injured in the blast are John E. Larson of the West California street address, whose eyes are so badly burned he may lose the sight of both; George G. Larson, his father burned on the shoulders; George W. Larson, his brother, burned on both hands; Scott Counter, 5151 Lockhaven, Eagle Rock, who received almost the full force of the explosion in the abdomen, and William Johnson, 5153 Lomita avenue, Eagle Rock, burned about the eyes.

As the blast ripped away the sides of the garage and hurled the roof high in the air, neighbors summoned help and an ambulance from the Glendale Emergency Hospital rushed to the scene with several surgeons. None of the injured men was able to account for the explosion.

Lynn Knapp, 7 years of age, is in General Hospital with a seriously injured right eye, the cornea of which was fractured, surgeons report, when he applied a match to a torpedo near his home at 4047 East Fifty-third street, Maywood.

Another who may lose an eye is D. Dellenbach of La Verne, whose optic was severely burned by a firecracker tossed into his automobile by an unidentified holiday celebrant. The accident happened as Dellenbach was driving through Pomona. He is at Pomona Community Hospital.

A firecracker also accounted for minor injuries to John Roy Adams, 26, a butcher, of 1141 West Thirty-fifth street. Adams held the firecracker too long after igniting it, he told police, and landed in Georgia-

Malibu Ranch War Renewed As Squatters Again Try to Force Case Into Co

GUARDS BATTLE HOMESTEADERS

Throngs Witness Attempts to Oust Veterans

New Steps Taken to Acquire Valuable Beach Land

Matter Expected to Gain Court Hearing

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, July 4.—Squatters attempting to gain a foothold on valuable Malibu Ranch property north of here, may win what they openly declare will be a technical victory if they succeed tomorrow in getting their case into court on warrants charging destruction of property.

While hundreds of excited holiday autoists cheered, jeered and did their best to encourage a fight, five armed guards of the ranch, at a point ten miles north of Las Flores Canyon, this morning forcibly evicted E. P. Walters, Corvallis (Or.) insurance man, a World War aviator, from the property.

The scuffle, mixed with periods of persuasion and heated argument, lasted close to an hour, with Walters clinging to the wire-mesh fence like a burr. His clothing was torn to shreds and his face was cut during his violent resistance. Foreman Van Tol of the ranch and the five guards, were under the handicap of orders not to shoot or use their fists.

The trouble had been anticipated by Capt. Hanby, of the Sheriff's office, who had deputies on hand. Private ranch guards patrolled the entire nineteen and one-half miles of threatened highway and beach frontage, for word had gone out that another attempt was to be made by "squatters" to file location notices, basing their claims on the assertion that the original grant did not include the shoreland strip.

UNDER ARREST

When the fence was cut, Van Tol appealed to Capt. Hanby to arrest Walters, who was inside the cut fence; but the Sheriff's officer declared that as long as it was a private affair on private land the county could not interfere.

Walters and another entryman, James H. Harney, head of the Harney Travel Bureau, 205 Santa Monica Boulevard, this city, were placed under arrest by Van Tol, who is a special officer. Harney freely admitted cutting the fence in another place, apparently inviting arrest. It has been known that the organization of squatters has desired to get the case into the courts ever since charges of trespass, filed against twelve squatters last month, were dismissed by Justice of the Peace Webster, of the Malibu Township Court in Las Flores, on request of Marc F. Mitchell, attorney for the Marblehead Land Company, the organization through which the ranch is operated.

TECHNICAL VICTORY

Following the arrests Van Tol hiked his prisoners to the Justice Court, but Judge Webster refused to issue warrants charging destruction of property. The judge declared it was after midnight and a legal holiday.

Van Tol stated the warrants will be sought tomorrow.

A technical victory in this morning's row seemed to many observers to have been won by the squatters. Unquestionably they now will get their case into court, for members of the group promised that within thirty days 250 or more location notices will be posted.

Nine relocation notices were posted last night, and these, unlike the original notices staked—all of which have been torn down in the interim—were prefaced with a warning and a signed guarantee that $250 reward will be paid for information leading to the conviction of any person who mutilates or in any way disturbs the notice. The warning quotes United States penal statutes designated as Section 19 of the Act of March 4, 1909.

SYSTEMATIC PLAN

The group arrived shortly after midnight and in systematic fashion proceeded to carry out their coup. Ranch guards had been stationed all along the threatened area, and when the fence cutting started, Van Tol and his men found themselves confronting a difficult situation. It grew more difficult as Walters refused to leave the property.

When he was finally picked up and dragged out bodily, his fellow-squatter, Harney, accused Van Tol of having kicked Walters in the scuffle. At that moment Walters, his coat badly torn and his face bleeding from some barbed-wire cuts, was just rising from the ground outside the fence, where he had been deposited.

"You're a liar!" Van Tol replied; and for a moment the thrilled spectators thought a real fight had started.

To the disappointment of the crowd, Sheriff's officers intervened.

Those who posted notices this morning, together with Walters and Harney, are W. W. Schoene, Box 31, Oxnard, World War veteran, said to have filed also on a squatter's claim in Big Sycamore Canyon, farther up the highway; Max Thomsen, proprietor of the Carmel Hotel, this city, a Spanish War veteran; H. J. Young, Inglewood; Roy M. Johnson, Los Angeles; Capt. Harding of the University of California, a Spanish War veteran; Sol Rhodes, World War avaitor of Santa Monica, and O. F. Arvidson, former commander of the Santa Monica Legion Post, prominent here. Harney is a director in the Santa Monica post.

The new notices are similar, with the dates advanced, to those originally posted. They recite that the signer is a qualified entryman the war veteran and that he claims prior right to entry under the act of May 14, 1880. The signatures were made before notaries.

Further revelations regarding the basis of their claims on the coastal frontage of the Rancho Topanga Malibu Sequit were made by members of the squatters' organization today. Maps were produced and the statement made that in Book 1, page 459, of Patents, in the Los Angeles County Recorder's office, records show that the disputed southerly boundary of the ranch was established by United States governmental decree in 1872 as a "meander line," or metes and bounds border, which is in some places as much as 1500 feet from the mean high-tide line. Squatters claimed that under the treaty of 1848, after the Mexican War, the Malibu grant got only 13,500 acres. Thousands of acres more have been acquired since by purchase, it was stated.

The Malibu grant was surveyed with a meander-line boundary on the coastal side, claimants said, because no one then foresaw what great value the beaches would reach with the years.

That the government had issued title to a squatter in the only similar case of the kind in this State also was asserted. A man named George A. Harlan is said to have acquired this title to a point of seaside land at Lucia, Monterey county.

Squatters today declared that within thirty days they will have the original claims relocated by 250 or more war-veteran entrymen, and that the next step will be to petition for a survey by the cadastral engineer, Frank E. Barker, at San Francisco. This morning's claims are to be filed at the County Courthouse tomorrow, it was stated.

They seem to regard the forcible eviction of Walters as a triumph for their cause, asserting it will legally establish the time of their entry with the purpose of starting the required improvements.

Tonight at 9 o'clock the squatters, with many friends, planned to drive back to the scene and hold a fireworks demonstration along the highway. Whether the Sheriff's officers would interfere because of possible fire hazard is problematical.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS START ON TOUR

Large Southland Group Will Spend Two Months in Europe

Travel on Special Train

Directors of the party are (left to right): J. J. Mullin Edward Purpus, State Advocate; Benno Brink, former State Advocate; Dr. Martin J. O'Malley, Spiritual Advisor; Thomas B. Flanagan, Financial Secretary; Frank McGowan, State Deputy, and Clement Nye, Grand Knight, Los Angeles Council No. 621.

HEADED by Dr. Martin J. O'Malley, pastor of St. Vincent's Catholic Church, more than 100 Knights of Columbus and their friends from Southern California left yesterday on a special Union Pacific train for New York and a two-months' tour of Europe.

In this group were distinguished national and State officers of the organization who were bid farewell by hundreds of relatives and friends at the Central Station.

Dr. O'Malley will be spiritual advisor on the trip which will be featured by a special performance of the Passion Play at Oberammergau and an exclusive audience with Pope Pius in Rome. The party will sail from New York July 9 on the Cunard liner Tuscania.

WORLD TRAFFIC STUDY SET

Mrs. Irish Chosen as Envoy to Gather Data for Use in Handling Olympic Games Crowds

Women at the wheel have earned the right to special consideration in the world's traffic laws, and in order that Los Angeles may have the best rules that exist a woman will set forth this evening on a tour of more than a dozen countries on the other side of the Atlantic to bring back information for use during the Olympic Games in 1932.

The woman entrusted with this unusual mission is Mrs. Leland Atherton Irish, chairman of the Los Angeles Citizens' Committee on Traffic Safety.

Carrying letters from Chief of Police Steckel and Deputy Chief Davis, she will make a general survey of traffic conditions and rules in the countries she is to visit, but will give special thought to the problem from the woman's angle, a representative of the Olympic Games committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, for which she is making the tour, yesterday explained.

"Hundreds of thousands of visitors will come to Los Angeles for the Olympic Games," this representative said. "Los Angeles wants to benefit by the experience of the leading countries of Europe on how best to handle the traffic problems created by this great influx of visitors from all countries of the world.

"Mrs. Irish will bring back the best information these countries have to offer, and particularly from the standpoint of traffic as they apply specially to women."

The hour set for Mrs. Irish's departure is 6.15 p.m. when she will start in a special car attached to the Southern Pacific Limited for Montreal.

On July 11, she will sail from that city aboard the Steamship Letitia of the Cunard Line for Glasgow, where she will start the survey that will take her into almost every leading country east of the Atlantic.

So far as the limitations of time permit, Mrs. Irish will go into every phase of the traffic problem, returning finally to Cherbourg, France, whence she will sail for New York September 18.

She is expected to be back in Los Angeles about October 1.

CHANGES MADE IN ZONING LAW

New Ordinance Effective After Midnight

Nomenclature Alterations Principal Difference

Closer Classification Fixed for Residential Areas

The new general zoning ordinance recently adopted by the City Council and signed by the Mayor to replace the existing ordinance in operation for nine years goes into effect at midnight tonight.

Except in a new system for nomenclature for the various zones the creation of two new intermediate classes of residential zones and one new intermediate commercial zone and the fixing of a definite procedure to be followed in administering the law, there is little difference between the new ordinance and the one it supersedes.

The new ordinance does not affect any of the existing zoning except in the matter of nomenclature. For instance, the present A Zone property will remain in the single-family residence zone, but will be called R1 instead of A.

OLD LETTERS DROPPED

The old zone titles of A, B, C, D and E will be dropped and all residential zones will have the letter R, all commercial zones the letter C and all manufacturing zones the letter M. The subclassifications are designated by number.

Thus, as Zone A becomes R-1, the old B Zone becomes R4. R2 and R3 are the new intermediate zones. They have been designed to accommodate property owners who wish to use their property for small multiple dwellings and at the same time be protected from the encroachment of large multiple-story apartment-houses and hotels, at present permitted in B Zone, which has been the only zone in which small multiple dwellings could be built.

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS

In Zone R-2, the houses to be erected are not to contain more than four apartments per lot, their height is to be limited to two and a half stories and the area to be covered by buildings, not including garages, is not to be greater than 60 per cent of an inside lot or 70 per cent of a corner lot.

In Zone R-3 the height limitation is four stories and the area limitation is the same as in R-2. In addition boarding houses, churches, school and fraternity houses are placed in this zone.

In the commercial zones, C-2 is the same as the present C zone. The intermediate zone, which will be known as C-3, is designed to protect strictly retail sections from such light manufacturing establishments as carpenter shops, tinsmiths, etc. The specifications for Zone C-3 will be the same as for C-2 except that not more than 15 per cent of the total floor area of a building in this zone may be used for light manufacturing in connection with a retail business and not more than 10 per cent of the floor area in connection with a wholesale business.

NAME CHANGE ONLY

Except for simplified wording there has been no change in specifications for manufacturing zones. The present M zone becomes M-2 and the present E zone becomes M-3. These are respectively light and heavy industrial or manufacturing zones.

The present zoning ordinance is subject only to charter limitations and custom, there being nothing in it regarding procedure to be followed in making zone changes, granting variances and in notifying property owners of public hearings. All these matters are fully covered in the new ordinance and it also incorporates a provision that a petition bearing the signatures of at least 60 per cent of the property owners affected must be submitted before a change from an existing zone to a more restricted one can be considered.

ANCIENT GUN BARKS AGAIN

Courthouse Cannon Acclaims Fourth

Century's Silence Broken

RECALLING the firing of anvils that awoke denizens of the horseshoe age recently closed, on the Glorious Fourth, enthusiastic patriots yesterday afternoon loaded and fired the ancient cannon in front of the Courthouse steps, ordnance that has not reverberated since the war for California independence, nearly 100 years ago.

Despite the age of the venerable weapon, it performed in what observers declared was a creditable manner, the roar of the salutes attracting a small crowd from the few business houses open along North Broadway, arousing the amused interest of deputy sheriffs on duty in the Hall of Justice and startling flocks of pigeons in the Courthouse tower.

One nervous and elderly woman called police headquarters, but the ensuing investigation disclosed that the old field piece had been loaded with photographer's flashlight powder, detonating of which in the city limits is legalized by a special ordinance.

ACTRESS AND ADMIRER DISPUTE DREAM HOUSE

A dream house figures in the legal fight of Iris Ashton, screen actress, to prevent Walter J. Browning, wealthy London mining engineer, from taking it away, papers on file yesterday reveal. In the struggle for the property was divulged a strange story of broken friendship.

Browning, owner of mines in Spain and Mexico, is 60 years of age, and a lifelong friend of the screen actress's parents, Frank and Cora Ashton. The British engineer complained that in 1922 he sent $17,000 for the purchase of a property at 518 Westmoreland avenue. The elder Ashtons were to hold this dream house in trust for him, although their daughter Iris was to occupy it until he claimed it, Browning asserted. He added that Frank and Cora Ashton wrongfully transferred title to Iris Ashton in 1924, but that he did not learn of it until four years later.

Miss Ashton contends that the dream house was an outright gift to her, and that she cannot understand why the wealthy mining man has changed his mind. She produced letters written by Browning from Madrid and New York in 1922.

One letter reads:

"I arrived this morning (in Madrid) and posted the remaining $5000, completing the $17,000 the dream house has cost. You will have a home no one can take from you."

Browning made a special trip here to testify at the hearing before Superior Judge Cabaniss, returning to London after one day in Los Angeles. The engineer said he only intended to provide a home for Miss Ashton, whom he knew as a child, and that he did not intend it as an outright gift. With the plaintiff absent the case will be continued Wednesday.

OFFICER KILLED BY CRAZED NEGRO

Drunken Man Runs Amuck on Central Avenue

Threatens to Slay All Found in Sight

Draws Gun on Police and Dies Instead

Running amuck with a gun on Twelfth street and Central avenue, threatening the lives of all persons, a liquor-crazed Negro was shot and killed yesterday afternoon in an attempt to shoot it out with Officers Wooby and Fisher of the street station.

Investigation by homicide detectives after he was killed revealed his identity as Julius [illegible], 30 years of age, and further investigation revealed that he had a long criminal record.

When the officers, responding to a call that an armed Negro was creating a reign of terror on Central avenue, reached the scene they found the Negro had fled from a car at the news-stand operated by Antonio Broguiere at Twelfth and Central avenues, where he bought a newspaper and refused to pay for it. When the news vendor insisted on payment, Broguiere said, produced the gun and threatened to kill him. The Negro staggered on up the street and is said to have brandished the gun, threatening to kill everyone in sight.

As Officer Wooby leaped from his police car the Negro again drew his gun and was about to take aim at the policeman when Wooby fired, killing him instantly. The Negro, according to witnesses, fired first, the Negro to put up his hands and fired only when it was necessary to protect his own life. The Negro's body was taken to the county Morgue.

Six Buildings Destroyed by La Jolla Fire

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

ANAHEIM, July 4.—A pool hall, a dance hall, a store and three residences in the Mexican settlement at La Jolla, four miles north of Anaheim, were destroyed late this afternoon by fire believed to have been started by a leaking gas connection in the kitchen at the rear of one of the business places.

The value of the destroyed property is estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000 by the owners. Andrew Hernandez is the proprietor of the three business places, and Jose Valencia is said to be the owner of the residences.

The Anaheim Fire Department responded, but was not able to aid materially because of an insufficient water supply.

Noted Publicity Counselor Here for Short Visit

Ivy Lee, publicity and advertising counselor, arrived here yesterday afternoon over the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines. He is accompanied by Mrs. Lee for a short vacation on the Pacific Coast.

IVY LEE

Lee is adviser for public relations to the T.A.T. - Maddux Air Lines, Standard Oil, United States Steel, Pennsylvania Railroad, Bankers' Trust, several European governments and other organizations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee were met at Grand Central Air Terminal by H. W. Beck, traffic manager, and Lieut. D. W. Tomlinson, chief of operations for the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines. The Wampas will have Lee as its guest of honor Monday night at the Roosevelt.

Three Will be Returned Here for Resentence

Deputy United States Marshal Rice left yesterday for McNeil Island Federal prison to bring back Frank J. Pritchett, former cashier of the First National Bank of Culver City; E. H. Grose, a former jeweler of that city, and R. R. Westfall, a broker, to be resentenced.

It was discovered that Pritchett, convicted of misapplication of bank funds, had been sentenced to five months in prison for each of five counts, making twenty-five months in prison, and that Grose and Westfall, accomplices, were sentenced to three months on each of five counts. It was stated that in order to serve in the Federal prison they must be sentenced to at least a year and a day on at least one count. Because of this the three will be taken before United States District Judge Cosgrave to be resentenced.

HUNDRED NAMED IN CONDEMNATION ACTION

Condemnation proceedings have been instituted in United States District Court by Asst. U. S. Atty. Walker against more than 100 persons to clear title to the proposed site at the Plaza, San Pedro, for a postoffice. Because of the many conflicting Spanish claims upon the land it was necessary to include a large number of persons in the condemnation action.

Torture Set Up in Divorce Plea

Mrs. Maxine D. Morgan, seeking a divorce on grounds of cruelty, told Superior Judge Westover that her husband, Daniel J. Morgan, held lighted matches against her face to make her obey him, it was disclosed by Superior Court records yesterday.

Mrs. Morgan also asserted that her husband made her go out into the rain to buy cigarettes "just to show who was boss." The divorce was granted.

Soldier Home Veteran's Body Sought in Sea

Lifeguards and Santa Monica police yesterday sought the body of Dillon J. Perry, 60 years of age, of the Soldiers' Home, following the discovery of his clothing and other personal property on the beach.

Among his effects was found a letter addressed to Mrs. D. J. Perry of 311 Roosevelt avenue, Long Beach, supposedly a farewell note. The clothing, letter and other property were turned over to police by Capt. George McManus of the lifeguard force. Police said Perry was at liberty on bond pending a hearing on asserted mistreatment of a child.

Identification was established by means of a driver's license found in a coat pocket.

EXTRADITION HEARING AWAITED BY BANKER

Pasqual Sabatino, formerly assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Roseta, Pa., is awaiting a hearing before United States Commissioner Head on removal to that town to face a charge of misapplication of bank funds. Sabatino was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Lessner. It is charged he misapplied about $17,000 of the bank's money.

NEW GREEK THEATER WILL OPEN EARLY IN AUGUST

Work on the new Greek theater in Griffith Park, which has been under way for the last six months, is expected to be completed by the end of the month, and the theater should be open for use early in August, according to President Van Griffith of the Park Commission and son of the late Col. Griffith J. Griffith, who gave the park to the city and provided funds in his will for the theater.

While efforts have been made by a number of organizations to observe the opening date with plays, all such arrangements have been tabled by the Park Commission, which has not yet decided what form the dedication will take.

The new structure, while of Greek architectural design, is declared by the park department to be more adequately equipped for stage productions than any other structure of the kind in the country.

It will seat 4300 persons, each seat being arranged so that the occupant may have a clear view of the stage. An organ in the orchestra pit is so arranged that it may be raised for organ recitals, in addition to the musical pageants and plays for which the structure has been erected.

Dressing-rooms beneath the stage are so arranged that they can be used by 200 persons, with separate rooms for officers and other executives. Provision is made for a small kitchen for the use of players and the theater will have an emergency hospital.

Parking space within 1000 feet of the theater provides for 2500 cars, and beneath the structure is a garage which will care for 200 cars of the players.

JURORS RETURN GUILTY VERDICT

ing in Superior Court. The documents were asserted to have been removed from the Julian company files while Miss Johnson was secretary to S. C. Lewis.

At that time Lavine was a reporter for the Los Angeles Examiner, a position he had held for more than ten years.

Miss Johnson, a former private secretary of S. C. Lewis, head of the defunct Julian Petroleum Corporation, and Lavine had collaberated on a series of articles. The articles were described as an expose of the inner working of the Julian debacle, and were prepared under the signature of Miss Johnson.

At a former trial the jury was unable to reach a verdict and was discharged after nearly five days' deliberation. The defendants, on that occasion, rested their case without offering a defense, arguing that the prosecution had failed to establish a case.

Police are investigating the cause of the asserted suicide.

Brooks to Rest at Lone Pine

Frank H. Brooks, member of the Board of Water and Power Commissioners, was reported to be resting comfortably yesterday at Lone Pine following an automobile accident on the Owens Valley highway when the car in which he and Mrs. Brooks were riding overturned.

Mr. Brooks was the only one hurt, suffering a fractured rib and general shock. It was first planned to remove him to Los Angeles yesterday in an ambulance but his condition was so improved this was thought unnecessary. The plan now is for him to rest at Lone Pine for several days.

Singapore Man Here on Tour

Life in Singapore has its moments, according to David Frankel, of Frankel Brothers, furniture dealers and commission agents, of the Far Eastern port.

At the Biltmore, Frankel said that some of the more exciting moments developed when tigers were driven out of the jungle, across a narrow strait into the city by the activities of the builders of a British naval base.

Frankel, his wife and their daughter, Sarina, are on a trip around the world. He says business in Singapore is dull because of depressed prices of rubber and tin.

IT'S LIKE THE ARMY NOW, CITY'S POLICEMEN VOW

Uniformed Los Angeles police officers must keep their hair trimmed and shave daily, according to new rules adopted by the Police Commission, which has decided that the men must keep their personal appearance on a par with their new uniforms.

To reinforce the morale of the department the commission has ruled that men in uniform must salute their superior officers in military style and the superior officers must acknowledge such salutes. In addressing a superior or retiring uniformed officers must always salute, according to the commission.

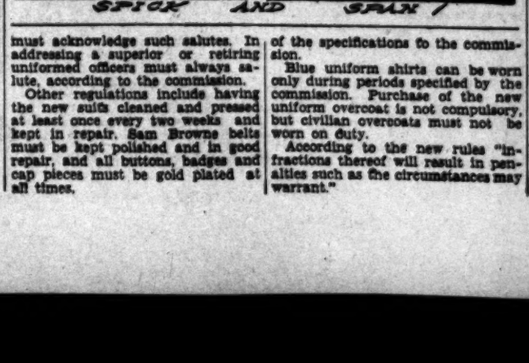
Other regulations include having the new suits cleaned and pressed at least once every two weeks and kept in repair. Sam Browne belts must be kept polished and in good repair, and all buttons, badges and cap pieces must be gold plated at all times.

Black shoes must be worn and they must be kept polished except in rainy weather. With low shoes black socks must be worn. White shirts, collars and ties as specified with new uniforms must be kept clean at all times.

In ordering new uniforms they must be submitted to Inspector Jackson for approval when made. Purchases of uniforms and equipment must be from merchants who have submitted a written guarantee of the specifications to the commission.

Blue uniform shirts can be worn only during periods specified by the commission. Purchase of the new uniform overcoat is not compulsory, but civilian overcoats must not be worn on duty.

According to the new rules "infractions thereof will result in penalties such as the circumstances may warrant."



City Detective Fined for Fire

Howard L. Olewine, who gave his address as 417 South Thomas street and his occupation as a Los Angeles detective, is $10 wiser regarding regulations as to fire building in national forests.

It was reported to Supervisor Mendenhall of Angeles National Forest that Olewine was refused a permit to build a fire in San Gabriel Canyon, but that he did so. The district is brush-covered and a serious fire hazard exists, it was stated.

The detective was arrested by Forest Ranger Fisher, taken before Justice Durrell of Azusa and fined $10.

Milk bottles are handy to end family rows, it was testified by Mrs. Evelyn Lindquist, whose divorce from Lawrence J. Lindquist was on file yesterday. She said her husband once struck her.

"My daughter by a prior marriage then hit him on the head with a milk bottle," Mrs. Lindquist testified. "It laid him out." She said she returned home one day and found a note from her husband saying he was compelled to leave her. Mrs. Lindquist was a chiropractor. She was represented by Attorney John A. Deweese. Superior Judge Yankwich granted her a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Chicago Gangster Placed in Solitary Cell Here

WORDS FAIL CITY'S ADMIRER

German Just Can't Express It

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Duisberg

OF COURSE Dr. Carl Duisberg of Berlin has little cause for complaint, being linguistically inclined, but his pretty and charming wife, still puzzling over the intricacies of English, confessed with a shake of her head that it is "schrecklich."

Yes, indeed, she declared, it is "schrecklich" to be obliged to restrict herself in her admiration of Los Angeles to such mild thoughts as that Los Angeles City is "sehr huebsch," or some other laudatory expression that, much to her chagrin, conveys only a faint idea of her inward thoughts.

Dr. Duisberg is a former secretary to the German Minister of Foreign Affairs, and his father is president of the great I. G. of Germany. Two of his brothers are influential figures in the dye world. The Los Angeles visitor, however, breaking with the family tradition, went into motion-picture work in Germany.

Mrs. Duisberg appeared in pictures four years in Germany under the name of Viola Garden, but gave up her career with her marriage. The couple will be here several weeks before returning to Germany. They are at the Ambassador.

EXPERTS SPEAK ON SURF WELLS

ENGINEER'S VIEWS

J. E. Eaton, an independent oil engineer and writer for oil publications, said:

"There is not much public beach left for Los Angeles and generally I'd say preserve all that is left. But the question is whether the city will get enough out of oil royalties to compensate it for loss of the beach. Private encroachment already has killed the beach as high-class beach property.

"If the noise in the private field is reduced by electrification the beach will be patronized and the question of drilling then on the ocean side would drop the beach a notch further, but it might yield the city much revenue.

"I don't think so much of the field at present. The oil prospects should be determined scientifically and then the city can figure out whether the revenue will offset the damage."

QUESTION OF POLLUTION

"Venice beach is practically gone right now and the city should get what it can out of the oil," is the way Stark Fox, associate editor of California Oil World, puts it. "It is certain that the beach will be virtually ruined as a recreation center by extension of private drilling.

"It would be possible theoretically, but probably not practically, to keep the beach clean with oil wells at the tide edge. Wells in the ocean would not add much, if any more, to the despoliation."

Drilling on private property at water edge and in the ocean will not necessarily mean any pollution of the beach, in the opinion of Martin Van Couver, an independent engineer. He said precautions against pollution of the beach either from shore or ocean wells are well within the range of engineering feasibility.

DELAY ADVISED

"The city should hold back awhile until it be determined whether the field is any good," Thor Warner, another independent engineer, said. "If the field appears prolific then it will be time enough for action."

He expressed doubts about the future of the field as a producer.

Among other engineers interviewed some are of the opinion that ocean drilling can be made clean enough that no pollution will result. Still others believe that no matter how much precaution is taken the beach will be polluted by oil refuse and debris from the private wells, regardless of whether the city permits ocean wells and, because of this, they hold the city might as well get in on the revenue.

Peeping Tom Suspect Held

A weakness for peering into bathroom windows yesterday led to the arrest of a man giving his name as William Krieger, 26 years of age, following his capture by J. R. Hurt and several other pursuers at 115 West Fifteenth street.

Police have received numerous complaints of a Peeping Tom operating in that district. Hurt took up the chase after he saw the captive prowling about a home near his own. Police say he has confessed to previous arrests. He gave his address as 203 West Sixteenth street and his occupation as cook.

THOUSANDS JOIN IN CELEBRATION

white and blue flowers fell at his feet. The evening program included a display of fireworks. The One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry band, Roberta's Golden State Band and Barney Owens's orchestra furnished the music at different periods during the day.

Customary Fourth of July color of the port's Man-o'-War Row was improved yesterday noon by several score white-winged yachts, which cruised about the bedecked fighting craft to bid bon voyage to the four craft departing on the 2227-mile race to Honolulu.

As Lazard Lippman's graceful 102-foot sloop Talayha crossed the starting line off Breakwater Light, leading the Contender, Mollilou and Enchantress, all combatant navy craft present burst forth with the national twenty-one-gun salute, celebrating the 154th anniversary of the nation's independence. As the echoes of the first salvos died away, the shore batteries at Fort MacArthur fired the same salute.

All fleet units were decked out with the multihued draperies of international code flags, from stem to stern, while practically every merchantman in port likewise was in full dress. Visitors were welcomed during the day aboard the fleet flagship Texas, flying the four-starred pendant of Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet and ranking American naval officer afloat; as well as aboard the destroyers, Hovey, Long and Dorsey, the giant aircraft carrier Saratoga, the hospital ship Relief and the train flagship Procyon. Other units of the battle fleet were absent on a Fourth of July visiting program, which scattered battleships and destroyers the length of the Pacific Coast.

At Plummer Park, a reunion of the Irish people of Southern California was held. Joseph Scott was one of the principal speakers. A large crowd was in attendance. Scott declared that the spirit of '76 represents an ideal that is ever before the Irish people. Irish songs and dancing, together with an athletic program, featured the afternoon.

Various playgrounds held open house to the children of the neighborhoods and their parents. Fireworks displays featured the evening, funds having been provided for the purchase of the pyrotechnics by the City Council.

At the Temple, Echo and Glendale playgrounds athletic programs were held at 2 o'clock. At Verdugo and Yosemite playgrounds the programs lasted nearly all day. At Terminal Island, across from San Pedro, the playground was the scene of an all-day celebration. At Knickerbocker Field, at the East Los Angeles yards of the Union Pacific system, the Japanese held a celebration.

Many reunions of town and State societies were held yesterday. The Colorado State organization met at 1024 South Grand avenue last night and presented a program. Former residents of Fort Scott and Concordia, Kan., held their annual picnic at Sycamore Grove Park all day yesterday.

ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED

The golden wedding anniversary of Rome Miller, 75 years of age, president of the Taverners' Association, and Mrs. Miller was celebrated yesterday at their home, 2065 North Catalina street. Mr. Miller owns two of the largest hotels in Omaha, Neb. He and his wife were married at Vermillion, S. D., in 1881.

SPOUSE CALLING EVENT FLOPS

Wives Probably Too Hoarse From Forced Shouting at Home

The Hollenbeck Heights Improvement Association has one for the expert in social science to fathom. The association announced a husband-calling contest as part of its day-long celebration at Hollenbeck Park yesterday. No entrants for the contest appeared, so the show was called off. The problem is: Do husbands of Los Angeles stay so close to home that their wives do not have to call them, or have they become so hopeless their wives have given up calling them?

CITY FESTIVAL ACTION SLATED

Supervisors to Act Monday on Sesquicentennial

Co-operation With Council Urged by Graves

Gigantic Fete Lasting for Month Proposed

Acting on the recent suggestion of Sidney T. Graves, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, that body will probably take formal action at its regular meeting Monday relative to a plan for co-operating with city officials for a huge sesquicentennial celebration next year to mark the founding of Los Angeles 150 years ago.

According to Supervisor Graves one of the first steps that should be taken is the formation of a joint committee from the Board of Supervisors and the City Council to arrange for a proper observance of the anniversary. Following the organization of such joint committee, Graves declares, a meeting should be called of representatives of the various civic groups, the Chamber of Commerce, welfare and promotion bodies, women's clubs, railroad and steamship lines and hotel operators.

It is the suggestion of the county officials and others that a celebration lasting all of thirty days, with a background of early-day Spanish color and pageantry, should be held.

Thousands of visitors, it is believed, would be attracted to the city and Southern California during the period of the fete. The festival, it has been pointed out, would be a fitting forerunner of the Olympic Games to be held here in 1932.

EX-LEGION CHAPLAIN AIDS FITTS

Edmondson Praises Work of District Attorney in Behalf of Veterans

Voicing praise of the work performed by Buron Fitts in behalf of veterans, W. E. Edmondson, past State chaplain, American Legion, Department of California, yesterday indorsed Fitts's candidacy for Governor. In his letter of indorsement, Edmondson credited to Fitts the Veterans' Welfare Act, which enabled thousands of veterans to secure homes and farms, and commended him generally for zealous service in the cause of veterans. He predicted that the majority of ex-service men in California will work for Fitts's success.

His letter follows, in part:

"It gives me great pleasure to indorse your candidacy for Governor of the State of California. I have known you for over eleven years and have been closely connected with the work you have done in the Legion, and with the State veterans; of the work done among the disabled veterans; your untiring efforts in making possible the Veterans' Welfare Act which enabled thousands of veterans to procure home and farms; your work throughout the State in behalf of the American Legion Endowment Fund for the benefit of widows and orphans of ex-service men, and know how sincere, honest and fearless you have been in all this great work.

"I also know of your work here as District Attorney, and know, too, that you have done as fearless work here as no other District Attorney has ever attempted in this State.

"I sincerely trust that your field may be enlarged so that your talents may be given to the State where it is so much needed. We need someone at the helm who will not trick nor trade, but with fearlessness will direct the business of one of the greatest States in the Union. I feel sure that every ex-service man will feel it his duty to help make possible your election as Governor of California.

"I shall take pleasure in doing everything I can to advance your cause."

Funeral Rites to be Today for Sister Superior

With a solemn requiem mass attended by Bishop John J. Cantwell, funeral services will be conducted in the chapel at Queen of Angels Hospital, 2301 Bellevue avenue, at 9:30 a.m. today for Sister Superior M. Luitzardis, foundress of the institution, who died early Thursday after a five months' illness. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Sister Luitgardis was 52 years of age and a native of St. Gallen, Switzerland. She came to this country thirty-five years ago, entering the mother house of the Franciscan Sisters of the Sacred Heart at Joliet, Ill., as a novitiate. In 1925 she was summoned to Los Angeles to found the hospital. She leaves a mother, two sisters and three brothers, all in Switzerland.

'Mountain Top' Seller's Trial Nearing Close

Trial of Sam Mooes, Los Angeles real estate broker, accused of selling mountaintops to investors by representing that they would be under Boulder Dam irrigation, is expected to come to a close early next week.

Mooes has been on trial before United States District Judge James for nearly three weeks on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

It is charged the land he sold was too high in elevation to receive benefits from Boulder Dam. Testimony will probably be completed early next week.

STORK DUE TO VISIT HOME OF ACTRESS

Norma Shearer

Despite a secretive attitude on the part of Norma Shearer and her husband, Irving Thalberg, friends of the actress are preparing congratulations to be given upon the prospective arrival of the stork at the Thalberg home. The latter part of September or the first of October is the time set for the event by those who are close to the couple.

Miss Shearer and Mr. Thalberg have persistently declined to discuss the prospects of an heir, but their friends predict the arrival.

CLARA RETURNS DENYING TALES

rectly a question whether they are going to be married.

"He's a darling," was her response to the question.

"But, Miss Bow, you were asked whether you and Harry will be married."

"That's hard to say," she responded. "You see we can never be married as long as I must remain in Hollywood and he in New York. They're writing a new play for him, so it appears he won't be able to come to Hollywood soon. But we are still engaged."

"How about Rex Bell?" she was asked.

"Oh, we're just good friends. He is really nice, too."

"Do you think you and Richman will ever be married?"

"That depends entirely on whether our careers will ever change so that we can be together. I'd never be married to anyone from whom I'd have to be separated."

Her explanation of a trust fund which was created under the terms of a "behavior clause" in her contract with Paramount was something like this:

She went to the Paramount executives two years ago and told them she needed money and wanted a raise. They told her that they could not give her a raise, but that they would agree to end the trust fund based on a so-called behavior clause in her contract and give her the money. At that time the fund contained $26,000.

So she took the $26,000 and placed it in still another trust fund which had been created under her own name. In addition to all this, Miss Bow said, she receives a $10,000 bonus after completion of each of her pictures.

"Then you didn't use the $26,000 to pay off a threatened lawsuit?" she was asked.

"Why, that's ridiculous," she answered. "I never paid off any lawsuit. As far as the doctor's wife is concerned I never met her or saw her.

"I did meet the doctor in Los Angeles about two years ago. I was never aware that he was married. How was I to know? I meet thousands of men and go out with many. Is it for me to inquire into their personal affairs? As soon as I heard he was married we didn't see each other any more."

Miss Bow explained that it all got started in Dallas when a woman from a newspaper interviewed her.

"The next morning I was amazed when all those things came out in the paper," she continued. "I was terribly misquoted. She said things I didn't say. She just put two and two together. Why, I didn't even know that the doctor was in Dallas until she told me.

"I went there to see three kids I have known for years. I went for a quiet rest. It was far from that."

Miss Bow admitted that Dr. William Earl Pearson, young Dallas physician, and his father accompanied them on a party to a night resort near Dallas. She said there were nine others on the party, as well. She said she understood that Dr. Pearson and his wife had become reconciled. This information, she asserted, came to her from friends in Dallas. She saw the doctor in Dallas only this one time, she asserted.

Mrs. Pearson was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Dr. Pearson in Los Angeles October 30, 1928. She filed her suit for divorce on the ground of nonsupport October 17, 1928. It was on this date that Miss Bow's trust fund was terminated with the consent of Paramount studio executives.

At the time she was in Dallas she was quoted as saying she took the $26,000 from the trust fund and added $4000 of her own money to it to pay it to a doctor's wife to settle a love-balm suit. From Dallas she was quoted as saying she made the visit there when information came to her indicating the woman had never received the money.

Anyway, now Clara says none of it was true. She had a nice visit with Richman in New York but she didn't have on her engagement ring. It's reported worth $10,000 and Clara said she didn't want to wear it for fear of being robbed.

At all events, she said, it was a "bum vacation."

street Receiving Hospital for his carelessness. After emergency treatment he was able to go home.

Jack Ober, 12, of 2330 Cochran street lighted a sparkler to learn how it would look in daylight. The sparkler flared up unexpectedly and burned the lad's left hand so severely he required hospital treatment.

An even half-dozen casualties were reported from Pasadena, none of which, however, is expected to have fatal results.

Dick Strelsky, 9, of 401 Woodbury Road incurred serious burns about his mouth when a lighted firecracker he had placed between his teeth exploded. Dick explained with swollen lips that he got his punk and his firecracker mixed, throwing the punk into the air and placing the sizzling cracker in his mouth.

Harold Schuster, 22, of 426 North Vernon avenue had both his index fingers partly amputated when a toy cannon, primed for firing, went off prematurely. After first-aid had been administered Schuster was rushed to the Pasadena Hospital.

Thomas Rose, 10, of 1725 Banning Way narrowly missed death when a large cap gun blew up and a fragment embedded itself in his neck dangerously near his jugular vein.

Everett Griffith, 14, of 345 North Allen avenue, was burned about his legs when a giant cracker, placed in his pocket by a young humorist, exploded, tearing off part of the victim's clothing.

The only girl firecracker victim is Peggy Wels, 9, of 187 South Mentor avenue, who was burned about her hands and wrists.

Mrs. Elsie McManna of 1662 El Serrano avenue, was wounded in the right forearm by a rifle bullet as she was sitting in the living-room of her home. The shot tore through the screen door and detectives reported it was fired by a small boy, whom Mrs. McManna has refused to prosecute.

All those injured at Pasadena were treated at the emergency hospital there by Chief Surgeon C. C. Troelsegaard.

The West Los Angeles district was the scene of a freak accident, in which Charles Hadley, 1954 Greenfield avenue, sustained a lacerated nose when he was struck by an automobile while examining a firecracker which had failed to explode. Fred Dodge, 400 Bundy Driver, driver of the car, was not held.

Richard Caswell, 12, of 2341 Malcam street, Westwood, received lacerations of the right hand and chest when a large firecracker exploded as he prepared to throw it away. He was treated by a private physician.

After spending a night in jail, Kyle Baker, 25, of Pomona, obtained his release yesterday pending the outcome of a Coroner's inquest into the death there on Thursday of D. P. Whitney, middle-aged milk-route driver, as the result of a pre-Fourth accident. Baker, it is charged, threw a giant torpedo inside the cab of a creamery wagon driven by Whitney, the contents of the missile striking him near the right temple. Whitney died in an ambulance.

NUMEROUS BRUSH FIRES LAID TO FIRECRACKERS

Numerous brush fires attributed to fireworks imposed a burden on the fire department in Los Angeles and vicinity yesterday.

City and county firemen labored two hours to extinguish flames that burned over five acres in the 1900 block on Manchester avenue, and destroyed a small wooden building used as a real estate office.

Three additional hours of labor were necessitated by a stubborn grass fire at Forty-ninth street and Terrace avenue.

A third fire at Altamont and Isabel streets resisted the efforts of fighters for nearly two hours.

JAIL STEADY PROSPECT FOR STUBBORN FIREMAN

Earl C. Lester, former city fireman, finished his first week in jail yesterday because he steadfastly refuses to tell Superior Judge Westover where he concealed his 2-year-old child David, custody of whom was awarded Mrs. Stella G. Lester after a divorce trial.

Subsequently Lester borrowed the child to visit his grandmother in Utah. When he failed to bring the boy back within a reasonable time Mrs. Lester obtained a bench warrant. A few days later Lester came to Los Angeles, disguised in a red beard. Mrs. Lester recognized him and informed the police, but the man hid the child before he was arrested. He refuses to tell who is caring for his son.

Superior Judge Westover ordered Lester to jail until he discloses where the boy is hidden.

"I don't know where he is," said Lester. "I gave him to a friend of mine named Jones who lives in Arizona."

SUMMER SCHOOL TO OPEN

Pacific Palisades Association Announces Plans for Regular Six-Week Session

The ninth annual six-week program of the Pacific Palisades summer schools and assembly opens in Temescal Canyon at Pacific Palisades next Tuesday. Current world events of civic, religious, political and educational phases are to be presented each day. Additional features on the program will include illustrated travel lectures, clinics for children, instruction in music and summer schools from kindergarten to high school, according to the detailed program issued by the Pacific Palisades Association.

Registration opens Monday morning and will continue through Tuesday morning. Formal opening of the 1930 assembly will take place Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. with Dr. Waite presiding. The address of the afternoon will be given by Bishop Titus Lowe of Portland, Or.

Charles Wakefield Cadman will present his new song cycle, "White Enchantment," Wednesday night. Other concerts and addresses will complete the program for the first week.

Advance registration for grounds accommodations is heavier than recorded in any previous year, according to the management.

LOST GLORY

Naples has passed Rome as Italy's first city in population. Do the Italians prefer to admire Mussolini at a distance?

RUMBLING RUMANIA

Dowager Queen Marie says she hopes "everything will turn out for the best." But we are willing to wager that she has her fingers crossed.

HISTORICAL DEBUNKING

Now an English clergyman challenges the assertion that Henry VIII founded or established the Church of England. What is history, anyway?

JUST ISN'T BEING DONE

Senator Caraway admits that he made a serious comment without having the facts in front of him. How unusual it would sound to hear a politician speak from "facts."

INTEREST IN PARIS

The rate of interest in Paris not long ago was three-fourths of 1 per cent. This is the lowest rate on record. And we always supposed that Paris was piquant with interest.

ENCOURAGING FIGURES

Two hundred and twelve religious denominations in the United States claim membership of 44,380,000 persons above the age of 13. That is at least a relief from the crime statistics we have been deluged with of late.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING

Just when we begin to think that we have an inkling of what Einstein is driving at, along he comes with a new brain twister. But if some Senator will offer his head to science, perhaps an autopsy will reveal how space is eating up matter.

NICK OF TIME

A prize calf was pastured on a front lawn in McLean, Va. A thief abducted it and carried it away in his rumble seat and sold it to the slaughterhouse for $12. Time says the owner found it and brought it back in the nick of time. Removed in a rumble seat—returned in the nick of time!

NOTHING DOING

Gov. Long of Louisiana sought to get even with critical newspapers by urging the passage of a measure which would place a tax of 15 per cent on all their advertising. His administration has been exposed to considerable grilling by the press and while this is resented there are not enough legislators to pass the bill. The judgment of most of them is that the criticism was warranted. Any executive will have a hard time trying to punish the newspapers within his domain.

POLAR POSSESSIONS

On the strength of Admiral Byrd's discoveries the United States might lay claim to a large portion of Antarctica. The American flag has been planted there and is there still—unless the wind has blown it away. Title probably would not be questioned. But who wants Antarctica? Ownership usually goes with settlement. If any group of Americans wishes to settle within the shadow of the South Pole their title can be guaranteed, but otherwise there is no hurry in filing claims. The record is there any time it is needed.

TOO MANY YOUNGS

The circumstance that Milton K. Young, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has complied with the preliminaries which would entitle him to have his name also placed on the Republican ballot leads some of the backers of Gov. Young to call it a trick. They say that the plot is to confuse the uninformed voter with this double-header of Youngs on his party ballot and perhaps divide the vote. This would be too doggone bad. Nevertheless Gov. Young was one of the sponsors for the primary law which permits a candidate to run on the ticket of a party to which he does not belong and is, therefore, hardly in position to criticise when he finds himself a victim to its freakishness.

THE BILLINGS DECISION

Warren K. Billings, with Thomas J. Mooney, convicted of responsibility for the San Francisco Preparedness Day bomb outrage in July, 1916, that took the lives of ten persons and maimed many others, is not entitled to a pardon upon the showing of evidence as presented to the California Supreme Court, according to the findings of a majority of the court.

In a decision signed by the Chief Justice and three Associate Justices, and approved by two other Associate Justices, one Associate dissenting, the Supreme Court finds no merit in the contention of Billings that his conviction was obtained on perjured testimony or was the result of improper actions by the prosecuting authorities. Inferentially the same logic applies to the case of Mooney, although his case was not directly considered or passed upon by the court.

However, the decision says, the court finds itself moved to "an almost irresistible conclusion" that if Billings did not himself prepare and plant the deadly bomb, "he and his intimate associates and co-defendant, Mooney," knew who did perform the murderous act and have steadfastly refused to make known the truth.

The court further specifically exonerates the prosecuting attorney from the charges of "frame-up" and conspiracy frequently and vehemently made by the adherents of Mooney and Billings. Summarizing its exhaustive review of the Billings case the decision says:

"The application for the pardon of Warren K. Billings as presented to the Chief Executive and as forwarded to us is not an application for executive clemency or for our recommendation that it should be exercised, based upon any claim supported by any affirmative showing that, with relation to the Preparedness Day tragedy, Billings is an innocent man.

"The utmost effect of all that has been herein proposed or presented is to cast doubt upon the regularity of his conviction. We have, as has been seen, arrived at the conclusion that sufficient doubt has not been cast upon the regularity of the conviction of Warren K. Billings of the crime for which he is now undergoing punishment to justify a recommendation that he be granted a present pardon."

The court's report to Gov. Young, although closing the door on a pardon for Billings, leaves the Mooney case legally unchanged and continues to present to the Governor the same dilemma which has confronted him during the almost four years of his incumbency.

The refusal of former Gov. Richardson to grant a pardon to the two convicted bombers resulted in thrusting the Mooney-Billings controversy into the gubernatorial election of 1926 and caused many of the dynamiters' sympathizers to throw their earnest support to Young, who was believed by many of them to be prepared to release either one or both of the convicted men.

However, with an apparent view to escaping the possible political consequences of such an act, the members of the Young administration succeeded in getting a law through the Legislature transferring first action on the Billings case to the Supreme Court for recommendation and thus paving the way for executive cognisance of the Mooney case.

The action taken by the court in its report to the Governor and made public Friday—just twelve days short of fourteen years since the bomb explosion—has frustrated any hope of the Young administration itself to escape full responsibility for action on the proposed Mooney pardon and renews in full force the aspects of political expediency with which the case has been surrounded since Young was elected.

The Supreme Court majority report shows a comprehensive study of every aspect of the celebrated case prior to, during and following its occurrence. The prior conviction of Billings for possession of dynamite destined for sabotage in union-labor disputes is weighed, together with all circumstances surrounding his identification as a participator in the Preparedness Day explosion.

Addressing itself to the testimony of John McDonald, a waiter, whose testimony in the trial of Billings and Mooney was important, and who was subjected during both trials to a gruelling cross-examination that failed to break down his statements, the court casts discredit upon an affidavit made years later by McDonald in which he repudiated his sworn testimony in court.

With respect to the McDonald affidavit, Associate Justice Shenk, who concurred in, but did not sign, the majority report, suggests the value of ascertaining why and under what circumstances McDonald left his residence in Maryland and journeyed to New York to make his affidavit of repudiation.

The Supreme Court finds that Billings received a fair and impartial trial and that he was denied a new trial after a review of his case both by the Appellate Court and the Supreme Court.

"Upon the entire record before us," the Supreme Court decision reads, "we acquit the then officials of San Francisco, who were charged with the duty of discovering and bringing to trial and conviction the authors of this dastardly crime, of the charge that in so doing they were actuated by improper motives, or made use of wrongful or improper methods in procuring the arrest and the conviction of the defendant for his part, if any, in the commission of this inhuman and atrocious crime."

During the almost fourteen years that have elapsed since the crime, the court comments, not the slightest clew or trace of evidence has been developed to show that any person or persons other than Billings and Mooney did commit the crime.

The application of Mooney for executive pardon is now before the Advisory Pardon Board.

HOLDS NO WATER

And now the official report of the United States Prohibition Bureau says that enforcement for nine years cost less than $142,000,000. The collection of fines and penalties mounted up to over $460,000,000. The wham and whang of the wets over the cost of enforcement may hold some things; but it is not water.

OUR friends the optometrists—or some of them—are excited because in a recent Leeside about the sight-saving classes in the public schools we said that defective vision among children often was the result of malnutrition or bad reading habits and noted the fact that many of the children in the classes do not wear glasses "because there are many eye defects which glasses will not remedy, but proper feeding and proper care of the eyes will. The moral of which is, when in doubt consult an oculist instead of an optometrist."

We had not the slightest intention of casting reflections on any reputable optometrist or of hurting his business. Optometry is a science in which Columbia University, New York; the University of California at Berkeley and other schools of high standing graduate students, and the University of Southern California, we are informed, is about to establish the course. We have several friends who are optometrists and if you went to one of them to have glasses fitted and he saw that you needed the services of an oculist he would immediately send you to one. The skilled optometrist is a specialist in refraction—in the fitting of glasses. Dr. Harry S. Goodman, president of the Optometric Council of Southern California, assures us that eye specialists frequently send patients to optometric specialists to have glasses fitted.

We were writing about children and our sole desire was to warn parents—when in doubt—to take their children to some one thoroughly qualified, whether he be oculist or optometrist.

Cleaning Up Quackery

There is one thing about the law which should be changed. It permits any medical doctor to fit glasses, whether or not he is an eye specialist. A skilled optometrist is certainly better qualified to fit glasses than a medical doctor who is not an eye specialist.

Dr. Goodman informs us that the reputable optometrists of Los Angeles are doing all they can to clean up the profession in the city. They even secured evidence on which one quack was sentenced to prison. They did that by having a man perfectly fitted with glasses and then sending him, with the glasses, to the man they suspected. The latter told the patient that his perfectly-fitted glasses were not suited to his eyes and fitted him with other glasses which would have injured his eyes had he worn them.

The sole purpose of our article was to put the public on its guard against people like that. Don't let just anybody fit your eyes with glasses. Remember that in children malnutrition, bad reading habits or nerve disorder rather than eye trouble may be all that is the matter. And go to some one you know to be reputable, whether he be oculist or optometrist.

Better Choose Hawaii

See America first and keep down gossip. Every time a Hollywood actress goes to Paris people begin to ask if it means divorce.

Always Read Before Signing

Many a man has been gotten into trouble by his stenographer. Charles Merriam, Pasadena, sends us a couple of illustrations. A friend of his dictated, "The title is in the seller," and of course the pretty girl wrote it "cellar." But real embarrassment came to him when he dictated, in writing a wealthy woman, "I would like to negotiate a loan with you." And then the sweet girl wrote it "alone with you."

Fit at Fifty

We had hoped we were getting away with our efforts to appear young and sprightly, but here comes a letter from William G. Furman, Santa Monica, inviting us to join the Fit-at-Fifty Club.

The club has two purposes—to counteract the growing tendency among employers to draw an age deadline and to inspire men to keep themselves fit, so that at 50 they will be in their prime.

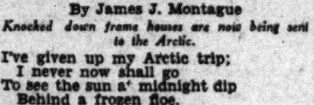
Both are good ideas. It's ridiculous to throw a man into the discard just as he is beginning to get some sense. And how many of us are only beginning to get a little sense as we approach 50. On the other hand, it's senseless for a man to throw himself into the discard by letting himself run down when, in this climate, he ought to still be good for twenty active years. When we see men like Capt. Robert Dollar, who says that he has accomplished three times as much since he was 62 as in all his life before, we realize how efficient we ought to be during our last hundred years. On the other hand, it is usually the man who has wasted and ruined himself who tries to put the blame on his employers when he is found unfit at 50.

SALT

It is almost inconceivable that anything as common as salt should ever become the cause of rebellion. And yet this is not the first time in history that salt has stirred up a rumpus. The salt tax was a factor in the French Revolution.

At one time almost all the salt of commerce was made by evaporating sea water. Indeed, the sea is still the source of salt in Portugal, Spain, France and Italy. In these latter years England goes to the rock salt works of Cheshire. Cakes of salt have been used as money in Abyssinia and elsewhere in Africa. The oldest trade routes were laid out for salt traffic. One of the oldest roads in Italy is the Via Salaria, along which the product of the salt pans of Ostia were borne into the Sabine country. The caravan routes of the Libyan Desert were salt roads. Indeed, our own roads were laid out by the deer from streams to salt licks.

Salt is the essence of religion of some. Among both ancients and orientals today, every meal that includes salt has a certain sacred character and creates a bond of friendship and piety among participants.



RENUNCIATION
By James J. Montague

Knocked down frame houses are now being sent to the Arctic.

I've given up my Arctic trip;
I never now shall go
To see the sun at midnight dip
Behind a frozen floe.
I'll never see a polar bear
His furtive form reveal,
Nor hear across the snappy air
The love call of the seal.

I yearned throughout my youthful dreams
To go to Baffin Land,
Where, ranged along the glacial seams,
Long rows of igloos stand.
I knew not what an igloo was,
But hungered just the same
To see a lot of them because
They had that funny name.

But now where roams the caribou
And where the bear carouses—
In fact, the whole vast Arctic through,
They're building wooden houses.
And where the lemmings roved in bands
Across the gleaming snows,
Will presently be hot-dog stands
And modern speakie shows.

What is a land whose frozen brooks
Are banked with glacial scoria,
If in this day and age it looks
Like Main street in Emporia,
No doubt the Mayor would show to me
The band stand in the square;
So Baffin Land I'll never see;
There are no igloos there.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

THE LAME-DUCK RESOLUTION
[New York World]

With the House moving on toward adjournment, rest and political fence-making, once more the "lame-duck" resolution reposes forgotten in some subcellar. After the November elections there will be more lame ducks than ever; but Messrs. Longworth, Tilson and their associates are resolved to do nothing about it. More than a year ago the Senate passed the resolution for the Norris amendment for the fifth time and sent it to the House. It rested on the Speaker's desk till last April, when, following a request by Senator Norris for an investigation to see what had become of it, Mr. Longworth referred it to the House Elections Committee. That body had just reported a similar House resolution. But since then the whole subject has been somewhere in limbo.

No one has yet brought forward a single sound reason why the amendment should not be submitted to the States and why the States should not ratify it. It would bring each new Congress and each new President into office in about two months after election, not thirteen; would do away with legislation by men whom the voters have repudiated; and would abolish most filibustering. There are a dozen good arguments for it; there are only a few bad political arguments against it. But the House leaders will apparently continue their obstruction until public sentiment compels action.

HEROISM AGAINST UGLINESS
[Kansas City Times]

How can a city plan to have its world's fair in a few years and invite thousands of visitors to come and look the community over when it is all plastered up here and there with billboards and signs of variable sorts? That is the question the Woman's Chicago Beautiful Association is putting to itself. And the association aims to do something about it. First of all, it is going to work to clear up the sign litter, and last of all it hopes to succeed. If and when it finishes the job, will the association kindly drop a postcard to Kansas City and all the other centers similarly afflicted and explain the kind of magic employed in the accomplishment?

MISSING WATCHDOGS
[E. W. Howe's Monthly]

Formerly statesmen based their hope of preferment on sound constructive measures. In these days Congressmen depend on appropriation bills, and the larger and more unnecessary the appropriation bills, the prouder they are of their records at Washington . . . In the old days there was at least one member of Congress called the Watchdog of the Treasury; sometimes several disputed for the honor . . . I dare you to find such a man now.

LETTERS TO The Times

Daylight Saving

SANTA MONICA, July 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your July 1 issue Mr. C. B. Moore, managing-secretary of the Western Growers' Protective Association, asserted that when the East goes on daylight-saving time California is pushed an hour further from its buyers. This is a mistake.

Mr. Moore and his associates apparently are not aware that the New York Central, the Pennsylvania line and, I believe, all through lines from the East maintain standard time throughout the year, without change of schedule for transcontinental traffic. I believe the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific do the same. Only suburban commuters have a special daylight-saving schedule on the eastern lines.

In other words, if California adopted daylight-saving time its product would not reach the East an hour earlier, but at precisely the same time as now. On the other hand, it is not likely that our through trains from the west coast would give up standard time; if, through any device they were compelled to do so by law, such a law made by a single State would be found unconstitutional regarding interstate commerce. And, in any case, if the product started from this end an hour earlier it would simply have the effect of adding one more hour to the "perishable" hazard on fruits and vegetables; because it is not within the power of California to compel transcontinental lines to rearrange their schedules. This is self-evident.

Lengthening Fog Time

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit a visitor to your charming city to say a word on the subject of so-called "daylight saving." High fog is common here on summer mornings. It usually clears between 8 and 10 o'clock. Now if the clock is pushed ahead an hour you will give the visitor the impression that your mornings are more cloudy than is really the case.

Los Angeles cannot afford to experiment with daylight saving. Its summer weather and its summer advantages are in conformity with its normal time; any experiment with the clock can only do harm here.

The Courage of Hogue

TUJUNGA, July 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The critics seem to have it in for Fred Hogue because he wrote something about the Grand Canyon of which they disapprove.

Now I frankly confess my own first view of that mighty masterpiece of the gods left me gasping and speechless. The truth remains that no other part of the world has been so swamped in fulsome praise as the Grand Canyon of Arizona. It is easy to fall into any kind of habit and we are all more or less afflicted with the sheep mind. I have seen hundreds of tourists milling around at the Grand Canyon, doing time, and exploding every so often in the one word, "Wonderful!"

A few varied the program with, "Ain't that grand?" And they said it with much the same air they would have used in speaking of a cocktail. One fair young flapper wearing a green sport sweater (and not much else) jazzed up to the rim of the world, cast a casual glance around and challenged shrilly: "Ah, how cute!"

So, Mr. Hogue was only exercising one of the rights of man. Let us give him credit for having the courage of his convictions. He at least said something different.

No Left-Hand Turns

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A recent near accident at Sixth and Flower, due to left-hand turns, prompts this letter. In my native city, Philadelphia (called by Los Angelenos "slow",) no left-hand turns are allowed in congested parts of that city. Nor is parking permitted between the Delaware River and Schuylkill River, a distance of twenty-five squares.

I have come to Los Angeles to make my home and while reveling in its climate and perpetual sunshine I feel this traffic is a menace which needs correction.

Thwarted Women

Sympathy goes strongly with those nine Denver wives who dropped their household tasks without warning and went off to spend a week in the country together. The routine of even the best ordered household becomes a dreary bore after a while. The wonder is that more wives don't drop their brooms and dish rags—or their bridge scores—and hie them off to a place where there are no husbands, no children and no meals to plan or prepare.

And, for that matter, it is a wonder that more husbands don't do the same thing. There is altogether too much of this convention that wives and husbands must constantly remain at each other's side. Custom has its charm, of course, and a comfortable wife can be as enduring a companion as a comfortable chair. But variety has charm, too. If wives feel that husbands sometimes cramp their style, the feeling is probably not entirely one-sided. If a woman who loves good music is upset when her husband insists upon dialing for jazz, then a husband who plays a good hand of bridge must long for a partner who does not forget when the last trump has been played.—[Baltimore Evening Sun.

EMANCIPATED

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN

"Modern marriage is the great emancipator of women!"

Granny sat in her ancient chair and locked her crooked, work-worn hands over her lean breast. Her scant, white hair was hidden under a black lace cap, that in spots was the color of rust.

"When I was a girl the West was poor and in our little world, money was scarce and hard work the only unstinted commodity. Miles lay between each ranch house and when a man came a-courting, a girl knew he needed a wife to carry more than half the load. They were mighty lucky if her father's wedding gift was a cow or a few pigs or a flock of newly hatched chickens.

"The bride went from one desolate log house to another. No beauty anywhere but the blue of the skies, the fields of grain and the tasseled corn that hid long lines of yellow teeth on the cob.

"A married woman had less freedom than a girl. In marriage she acquired two new jobs—wifehood and motherhood.

"Oh, how I hated to see my little girl get married, for it seemed as if she was stepping into my tracks. But in one generation, married life became a bit easier. Instead of a log hut, she had a two-room frame house. Instead of going to the river for water, she had a well and a windlass. But there were more hired men to cook and wash and iron for, because her man couldn't do all the work. On the other hand, she had a cracked cup in the pantry where she kept her butter and egg money. In all my married life I never had a cent to call my own.

"When my grand-daughter married she went to live in a city. She bought cloth by the yard—no raising of a little patch of flax, no spinning or weaving. She wore silk every day and had overstuffed furniture, a bank book and a charge account. My pot of coffee was always hot on the back of the stove. But she has tea the color of honey and delicate cakes at 3 o'clock every afternoon. Her china is thinner than an eggshell, but you couldn't chip mine with an ax.

"She has worries I never dreamed of. She worries about her husband. I hope there is a place specially prepared for girls who meddle with other women's husbands. When my man had followed the plow all day, he wasn't keen to go gallivanting. Besides, there wasn't a dazzling white way or cocktails or show girls.

"Today my great-grandchildren belong to the privileged class. They think as they please about God and have their own standard of morals. They make love to married women and let married men make love to them. They go to warm climates in winter and bracing climates in summer. They trail all over the world. No good is withheld from them. They are all trying to escape work and responsibility. Marriage emancipates them.

"But I know—I wouldn't trade places with my emancipated descendants. I'd hate to have to follow fashions or spend more than I could afford. I'd rather have a backache than a heartache. In their splendid vagabondage, they are not as happy and contented as I was in my little log house on the land Uncle Sam gave to the pioneers of the Golden West."

WHERE CAN I LEARN

World Literature?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A brief summary of world literature will be given at the Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, beginning July 7, and meeting Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 7 to 9 p.m. There is no charge of any kind, but those wishing to borrow books must deposit the price of the books, usually $1 to $1.50 each, until the return of the book. Those completing the course will be given credit toward graduation.

The work lasts just six weeks and covers selections from the leading nations of the world, including Russian, French and German. A history of the great literary movements will also be traced, showing the influence that each nation has had on others, both in ancient and modern times. People of all ages are welcome to enroll for this class, or to visit at their convenience.

RIPPLING RHYMES by Walt Mason

EINSTEIN AND JONES

The mighty Einstein, we are told, will soon knock all the savants cold. He will announce with easy grace, that he at last can measure space. I talk about it to my friends, and no one pays much attention lends; they do not seem to care a red whether Einstein did, what Einstein said; they won't sit up and lose their sleep to learn that space is wide and deep. They're generous, and they admit that Einstein made a shining hit, they don't begrudge the man his fame, but don't care much about his game. Our thoughts are earthbound, and our hopes don't travel to the astral slopes; the things we do not understand may be majestic, high and grand, may be a vision glorified, but we're inclined to let them slide. If Jones invent a rubber tire that will not skid in mud or mire, that will not puncture should it strike a rusty nail upon the pike, that yields us forty thousand miles before it joins the junkyard piles, and we will bless the name of Jones, and cheer him in exultant tones, and hang a garland on his neck, and vow his name will be on deck when names of statesmen, bards and seers have all been sunk a thousand years. It is more wiser to invent a tire that gives the heart content than to indulge in wild goose chase and measure all the leagues of space. Four men, perhaps, in all the land, can show us that they understand what gifted Einstein's driving at, when that great savant comes to bat. And all the people don't enthuse when comes a batch of Einstein news but they can whoop till they perspire, when Jones invents a rubber tire that supersedes all former styles, and runs for forty thousand miles.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will give a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

GINGER ALE HIGHBALL

In a sauce pan two cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water; allow to boil for five minutes; add two cupfuls of grape juice, the juice of a cupful of lemon and one-half a cupful of it into a punch bowl, in which has been placed ice, fill up with ginger ale.

FRENCH ALMOND ICE CREAM

One cupful of flour, one cupful of sugar, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of milk and one-half cupfuls of cream, three well-beaten egg yolks, one cupful of finely ground almonds. Mix the flour, sugar and salt, add the milk, and caramel flavoring and cook in a double-boiler for twenty minutes, stirring constantly; add the two well-beaten egg yolks and cook again for three minutes, add the cream, and nuts, and freeze.

CHOCOLATE AND CHOCOLATE POTATO CAKE

One cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, two squares of chocolate, one cupful of cocoanut, four eggs, two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, two cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Cream the butter, gradually add to it the sugar, and continue the creaming. Add the melted chocolate and beat well, then add the well - beaten yolks of the eggs and the mashed potato, chop the cocoanut slightly, and add it to the mixture. Sift the flour and baking powder together, and salt, and add it alternately with the milk to the mixture. Add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs. Bake in a large tube pan, that has been well oiled and floured in a moderate oven.

SPANISH STEAK

Take a steak about two and one-half inches thick, cover it with flour on both sides, and saute it until brown. Place it in a casserole, on the bottom of which has been place thinly sliced raw potatoes, cover the steak with a layer of thinly sliced raw onions, over this a layer of thinly sliced green peppers, cover this with sliced tomatoes, season with salt and paprika, cover, place in oven and bake until the onions are tender. Remove the cover, sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese, place in the oven again until the cheese is melted.

WHEN CHILDREN'S APPETITES DURING SUMMER MONTHS

Loss of Appetite Can be Prevented by Improving Flavor of Diet

Children are often confronted by problems of getting their children to eat what is good for them during the summer. When they notice a distinct objection to wholesome foods there is lassitude and low-vitality, they are naturally alarmed.

The lack of taste-appeal of the food, as well as the heat, is often the cause of poor appetites. The child may be tasteless; the cereals, fruits or stewed fruit too often or vegetables uninviting in appearance.

Adding a dash of sugar to vegetables, they will be much improved in flavor. Doctors and dietitians approve this use of sugar, because it makes many foods which are rich in vitamins, minerals and bulk more enjoyable.

Adding a bit of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular way to season tomatoes, spinach, carrots, cabbage and other vegetables as well as fruits. And raw vegetables used in salads are much more palatable when served with a dressing in which a combination of sugar and salt is used. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

FRESH from the churn . . . Hills Bros Coffee

In Hills Bros. Coffee comes to you as fresh as it is packed in vacuum tins. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely taken out of the can and kept out. Ordinary cans will not keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee in vacuum cans is always fresh.

KEEP THEM YOUNG!

If your hands become rough and chapped, you'll have a hard time regaining the smooth freshness of youth. There's a way to keep them young!

Use Lux Toilet Soap. Lux is the same sort of pure, mild soap with olive and nut oils used by the finest manufacture of good salad dressings. It contains nothing that irritates the skin. And no matter how you endanger your hands with scalding water. White Lux is effective in lukewarm water. Use it for dishes. Hot water need only be used for greasy dishes, in order to make cleaning easier.

Buy White King Granulated Soap today and eliminate the danger of roughened hands. It cleans everything—from the finest silks to the heaviest overalls. And it's economical, because it's undressed. Sold by the ounce.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, retrasory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, sires and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

HERE'S A VOTE AGAINST ROCKING!

We have often expressed our opinion on the actual harmfulness of habiting a child to being rocked to sleep. There is another angle to this that mothers sometimes overlook. Several months after the novelty of the baby has worn off, do they want to be a martyr to his demands to be rocked? The new baby takes every waking minute of his mother's time and she devotes it to him gladly, but as he grows older she begins to resent this twenty-four-hour service. She wants to see him lie down and go to sleep without a half-hour's rocking at every nap and bedtime. She has a right to her own rest and recreation periods and she is denied these if her baby is accustomed to these quite unnecessary services.

We feel very strongly that if a mother gives the necessary attention to his diet, his airings, his bath and his play periods, she has no real time to devote to rocking him to sleep—a service, by the way, which makes an irritable, nervous child of him, and increases his chances of being a wakeful one.

THE MOTHER'S SIDE

Mrs. F. M. L. had to have a second baby before she realized how useless was this service to the first. She says in part: "When my oldest girl was born I lived with my mother-in-law and she entirely upset my baby's schedule. I could do nothing but sit and rock the baby and coax and persuade her to be good-natured. She was cross and fretful and I was tir d and ill-tempered. When my second baby was born I was separated from my mother-in-law until baby was 11 months of age. By that time I had her well trained and she slept as regularly and peacefully as any normal baby should. She slept all night long, even the second night after I weaned her!

"When I saw my mother-in-law she started in on this baby as she had the first one, but this baby would not be rocked. She cried until we put her in bed and left her alone in the dark. She will not have a light. There is not a healthier, happier baby anywhere. She plays by herself, never cries unless there is a real reason for it. I can leave her with anyone for she has never had any but the needed attention from me. She acts like a child of 2 years.

RIGHT BEGINNING COUNTS

"It is all in the way one begins! You can make them what you will. I enjoy my babies and enjoy life. They are a constant interest and blessing. I spend many anxious hours considering their best welfare and studying the best course for me to pursue. I allow them every possible privilege and place small responsibilities on the oldest girl. It is remarkable how she takes hold. I lavish praise and affection, for children grow 'love hungry' and need it. I devour every word of your column and couldn't refrain from writing you."

I am happy that you did. Motherhood is a daily problem to the conscientious. The reason, or so I feel, that relatives and parents-in-law are not always in sympathy with young mothers is that they have put their responsibilities behind and now want to enjoy the babies. Rocking is enjoyable, but not beneficial. They have to deny themselves the pleasure of it for the sake of the baby's good habits.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

GIVE BABIES SUN BATHS IN SUMMER

There is an old saying that aptly applies to babies: "Where the sun never comes, the doctor does." For sunlight has a vital connection with the business of growing babies. If you want your baby to be healthy, with a good bone development and a contented disposition, see that he becomes accustomed to sun baths.

One of the most valuable things which we have found out on baby care is the discovery that young children need light, and flourish in it even as the green bay tree. Putting the baby out in the sun tones up the skin so that he can better resist colds, and also insures a good calcium utilization. Proper bone growth in young babies can be also entirely controlled by the amount of curative sunlight in which the child is allowed to bask. It is the ultra-violet rays in the sunlight which causes the bones to form in the right way.

While the baby may be exposed to the ultra-violet rays by means of the ultra-violet light in the doctor's office, probably the best sun-lamp which was ever devised is the sun itself. Give the youngster direct sun baths in the full light of the sun and you will supply him with the finest sort of ultra-violet rays.

The sun is free, and during the summer there is lots of its light available. Put either a sun suit or a diaper on the baby and let him get his share of this health insurance.

It is a good plan to begin exposing the baby for fifteen or twenty minutes in the morning, before the heat of the day. In this way he is already accustomed to sunshine in the beginning of summer, and all ready for it when sunlight is most plentiful. By starting him slowly in the cooler sunlight he will soon be able to stand the warmer sunshine. With a young baby there is a definite routine to be followed. Probably the best time to schedule the sun bath is from ten to one. The baby is laid so that his head is toward the sun, as this protects the eyes. A cap is put on his head if the sun is very warm. Begin by letting the sun shine on the baby for three minutes. Every week increase this time by five minutes. Go very slowly and gradually with it and you will be sure to be successful.

It is wise to watch the baby in the sun, and then if he shows by a redness of the skin or by chilling that he is getting a little too much, you can remove him. During the hottest summer months the sun bath is given early in the day, before ten. Never leave the baby in the sun even when he is used to it for too long, as the sun is like any other medicine, to be used wisely and in proper dosages.

Youngsters are like plants. They need the sun, and thrive in it. Let them have it, and watch them grow.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

A Bedtime Story

—by THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Appalling you will find the cost
Of what forgetfulness has lost.
—Old Mother Nature.

THE LITTLE MUSKRAT WHO FORGOT

Forgetting is a bad habit. My goodness, I don't know of any habit that is much worse than forgetting. It leads to all kinds of trouble. It not only gets the ones who forget into trouble, but it gets other people into trouble also. If people never forgot, this world would be a much happier and safer place in which to live.

One of Jerry Muskrat's children was forgetful. He didn't mean to forget. It wasn't willful forgetfulness. It was just the result of habit. Now, this little Muskrat had been warned, as had all his brothers and sisters, to always stay close to the water's edge. Some of them couldn't see why they should not climb up the bank of the Smiling Pool and make little trips out on the Green Meadows whenever they wanted to. Jerry and their mother explained to them that there were certain fur-coated folk on land who would make like nothing better than a young Muskrat now and then for dinner. But, never having seen any of these dangerous persons, it was very difficult for the little Muskrats to really believe in them.

One moonlight night the forgetful little Muskrat sat at the edge of the water with his back to the land. The shore was low at this point. The water in front of the little Muskrat was very shallow. It was not deep enough for him to dive. He would have to swim out several feet before he could dive. He had been warned that this was not a safe place for young Muskrats. His mother had told him this. So had his father. They had explained how an enemy might creep up behind him and catch him before he could reach water deep enough to be safe.

Now, the forgetful little Muskrat had always remembered it until this moonlight night. Then, as he was swimming past this place, something on the shore caught his attention and he forgot all about the warnings he had had. He swam ashore and, having satisfied his curiosity, he sat down. He was tired and this seemed a good place to rest.

Now, it just happened that Reddy Fox had taken it into his head to visit the Smiling Pool that evening. It was some time since Reddy had been over there and he knew nothing about Jerry Muskrat's big family. He didn't really expect to catch anybody over there. Nevertheless, he approached the Smiling Pool just as carefully as if he were certain of catching some one. As he drew near his keen eyes saw a movement in the grass on the edg of the shore. Instantly, Reddy flattened himself out. Then he began to creep forward very slowly, very carefully. He tested the wind and made sure that it was blowing in his face. As long as it was blowing that way, it would carry his scent behind him.

"That looks like a great big Meadow Mouse," thought Reddy

Foot by foot Reddy crept forward. Every few feet he stopped to look. "That looks like a great big Meadow Mouse," thought Reddy. "Yes, sir, that's what it looks like, but never in my life have I seen a Meadow Mouse as big as that. It may be a Rat. That's an idea. I wonder if it can be a young Muskrat. Well, I'll soon find out."

Foot by foot Reddy crept forward. How clever he was! He didn't make a sound. Every time the young Muskrat turned his head, Reddy dropped flat on the grass. He was so near now that he could see clearly that it was a young Muskrat. Reddy knew all about the situation there. He knew that the water was not deep enough for that Muskrat to dive. He knew that if he could get just a little bit nearer, he could rush that young Muskrat and the latter wouldn't have a chance to escape.

The forgetful young Muskrat turned his head and looked over his shoulder. Then with a squeak of fright he started for the water. He was just too late. The black paws of Reddy Fox pinned him down before he could reach deep enough water for a dive. A moment later Reddy was trotting across the Green Meadows with that forgetful young Muskrat in his mouth. So now Jerry Muskrat's big family numbered only seven. But, though she missed the two that were gone, Mrs. Muskrat felt that even seven were plenty when it came to keeping them out of trouble.

Accused Brokers Will Face Court

W. W. Costello, J. J. Costello and Frank Creasey, officials of the Commonwealth Securities Company, Los Angeles stock brokerage firm, are scheduled to appear in Superior Judge Wood's court Monday for arraignment on grand theft charges.

They are accused of defrauding investors out of approximately $25,000. The defendants are at liberty under $5000 bond each.

DIVORCE GRANTED ON "OTHER WOMAN" PLEA

Another woman motored with her husband from California to Salt Lake City and back, Mrs. Agnes J. Stilson testified in obtaining a decree of divorce from Leonard R. Stilson. Superior Judge Cabaniss granted the divorce. Mrs. Stilson asserted that Gertrude Amiken drove to San Francisco, where Stilson joined her after leaving his wife April 1, last. The wife said her husband and his friend drove to Utah and then back to Los Angeles. Mrs. Stilson also asserted that Stilson associated with Gertrude Amiken since June 1, 1929.

PICKWICK EXPANDS MEXICO BUS LINES

Another link in Pickwick's projected Mexican transcontinental motor-coach line, extending some 1200 miles from Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City and the Pacific port of Acapulco, will be added about August 1 with inauguration of passenger bus service between Acapulco and Iguala, southern terminus of the Mexican railway line, 140 miles south of the capital, it was stated by Charles F. Wren, president of Pickwick Corporation and Pickwick International Stages.

The new service will add about 150 miles to the company's Mexico bus operations, bringing the total to 530 miles.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

SHADES OF BEAR VALLEY REVIVED

"Nevertheless Old Glory" Melodramatic Thriller

Pageant on Rim of World in Three-Day Debut

Residents Divide Honors With Stars of Stage

BY ROBERT FINCH

BIG BEAR LAKE, July 4.—If there are such things as ghosts in the San Bernardino Mountains, they must have looked on with astonishment today at the manner in which thrilling episodes of their earthly lives were re-enacted in Bear Valley's first annual community play, "Nevertheless Old Glory."

The spirits of long-departed miners and pioneers saw a few of their surviving comrades, such as William Talmadge, cattle baron of this valley, sharing honors with dramatic stars of Hollywood in reproducing the valley's first Fourth of July celebration of the '60's.

The shade of E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, Southern California's most picturesque character of the day, might have stood by as a younger man in the character raked in the winnings on a frontier horse race in the fashion that gave the famous landowner his nickname.

WHITING DIRECTOR

Credit goes to the Bear Valley residents for opening an entirely new field in community pageantry, that of melodrama. "Nevertheless Old Glory," adapted by Director Phil Whiting from Stephen Chalmers' historical novel, "Take-a-Chance Tamarlane," proved a thriller that left nothing lacking from the most fervid motion picture or one-night-stand tent show.

To judge by the enthusiastic reception accorded by an audience of 3000 at the opening presentation today, other communities of Southern California who have in mind capitalizing their historic atmosphere in pageantry can profitably emulate Big Bear in exploiting melodramatic features.

Decided flavor was given to the play by the fact that only a short walk away stood the crumbling ruins of the old "ghost" town of Holcombe, the boom camp of the '60's reproduced on the ten-acre stage before the Moonridge Bowl, dedicated by the , performance. The seating and the atmosphere of the mountain location gave a background of realism to the production for the cast of 135 which presented the play.

HOLD-UP, LYNCHING

"Nevertheless, Old Glory" starts out with a stage coach hold-up and ends with a frustrated lynching. In between are enough villainy, comedy and hair-raising thrills to satisfy the most ardent lover of excitement. The story, in brief, concerns the visit of Sylvia Oldfield, an eastern girl, the heroine, played by Myra Hubert, to the boom town of Holcombe to find a long-lost ne'er-do-well brother. The coach, on which she is a passenger, is held up and "Take-A-Chance Tamarlane," played by Kenneth Randall, frustrates the hold-up by shooting down the bandits. He becomes the camp hero on the arrival of the stage and is elected to stage Holcombe's first Fourth of July celebration. In the meantime the heroine has fallen under the covetous eyes of Cougar Bill Stamper, the camp's boss and bully, portrayed by Arthur Belasco. However, the hero is looking after her interests.

VILLAIN GETS BUSY

Cougar Bill has forced an old miner, Holcombe, played by George Klapp, president of the pageant association, whose father was an associate of the original founder of the boom town, into a partnership not to his liking. Holcombe wants law and order established in the camp. The villain sees the chance to rid himself of Holcombe, revenge himself on the hero and gain the girl for himself, when the aged miner makes a secret gold strike. By a false tip he sends the hero to San Bernardino to find Sylvia's brother and plots the murder of Holcombe.

The July Fourth celebration is staged with all the enthusiasm of frontier time. A bull and bear fight, in which John Brown, famous bruin actor, plays the bear, is realistically staged. Other exciting events are a finish wrestling match, a frontier horse race, an archery contest and old-time square dances.

Holcombe's absence is discovered and the hero is charged with the killing. On his arrival from his fruitless errand to San Benardino a lynching party is formed but in the nick of time, a youthful miner exposes the villain's plot and the hero is saved. The rescuer proves to be Sylvia's long-lost brother.

MUSIC ADDS TOUCH

Music composed specially for the production by Fannie C. Dillon, contributed to the presentation. Spanish songs of the '60's for which Margaret E. Talmadge wrote the music, and Indian numbers, for which Chalmers and Rita G. Breeze contributed the lyrics, were specially enjoyed. Haske Naswood, Navajo Indian baritone; Gladys Rosser and Edith Norton were the featured soloists. Sigurd Frederickson was the orchestral conductor.

Dividing honors with the principals already named were Frank McGlynn of Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" fame, as Larus, the gambler; Patricia Page, as the dance-hall queen; James Guilfoyle, as Mehaffy, the stage driver; Elizabeth Ross, as Molly Fletcher, and others.

SEATS FOR 5000

The officers of the association sponsoring the play include Klapp, president; Ralph Williams, vice-president; Mrs. William S. Talmadge, treasurer; Mrs. Mabel G. Lazier, corresponding secretary; Judge C. R. Lynn, press committee chairman; Glen Brookins, executive secretary; Miss Dillon, music director; Whiting, producing director; E. L. Kelley, R. L. Stanfield; Clinton E. Miller, Harold R. Eyer, Carl Rickers, and J. A. Betterly, directors.

The Moonridge Bowl, seating 5000, provided unusually comfortable accommodations. The general admission section had slab log seats, while the reserved section was equipped with modern bench seats. The Big Bear Chamber of Commerce, the All-Year Club, and the Big Bear Supper Club co-operated with the sixty resorts of the lake region in providing accommodations for the week-end throng of visitors.

"Nevertheless Old Glory" is to be repeated tomorrow and Sunday afternoons at 2:30.

You Must Water Your Bee, New Law Requires

VENTURA, July 4. — Ventura county will be an area of well-watered bees after the 31st inst. That water tanks or troughs of a specific size and build be placed for bee accommodation was embodied in an ordinance passed this week by the Board of Supervisors.

The new law, which goes into effect on the date mentioned, provides that the troughs be installed where no running water is available for the bees within one-fourth of a mile of their habitat.

The tanks are to be of wood, at least ten inches deep, and must contain a minimum of three cubic feet of water. Six inches of running water must be in the troughs, the law ordains.

Persons violating the ordinance will be punishable by a fine of $25 or a sentence of twenty-five days in the County Jail, or both.

LEGION POST ELECTS CHARLES HENNINGSEN

VAN NUYS, July 4. — Charles Henningsen was elected commander of the local post of the American Legion in the annual meeting conducted yesterday. Van Pitts and James Howie are the new vice-commanders; Max Schwimley, chaplain; E. H. Slocum, finance officer; O. S. DeVore, sergeant-at-arms, and Dr. Paul Stretch, historian. Plans recently were completed for the building of a Legion clubhouse on the two lots owned by the post, next the Public Library. It will be Henningsen's job during his term of office to superintend the construction of the building and equip it ready for occupancy.

NARCOTICS CACHE FOUND

Mitchell Padillo Under Arrest at San Diego; Woman Also Taken, Car Seized and Heroin Confiscated

SAN DIEGO, July 4.—Mitchell Padillo was added to the group arrested in the round-up of an asserted San Diego county narcotic ring by Detective Sergeant George Cooley and Patrolman Walter L. O'Haver today, as the culmination of a night's work which started with the arrest of a woman, the seizure of a car, and the confiscation of more than $3000 worth of heroin in a house at 28 Highland avenue, National City.

The woman gave her name at the City Jail as Soledad De La Torre, according to D. C. Whipple, State narcotic officer.

After she had sold $45 worth of narcotics to an operative, according to police, the agents followed the woman to her home. The money used for the purpose had been marked and when the officers entered the house they found the money under the carpet, they report. Further search under the carpet resulted in finding $3000 worth of heroin wrapped in bundles or small packages. One-half ounce of heroin and two other packages of narcotics also were found. The officers confiscated the car on the ground that the $45 sale had been made from it.

Those assisting in the raid besides Whipple were Ray Little, detective-sergeant, and Howard Morgan, patrolman of the local police force, and Officers "Pop" Gardner, R. W. Miller and Richard Vanderripe of the National City department.

SCOTS HAVE BRAW DAY

Tossing of Caber and Skirling of Pipes as Clans Gather at Long Beach for Their Annual Games

LONG BEACH, July 4.—It was a braw day, laddies, today what wi' the caber tossing and the pipes skirling at the annual Highland games of the Scottish clans of Southern California in Recreation Park.

Of them all the caber tossing—are ye no Scot, laddie, that ye don't know what a caber is? weel, it's a sort of a weight—was the most interesting, although the caber had to be cut down from sixteen feet to thirteen feet because none of the contestants was powerful enough to handle the heavier weight.

Alex McKenzie of Glendale, member of the Campbell Clan, won it, W. D. Chalmers of Los Angeles coming next.

In the morning there was a parade, witnessed by thousands, wi' the bands skirling grandly, and the pipers lookin' verra braw in their kilts.

Every kind of field game was listed in the sports that followed, including contests between pipers and bands which were verra musical and would've done your heart good to hear.

There were also competitions in sword dancing, and soccer matches, and other contests too numerous to mention. Every city in Southern California was represented, and numerous cups were distributed as prizes.

Contract Let on State Road

SAN CLEMENTE, July 4.—The Griffith Company has been awarded the contract to pave two miles and a little more of State highway through San Clemente for $152,562.74. Mitich Brothers of Elsinore made the second low bid of $158,260.70; the third lowest was submitted by Miricle Construction Company of Santa Ana, with $159,390.90. Dan Mulherron was the next low bidder, with $160,656.70.

The contracts will be signed in a few days and work will start by the middle of August, and it is expected that it will be completed within ninety days.

Peace Officers to Hear Young

VENTURA, July 4.—Gov. Young will speak here next Wednesday at the invitation of the Ventura County Peace Officers' Association.

The meeting, which will be held at the Ventura Union High School auditorium, will be thrown open to the public, according to Deputy Sheriff Carl Wallace, secretary-treasurer of the officers' body.

Gov. Young will be accompanied here by Eugene W. Biscailuz, superintendent of the California highway patrol, and several other State officials, all of whom will be on the speaking program.

HISTORIC OLD RANCH PURCHASED

La Mesa Homestead Where Bancroft Brothers Wrote Bought by W. D. Bingham

SAN DIEGO, July 4.—Sale to William D. Bingham, retired manufacturer of Binghamton, N. Y., of the 50-year-old La Mesa ranch house where the Bancroft brothers wrote many famed historical books, was announced today. Five acres of the ranch surrounding the house also were included in the transaction, which involved a consideration of about $9000, it was reported. The hilltop site is a historic landmark of La Mesa district. The land is part of La Mesa Country Club Estates property and the sale was made through John Faulds of the Grable-Francisco-Bleifuss Company. It is expected that two homes will be built on the property, a $25,000 residence for Bingham and a $15,000 dwelling for Lieut. Marion J. Duncan, his son-in-law.

REDONDO WOODMEN'S CAMP IN ELECTION

REDONDO BEACH, July 4.—New officers elected by the local camp of Woodmen of the World last night are W. L. Blagg, past Consul Commander; R. W. Popejoy, Consul Commander; Frank R. Sheard, Adviser Lieutenant; Francis Hooker, Escort; F. W. Lord, Watchman; Frank Foster, Sentry; B. F. Strope, Manager; Dr. Marion W. Baird, Physician, and B. A. Kerley, Clerk.

FRIARS ON MISSION TRAIL

Five Brothers of Cowl and Girdle Follow Footsteps of Father Junipero Serra Along Coast

VENTURA, July 4.—Preaching the gospel of a historic and living Christ, the five preaching friars now on a moneyless pilgrimage along the Pacific Coast, will be at union services Sunday night at the Community Church.

The friars are following the mission trail of Father Junipero Serra through California cities and they will continue their trip up to Seattle.

Under their homespun robes with blue cowls and red girdles, the preaching friars are successful citizens of the modern world, it is said. Three are ministers and two are business men.

They are not revealing their identities and are known on the trip only as Brothers Sylvester, Peter, Paul, Lawrence and Joseph. The group is nonsectarian.

HIS FRIEND "COVERED" TOO OFTEN

Practice on "Draw" by Customs Officer Results in Accidental Shooting

SAN DIEGO, July 4. (AP)—"Quick on the draw!"

It once was a necessity in the pioneer-plainsman days. If a settler was to survive he had to be quick on the draw.

It still is, apparently, an old border custom. Sometimes it is necessary. And in order to be quick, the gun toter must practice.

Roy W. Magruder was reported to be in a critical condition in Paradise Valley Canitarium today, but possibly on the road to recovery, from a bullet wound inflicted while he was at a party last night in San Ysidro.

He got his wound, according to Deputy Sheriff Jack Tillery, who investigated, because Jerry Bogan, customs officer, was demonstrating his ability at drawing his weapon from its holster. The wounding was purely accidental, the deputy sheriff ascertained. Tillery said Bogan yanked the revolver out, after having "covered" his friends several times successfully, and it discharged unexpectedly.

Man Accused of Hitting Woman With Blackjack

RIVERSIDE, July 4.—Because he assertedly clouted a woman patron over the head with a blackjack when she refused to pay $10 for a pint of liquor that ordinarily sells for $2, Leon Harris, 19-year-old asserted bootlegger, today was in jail facing Wright Act and assault-with-deadly-weapon charges and the woman, Mrs. Pearl Warrington, also was held for the Wright Act violation.

Harris was in the City Jail and Mrs. Warrington, who gave her address as 3525 Franklin avenue, was lodged in the women's ward of the County Jail. Harris recently was released from the county prison camp where he was sent on charges by a girl. Mrs. Warrington gave her age as 43 years.

Arrest of the pair was made by police officers at Mrs. Warrington's home. A riot call was sent the police from neighbors who reported a furious battle was in progress.

Cribbage Hand Makes History

SAN DIEGO, July 4.—"Fifteen-2, 15-4, 15-6, 15-8, 15-12, 15-14, 15-16 and 12 are 28, and his nobs is 29," counted Hospital Steward B. E. Hammond in the wee small hours today, thus making police history. As all cribbage players know, 29 is the largest hand it is possible to have, and the player who holds it must have three fives and a jack in his hand and a five of the same suit as the jack turned up. Hammond held it.

Statisticians have established that such a hand is held only once in 15,000,000 deals.

Harry Riddel, police chauffeur, was Hammond's opponent in the epic game and there were several witnesses.

ROSE BOWL IN FETE ON FOURTH

Throng of 20,000 Witnesses Pasadena Fireworks

Fire Department Presents Vaudeville Benefit

New Traffic System Helps to Obviate Congestion

PASADENA, July 4.—More than 20,000 persons witnessed the gigantic display of fireworks in the Rose Bowl tonight. The pyrotechnics and vaudeville show which followed were staged by the local fire department for the benefit of the department's activities.

Special wind machines were successful in blowing away smoke left in the Bowl following the discharge of the spectacular set pieces.

As a result of a new traffic system devised by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley, almost no congestion was reported by thousands of motorists who parked their automobiles in the Arroyo Seco.

Because a few infantile paralysis cases are still in quarantine here, hundreds of parents who would otherwise have taken their children to the show, drove their families to vantage points along the east and west banks of the Arroyo Seco overlooking the Bowl.

GOV. YOUNG AND COUNTY SUPERVISOR QUINN SPEAK

REDONDO BEACH, July 4.—Independence Day was observed here today by the cessation of business in practically all lines, and in a celebration on the ocean front with a brief patriotic program in which Gov. Young and John R. Quinn, County Supervisor for this district, addressed the assembly. They were introduced by Mayor May B. Hopkins, with H. C. Froude as chairman of the day.

Band concerts in the afternoon, free vaudeville entertainment and an elaborate pyrotechnic display featured the afternoon and evening program.

Special entertainment features sponsored by the Boosters' Association have been arranged for tomorrow and Sunday.

HERMOSA BEACH STAGES THREE-DAY CELEBRATION

HERMOSA BEACH, July 4.—This city's three-day observance of the national holiday opened this morning with a patriotic program at the municipal band pavilion in which Gov. Young and Supervisor John R. Quinn were the principal speakers. Mayor John Clark delivered a short address and A. H. Salinas presided as master of ceremonies.

Officers of the United States destroyer Sicard, stationed in the bay here during the celebration, were entertained at a dinner at the Surf and Sand Club. Band concerts in the afternoon and evening and a fireworks display from the pier completed the day's events. A series of water sports and competitive swims and an aerial circus are some of the events scheduled for tomorrow.

HUGE THRONG SEES RODEO AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 4.—Between 70,000 and 80,000 persons visited Huntington Beach today, attending the rodeo, dance and band concerts and vaudeville show. Early arrivals went out on the pier to fish or on the barge, where the largest crowd was registered for the year.

The morning program opened with a band concert by the Huntington Beach Municipal Band, followed by a patriotic address by W. F. Menton, deputy District Attorney of Santa Ana.

Thousands of cars passed through this city en route to the festivities held on Newport Beach and for picnic and bathing parties along the coast. From one end of Orange county to the other end of the forty-mile line there were tents pitched and campers dotted the beaches. Never in the history of the Southland has there been such a constant stream of cars on the Coast Highway. The scene resembled a string of ants on their journey.

RECORD THRONG VISITS NEWPORT BEACH ON FOURTH

NEWPORT BEACH, July 4.—A record crowd of tourists, campers and annual visitors swarmed into Newport Beach yesterday and today to enjoy the Fourth of July celebration. Beaches, as far as the eye could see, were crowded with bathers, campers, all bent on on the good time in store for them.

Races on the bay brought throngs to the city. Two band concerts given first in Newport and later in Balboa by the Municipal Boys' Band of Lynwood attracted a large audience. Fireworks from both the Balboa and Newport piers were far more spectacular than any displayed during the past years. No fireworks were allowed in the city.

REDLANDS HAS "SAFE AND SANE" FOURTH CELEBRATION

REDLANDS, July 4.—Redlands was safe and sane today and celebrated a quiet Fourth of July. There is a city ordinance here against the use of fireworks and firecrackers, but despite this and the fact that the sale was prohibited there was a considerable amount of shooting in all parts of the city.

Walter Thomas, Chief of Police, announced that he would use his influence to get a county-wide ban next year. "It is not fair to young America in Redlands for them to be able to buy fireworks just outside the city limits and to be able to go to other places in the county and use them and not be able to at home, so we will do our best to get a county-wide ordinance adopted next year," he said.

Thomas has figures to show that there have been no accidents in Redlands and no fires on the Fourth since the ordinance went into effect.

RESERVE OFFICER RETURNS

EL CENTRO, July 4.—Col. Frank Rowdybush, a reserve officer of the Army, who has been on active duty at Fort Lewis, Wash., has returned to his home here.

TEAR BOMB AND EYES BOTH LEAK

Copious Weeping Done by Officers at Glendale Police Station

GLENDALE, July 4. — Despite the weather man's prediction of a dry Fourth of July there was unlimited moisture around Glendale police headquarters today when a tear-gas bomb, one of those kept on hand for official use in case of emergency, began leaking.

Officer F. J. Lipstreu, in charge of the property room, first began weeping copiously, and Inspector W. A. Loving and Desk Sergeant J. H. Carter hastened to his side, thinking him overcome by grief.

They also wept, and when the patrolmen in the station came to the aid of the trio they also got a whiff of the escaping chemical and retreated in tears.

The case of bombs was finally removed to another portion of the station where the leaky bomb could shed its odors unchecked.

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE UNAVAILING

Man Booked at South Gate on Possession Charge in Break for Liberty

SOUTH GATE, July 4.—While being booked on a charge of possession of liquor this morning at the City Jail, L. A. Stitler of Bell made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the officers. He had been brought into police headquarters, and was permitted to use the telephone while officers busied themselves about the office.

Stitler watched his opportunity and when this presented itself, dashed through the door. Just as the door had slammed shut Capt. E. A. Earl made a dash after him, and a second later Officer John Hamblin followed, each going a different way around police headquarters. Passing an alley they saw Stitler crouched behind a telephone post. The officers drew their guns and Stitler quickly surrendered.

He was returned to the station and besides the original possession-of-liquor charge, he now also faces a charge of attempting to escape.

New Business Manager Named

PASADENA, July 4.—Election of Schuyler C. Joyner as business manager of the local public schools was voted by the Board of Education late yesterday. Joyner, who holds degrees from the University of Minnesota and University of Southern California, will receive a salary of $3000 a year.

The School Trustees also elected Henry G. Lehrbach, former business manager, as consultant on a part-time basis, his salary not to exceed $2500 a year.

The new arrangement gives the Board of Education more authority in handling the business end of the school system.

Youths Bound for Lake Camps

ONTARIO, July 4.—This city will witness a general exodus of boys tomorrow morning at the break of day.

Two separate contingents will motor away from the city, bound for San Bernardino Mountains and their annual summer outings. One group will be Boy Scouts who are going to Camp Tulakes, and the other the Y.M.C.A. throng heading for Jenks Lake.

Lex R. Lucas, Chaffey district Scout executive, will be in charge of the Scouts, and Elmer F. Coble, Y.M.C.A. secretary, will supervise the Y campers. Both camps will continue for ten days.

WARNER'S EGYPTIAN THEATER PURCHASED

PASADENA, July 4. — Warner's Egyptian Theater, 2316 East Colorado street, has been sold to an unnamed purchaser and will be completely remodeled for reopening on the 26th inst., it was learned today. Henry Warner, present owner, has given the Hart Players, a stock company, a week's notice to move to other quarters, according to apparently authentic reports.

The pool extended from April 21 to May 29, a period of about five weeks. A total of eighty-five carloads, or 39,386 packed boxes, were contained in the pool. Gross receipts for the fruit amounted to slightly more than $250,000, indicating that exceptionally high prices were received during the early shipping period.

Nichols stated that a short crop has accounted for high market prices. While the market has shown a tendency to drop recently, he believes that very satisfactory returns will prevail for the balance of the season.

"We are looking for one of the best, if not the best year in the association's history from a point of net returns to be declared.

ATTORNEYS FOR BERMAN ANNOUNCED

Public Defender Picks Two Assistants to Aid Julian Case Figure

Selection of Franklin Padan, chief deputy Public Defender, and John J. Hill, his assistant, to defend Jacob Berman, Julian Petroleum crash figure, was announced yesterday by Public Defender Vercoe. Berman is scheduled to go to trial before Superior Judge Schauer Monday charged with forgery and embezzlement.

H. S. G. McCartney is the deputy District Attorney assigned to prosecute the case.

Berman appeared in Judge Schauer's court Wednesday and asked that a public defender be appointed to aid him because he lacked sufficient funds to employ counsel.

The defendant is charged with taking $10,000 from investors in the Julian Petroleum Corporation and forging several stock certificates.

Skater Loses Suit Over Fall

Skaters fall on the ice at their own risk, a jury in Superior Judge Hahn's court has decided.

Eileen Marks sued the Winter Garden Ice Palace and owners, I. Malwick, Floyd Carleton and Meldon Radetsky, asking $25,000 damages for injuries received when she fell while skating at the rink. She asserted the ice was mushy and dangerous, due to negligence, and that the fall fractured her ankle.

The rink owners denied that the ice was mushy and contended that the fall was due to Miss Marks's own carelessness.

HOSPITAL ACTION TO WAIT WEEK

Civil Service Commission Hears Dr. Hohanshelt's Appeal Against Ouster

No official action until next Thursday will be taken by the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission on the appeal of Dr. Anna S. Hohanshelt from her suspension from the staff of the General Hospital by Dr. N. N. Wood, superintendent.

This was the decision of the commission after the formal charges of Dr. Wood against Dr. Hohanshelt and a long communication from the latter, denying the charges, had been read.

Dr. Hohanshelt was suspended by Dr. Wood from the staff of the hospital for ten days with dismissal at the end of the period on a charge of disloyalty, insubordination and lack of co-operation.

In her communication Dr. Hohanshelt asserts that after she was removed from her position as chief resident physician she was placed in Dr. Wood's office doing clerical work at a salary that would have hired three clerks.

One portion of the letter criticises the business administration of the institution, declaring that the cost per patient per day in 1928-29 was $5.91, as compared with $3.69 in the San Francisco City and County Hospital.

Dr. Hohanshelt also accuses Dr. Wood of removing her as chief resident physician in order to make a place for an old army friend.

BOWL CONCERTS WILL GO ON AIR

Series of Saturday Evening Broadcasts Announced

KFI to Carry Programs for Local Listeners-in

KHJ Schedules Attractive Bill for Tonight

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. James Russell Loyal, baritone, and Mary Newkirk Bower, soprano.

World-wide news, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

A bit of real news for the lovers of good music is at hand in the fact that the "Symphonies Under the Stars" at Hollywood Bowl, will be on the air every Saturday night for eight weeks beginning next Saturday. This broadcast will be made by the National Broadcasting Company and released locally through KFI, Los Angeles.

Alfred Hertz, internationally known German conductor, affectionately called "The Father of the Bowl," is to direct the orchestra during the initial program. Succeeding concerts will be given under the batons of such noted directors as Karl Krueger, Bernardino Molinari of Rome, and Enrique Arbos of Spain.

Arrangements were made with N.B.C. by the Union Oil Company of California.

WHERE TO DIAL

KHJ, at 5 o'clock tonight will moor the C.B.S. Showboat with another thrilling play, while 6 is to be bring Paramount hour with a program of light, tuneful dance music, especially designed to fit in with the vacation season. Both KHJ and KNX are to carry this broadcast. The dance orchestra will be under the leadership of Paul Ash. Others who will contribute to the new series are Jesse Crawford, organist; Paul Small, tenor, and the Foursome Quartet. At 7 o'clock and again at 7:30, the Columbia network is to provide two excellent half-hours of dance music, first to be contributed by Will Osborn's orchestra, the second by Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. At 8 there will be a program by a concert orchestra, with Dr. Karl Omeron as guest soloist. For those having the blues, Charlie Wellman promises to chase 'em at 9. At 10 p.m. Earl Burtnett's Biltmore dance orchestra will go on the air with dance music.

SPANISH HOUR

KFI, at 7 tonight is to present a Forest Lawn Memorial Park Spanish hour with Luisa Espinel, James Burroughs, tenor, and the Pryor Moore orchestra. The Spanish peasants' songs of love, despair and sorrow will be featured, with several concert songs by Dr. Falla, Alvarez and Turine. At 8:30 p.m. the Packard Concert Orchestra will provide thirty minutes of concert repertoire, with Harold Spaulding, tenor, assisting. At 11 tonight there will be the usual KFI midnight frolic.

Over KECA at 5:30 p.m., N.B.C. sends "Reminiscences of Chopin," as the title of the third number to be played by Arthur Pryor's Band. Floyd Gibbons will be heard in another "Adventure in Science," At 9 p.m. Will Rounds's Ensemble with Arthur Lang, baritone, will provide the music lover with an hour of concert music.

KNX, at 2:30 p.m., is to feature its weekly opera. This week it will be "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini. At 8 p.m. a special program presenting Lois Chambers, soprano, and a symphonette orchestra will embrace selections from musical comedies.

KFWB, from 8 to 10 tonight will give a two-hour revue including Leo Forbestein and his fifty-piece Vitaphone orchestra. Paul Whiteman's Rhythm Boys, Jean Cowan in blues, the Campus Trio and Eric Rye, baritone.

George Olsen and his music will broadcast on Saturdays from 10 to 10:30 p.m. (instead of 10:30 to 11,) and Ben Bernie will broadcast from 10:30 to 11, instead of 10 to 10.30. This dance music comes over KFWB.

City Planning Post's Salary Frowned Upon

Some difficulty has been encountered by the City Planning Commission in securing a successor to G. Gordan Whitnall as director-manager of the City Planning Department, it has been learned. Whitnall's resignation took effect on the 1st inst. The commission wishes to fill the position within the next two weeks at the latest.

While there is no lack of candidates for the job, none of the men whom the members of the commission consider qualified are willing to take it for its present salary of $5000 a year, it is understood. If this situation persists, it is believed that the commission will ask the Mayor and the City Council to raise the salary to a figure which would attract any one of several highly qualified men to whom the commission would like to offer the post.

Ex-Policeman Arrested for Hit-Run Crash

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 4.—James I. McArthur, until two and a half years ago a policeman here, was arrested today charged with being the hit-and-run driver who last Thursday ran into John Wharton, 24, of 88½ Twenty-fifth Way, fracturing his skull and causing other injuries from which he may die.

Lee Webb, city jailer, was suspended from duty without pay on the charge he knew McArthur to be the hit-and-run driver, but did not disclose it to the police department.

Altadena Man Hangs Himself Alone in Home

While his wife and son, Donald, were spending the holiday at Balboa, C. D. Hambling, 65 years of age, of 1295 Mendocino street, Altadena, yesterday committed suicide, according to a Sheriff's office report, by hanging himself in the basement of his home.

The body was found by the wife and son on their return. It was swinging at the end of a rope Hamblin had made fast to a rafter. No note was found.

"Missing" women and girls reported in England in the last twelve months numbered nearly 35,000.

SHIPPING BOARD ALTERS POLICY

"Lump Sum" Plan Adopted for Seventeen Services

Present "M. O.-4" Agreement Goes to Discard

Action Held Concession to Private Operators

BY WALDO DRAKE

As a further concession to private shipping operators, in addition to being a measure of efficiency and economy, the United States Shipping Board will next week announce plans for operation of its seventeen remaining ship lines under the new "lump sum" plan, in lieu of the present "M.O.-4" agreements. This action follows preliminary announcement made on June 24 by Vice-Chairman E. C. Plummer.

"The lump sum agreement is the nearest we can come to private operation of our remaining services without actual private operation," said Mr. Plummer. "The profits and losses (under the new plan) are for the account of the operator. The Fleet Corporation figures how much money it will take to operate a line over a given route, based on its past experiences, and that lump sum is then allocated to the line on each voyage made. If they exceed their lump sum allocated them it is their loss; if they manage to operate it at less expense they make the profits.

"It puts them exactly in the same position as if they owned the lines, and there is no specific amount of profit that these managing operators will receive."

Under the present managing operators' agreement, or "M.O.-4" the operators of Shipping Board lines receive a commission averaging 7 per cent of the gross revenue, regardless of whether the line has been operated at a net profit. This, shipowners declare, creates unfair competition with the privately operated lines, which must depend on profits for existence.

As part of the above plan, the Shipping Board proposes to consolidate its nine lines operating out of Gulf ports, of which the main fleet, the American Gulf Orient Line, of New Orleans, operates to the Far East via Los Angeles Harbor.

CRAFT CLEARS PORT AFTER FIGHT WITH FIRE

The Norwegian motorship John Bakke sailed for San Francisco early yesterday after port fire fighters had won a ten-hour fight against a blazing cargo of silver and lead sulphides in her hold. Shipping men praised Assistant Chief Jack Baly and his men for their efficiency in checking the fire with carbon dioxide gas, since use of water on the concentrates would have created sulphuric acid. The fire, which was confined to Holds Nos. 2 and 4, was first discovered at daylight Thursday by Capt. Tallaksen when the ship was three hours from port. Damage to cargo was conservatively estimated at $5000 by Chief Baly.

The John Bakke, under charter to Balfour, Guthrie & Co., is carrying the concentrates from Antofagasta, Chile, to the smelters at Selby.

Nippon Yusen Kaisha terminals had two arrivals yesterday, the trans-Pacific passenger liner Ginyo Maru, in last night from Chile on her way to Yokohama, and the N.Y.K. freighter Taketoyo Maru, from North Atlantic ports for Kobe.

Roy L. Sewright, widely known Middle West publisher and owner of the Harrisburg (Ill.) Daily Register, arrived by plane from Chicago yesterday to spend the summer in the Southland. While here he will be the guest of Kenneth Dreman, assistant port manager for Wheeler, Elder & Elder, customs brokers.

Two thousand rolls of German barbed wire went out to Guaymas and Yavarros last night aboard the Mexican steamer Moctezuma as the first of a series of regular consignments of North Europe freight for Mexican delivery to be handled hereafter by the National Navigation Lines under a trans-shipment agreement with North German Lloyd. The wire shipment came here from Hamburg aboard the liner Vancouver.

Also sailing on the Moctezuma were eleven students making an eighteen-day educational tour of west coast ports under direction of H. P. Gates and John Worley.

The Danish motorship Gertrude Maersk, first of five new sixteen-knot express freighters being built by the Isbrandtsen-Moller Company at its own yards in Denmark for New York-to-Los Angeles-Orient trade, was in port yesterday on her maiden voyage. She sailed for Yokohama yesterday morning after loading 1000 tons of cargo and 10,000 barrels of fuel oil, sufficient to carry her over the round trans-Pacific voyage.

Her five new sisters, all displacing 8400 tons, will call here at twenty-one-day intervals as they enter service in place of the present smaller "Maersk" freighters.

The Texas Company loading terminals will have dispatched 432,000 barrels of gasoline and fuel oil on five tankers during the three-day period ending tomorrow noon. Yesterday and Thursday 289,000 barrels of gasoline were dispatched to the North Atlantic aboard the Texas, Australia and Roanoke, while tomorrow 143,000 barrels of fuel oil will go out to Chile on the tankers California and Chilbar.

Plans for construction of a 7500-barrels-per-day Edeleneau kerosene distillery at the harbor by the Union Oil Company were announced yesterday by L. G. Metcalf, refinery manager for the company. The new structure, to be one of the largest of its type in the world, is scheduled to be in operation by October 1, next.
